EUROPE'S CRISIS DARKENING FAST

Bevin Suggests That U.S. Divide "Ft. Knox Gold"

Appeals To Workers, Asks Customs Union

SOUTHPORT, England, Sept. 3 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin tossed out the suggestion in an extemporaneous address to the British Trade Union Congress today that the United States divide up "the Fort Knox gold" to "increase the purchasing power of the devastated areas of the world."

The United States now has $21,765,000,000 worth of gold, about three-fifths of the known world stocks, $12,500,000,000 of it guarded at Fort Knox, Ky.

In his address to the representatives of 6,000,000 union workers, Bevin also asked:

1—A last-ounce production drive to close Britain's current 372,000,000 pound $(1,488,000,000) gap between yearly exports and imports and to enable him "to change the foreign policy of Europe."

2—Formation of an empire customs union to parallel the government's plan for the socialized development of the colonies.

Miners' Strike Grows

Bevin made his appeal for more gold and coal to solve the economic crisis amid a widening wildcat strike of Yorkshire coal miners which tonight had involved 50,000 workers from 46 pits, causing a critical loss of 60,000 tons of badly needed coal a day. Workers from 15 more pits joined the walkout today.

Carrying the threats of wide industrial shutdowns, the strike was conceded to be the most serious in the Labor government's two years in office. Already 2,400 Midlands plants—steel works and woolen mills—were down to a week's coal supply.

The mine workers union national executive held an emergency session tonight, as the walkout mushroomed apparently beyond control, and promised to send a fact-finding commission to Yorkshire if the strikers would return to the pits forthwith.

There was no immediate reaction from the miners, whose strike—defying both the union and the National Coal Board which operates the nationalized mines — started three weeks ago with refusal of the workers in one pit to hew a new agreed "stint" of 23 instead of 21 feet of coal face a day.

Bevin's gold distribution proposal caught both Treasury and Foreign Office officials in London by surprise, and stirred speculation as to its implications on both sides of the Atlantic.

Bevin's Subordinates Surprised

Government officials would not comment without first conferring with the Foreign Secretary, and Bevin could not be reached for elaboration. One Foreign Office spokesman said Bevin's "subordinates in London were surprised by his raising the subject."

Bevin brought up the subject by declaring, "We have got to settle this balance of payments business in the world or it will be in constant chaos."

He then went on:

"There are ways of settling it. I know these Americans will be upset, but I have got to upset somebody. My own conviction is that she has handicapped herself and caused high taxation in her own country by failure to redistribute the Fort Knox gold. x x x It is doing nothing. I am quite sure that is one of the readiest ways to assist in increasing the purchasing power of the devastated areas of the world."

Police Cracking Down On Bogus Check Ring

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP) — Baltimore police today asked Virginia, West Virginia and Georgia authorities for help in breaking up a bogus check ring which they suspect of doing more than $10,000 worth of business.

Police Lt. Louis Vinup said two men were being held here and he is trying to track down four women and another man.

Vinup said his investigators already have seized a check-writing machine believed to have been used by the syndicate.

TREASURY OFFICIALS LABEL BEVIN'S GOLD PROPOSAL "COCKEYED"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Treasury officials labelled "cockeyed" today a proposal by British Foreign Secretary Bevin that the United States redistribute its huge gold supply to help put the world's economy back on an even keel.

"If other countries want our gold," said one official, who cannot be named, "they can have it—the same way we got it from them—by laying the money on the line at our price of $35 an ounce. The 'For Sale' sign is out on it."

Officials available here were unanimous in saying that any redistribution of gold would require action by Congress. They expressed "surprise" or even "amazement" over the Bevin proposal.

"Boiled down to man-to-man terms," one said, "Bevin's proposition seems to amount to saying 'Give me back the gold I've sold you or paid you with so I can sell it to you again.'"

Farmer Income Is Skyrocketing, Survey Reveals

21 Per Cent Gain Over 1946 Noted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported tonight that the American farmer is taking in more money than ever before.

Some officials who worked on the report told a reporter that trends so far in 1947 indicate the year may bring the highest annual earnings in history as well, despite mounting production costs.

The department, in a survey prepared by its Bureau of Agricultural Economics, estimated total farm cash receipts during the first eight months of 1947 at $17,400,000,000—a 21 per cent gain over the same period of 1946, a record year.

Not All Clear Gain

Between January 1 and the end of August, the report showed, agriculture as an industry had a greater gross income than in any corresponding period in history.

But the higher income is not all clear gain for the farmer, the report added. His operating costs are continuing to increase. In 1946, the expenses of operating a farm went up nine per cent. No estimate was made for 1947 expenses.

"The average farm operator realized a net income of $2,541 from agriculture and government payments in 1946," after the payment of taxes and other expenses, the report said. This was 19 per cent more than in 1945.

Record Demand For Products

The farm payments program expired June 30 this year.

Farmer income skyrocketed this year because of continuing unprecedented demands for his products, the report showed.

The American consumer, for instance, is eating more meat per capita than he has since 1911. He, too, has more money.

Most of the farmers' income gain, the report observed, could be attributed to "an increase of 24 per cent in prices."

Wood Alcohol "Cocktail" Fatal To Eight Prisoners

BELLE GLADE, Fla., Sept. 3—(AP)—Agonizing death from wood alcohol claimed eight prisoners at Florida Prison Camp No. 2 today, and a ninth man lay unconscious, near death, after group-swigging of a poisonous coffee-cocktail.

Camp Superintendent W. B. Granger said 16 negro convicts were found writhing in varying degrees of stomach cramps after consuming a pint of painter's alcohol at a nocturnal "party" in their quarters. He said two of those fatally stricken stole wood alcohol from the prison workshop yesterday afternoon. They secreted it until they went to their barracks last night, then mixed it with coffee in a glass jar and passed it from one to another.

Idea Of Shorter Trousers Doesn't "Click" With Best-Dressed Males

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—America's best-dressed men don't like to see their trousers going up any more than American women like to see their hemlines falling.

Some of them, in fact, were downright irate today over the announcement that, if men's fashion designers have their way, male ankles will come out of hiding under trousers as much as four inches above shoetops.

"Sounds like a lot of nonsense to me," commented Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who was on last year's list of 10 best-dressed men.

"First thing you know," he added, "the men will getting pushed around by the fashion experts just like the women do."

Guy Lombardo, band leader, speedboat expert and another of last year's 10-best, wasn't worried because "I've got nice-looking legs—but if it keeps up, I pity those poor fellows who are knocked-kneed.

"Guess it's a compensation for women's skirts going down," Lombardo offered. "But I think I'll stick to the way they are now. Of course, if they go back to knickers, that's another matter."

Col. Serge Obolensky, socialite exprince whose natty appearance on Fifth Avenue last Easter won him a nomination as the male leader of the parade, is more style-setter than style-follower.

"I always stick to the same length—just to touch the shoe," he said.

Crooner Perry Como was one of 1946's sartorially supreme but he won't try to defend his title if it means mid-calf trouser hems.

Truman Offers Other Nations Radioisotopes

No A-Bomb Secrets Will Be Endangered

ST. LOUIS., Sept. 3. (AP)—President Truman, launching a new policy, tonight offered all foreign nations limited amounts of 20 radioactive tracer elements from United States atomic ovens to speed international war against diseases.

This first sharing of peacetime fruits of the atomic bomb project was announced in a telegram to the Fourth International Cancer Research Congress. Dr. E. V. Cowdry, congress president, declared it would constitute "a decisive step in the world's effort to wipe out cancer."

Foreign delegates here greeted the announcement enthusiastically.

No atomic bomb secrets will be endangered, and none of the tracers offered for sale are "applicable to the development of atomic energy for military or industrial purposes," a simultaneous statement by the Atomic Energy Commission said.

Plutonium, U-235 Not Included

Plutonium and U-235—the explosives of atom bombs—and some other heavy radioactive materials are not included in the offer.

All findings by foreign researchers would have to be reported freely and openly to benefit all nations, as is required of American users also. Further, the Atomic Energy Commission would require that foreigners using the radioactive materials make progress reports every six months to the commission, and open their laboratories to qualified scientific visitors from any other nations. Foreign governments would have to insure that the materials were used for the purposes stated in their requests.

Radioactive isotopes have been described as the most important medical research tool since development of the microscope. They can be used to trace life processes, and the course of diseases and drugs. The 20 now released are the most important for medical and biological research.

President's Message

President Truman's message, read by Dr. Cowdry to delegates from 44 nations at the congress, said:

"I want to advise you that it is now possible for the United States to take an important forward step toward greater international cooperation in the field of medical and biological research.

"On behalf of the people of the United States, I am pleased to announce x x x that progress in the production of radioisotopes by the United States Atomic Energy Commission now permits limited distribution to qualified research workers in other countries of radioisotopes principally for medical and biological research.

"I know that the representatives of the United States attending the Cancer Research Congress share my hope that the open, impartial, and truly international character of medical research will carry over into the realm of other problems of world concern.

"The sharing by and among all nations of both the means and the results of cancer research will reduce the loss of life and human suffering from disease throughout the world."

Flanders Agrees With Democrats

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) agreed with Democrats today that high prices and the housing shortage will be important issues in next year's presidential and congressional campaigns.

"We are not doing too well with either prices or housing to date," Flanders, a freshman Senator told a reporter.

But he expressed confidence that pending congressional investigations into both problems can produce worthwhile results.

Meanwhile another Republican, Rep. Wolcott, of Michigan, who heads the House Banking Committee, said that "if the housing shortage is not licked by March 31, rent controls probably will be extended."

Wolcott told a newsman, however, that if the present building momentum continues "we may say that the housing shortage is reasonably licked" on that date.

Present federal rent controls are due to expire March 31 unless extended.

Democrats blasted away at the Republican-controlled Congress last night in a novel pre-election radio program directed from here by Gael Sullivan, executive director of the Democratic National Committee.

They contended that Republican congressional leaders are "stumbling and bumbling" on prices, housing, labor and other issues.

Motion To Vacate B.& O. Adjustment Decree Is Filed

Bondholder Charges "Fraud And Perjury"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP)—A motion to set aside a federal court order approving the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's 1945 financial adjustment plan was filed today by a minority bondholder who charged the decree had been "secured by fraud, perjury, and suppression of evidence."

The motion was filed in federal court by Randolph Phillips, of New York, one of the principal objectors to the $400,000,000 reorganization plan. He also filed an affidavit accusing two of the judges who heard the case of bias and asking that one of them be disqualified from sitting on the motion.

Phillips protested during hearings in 1945 and early 1946 that the adjustment was based on an artificially-created financial crisis and would prejudice the interests of a number of bond holders. The B. and O. denied the charge.

Senate Hearing Cited

His motion to vacate the decree rested on evidence given at recent hearings of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee during an investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. An RFC loan to the B. and O. was gone into extensively at the hearings.

The entire record of the Senate probe was submitted along with the motion paper and the affidavit.

Phillips' affidavit accused Circuit Judge Morris A. Soper and District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut of bias in favor of the carrier and asked that Judge Soper be barred from consideration of his motion.

Citing the Senate testimony, Phillips declared in his affidavit that Judge Chesnut had engaged in a private telephone conversation

Strike Of 72,000 Greek Civil Servants Averted

Government Grants Increases In Wages

ATHENS, Thursday, Sept. 4 (AP)—A threatened strike of 72,000 Greek civil servants was called off today after the government granted 25 to 50 per cent wage increases as a last-minute concession, it was officially announced.

If the civil servants had gone on strike the operation of the Greek government would have been virtually halted. Such a development, a government official said earlier, would have had disastrous results at a time when the government was waging a campaign against leftist guerillas in Northern Greece.

It was learned that the government has agreed to dismiss 15,000 civil servants within six months to comply with the recommendations of the American aid mission for economy.

Dismissal Or Jail Threatened

Before it was announced that the strike had been called off, the Populist (royalist) government of Premier Constantin Tsaldaris ordered all civil servants "mobilized" with a threat of dismissal or jail for those who walked out.

The government employes had demanded wage increases to meet higher living costs.

While Tsaldaris' Cabinet still faced the strike threat, Loy Henderson, chief of the Middle East Division of the United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeigh called on King Paul. Reliable sources said they strongly pointed out the necessity of an immediate solution of the government problem.

Conference Postponed

Negotiations to broaden the Tsaldaris government have been stalemated, with a vote of confidence due to be called tonight in the Greek parliament.

22-Year-Old Bilbo Will Is Discovered

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Sept. 3 (AP)—A 22-year-old will came to light today after legal efforts already had begun for settling the estate of the late Sen. Theo G. Bilbo, of Mississippi.

The document, dated June 10, 1925, named as equal beneficiaries Bilbo's wife, from whom he later was divorced, his son, Theo, Jr., and his daughter, Jessie.

Discovery of the document in the Masonic Temple building came as a surprise. No will was filed Saturday when Chancellor Lester Clark appointed Chancery Clerk Norman C. Rouse as administrator of the estate.

A few months ago Bilbo, who died August 21, tore his signature from a will which was drawn within recent years, and thus invalidated the instrument.

Luther A. Smith, sovereign grand inspector general of Scottish Rite Masonic bodies, disclosed that the 1925 will was found in the lodge building. He said that Bilbo drew up the will at the time he advanced into a higher degree of Masonry in accordance with Scottish Rite requirements.

Smith said the will is a bona fide legal document.

Bay Contract Signed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP) — Preliminary work on a Chesapeake Bay crossing was authorized tonight when the J. E. Greiner Company of Baltimore signed an engineering contract, Chairman Robert M. Reindollar, of the State Roads Commission, announced.

PAUL MANTZ SHATTERS CROSS-COUNTRY RECORD FOR PROPELLER PLANES

BURBANK, Calif., Sept. 3 (AP)—Paul Mantz, flying the bright red P-51 Mustang fighter plane in which he twice won the Bendix Trophy, flashed past the control tower at 4:26 (PST) (7:26 EST) today after making a non-stop trip from LaGuardia Field, New York, in seven hours flat.

In so doing he trimmed 28 minutes off the previous east-west record for propeller-powered aircraft, set August 1, by an Army B-29 piloted by Capt. Boyd L. Grubaugh, of Van Wert, Ohio.

Fast as his time was, Mantz did not do as well as he expected, as he said before leaving New York he hoped to make the 2,536 miles in six hours and 27 minutes. On his arrival here he said he bucked head winds most of the way across the country.

Deposed Ecuador President Flies Back To Capital

Suarez Regime May Bar Him From Office

QUITO, Ecuador, Sept. 3—(AP)—A victorious counter-revolutionary government seated itself firmly in power in Ecuador today after a turbulent 10 days in which two chiefs of state were forcibly ousted from office.

The government of Dr. Mariano Suarez Veintimilla made it plain the door was closed to the return of Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra, who was forced out 10 days ago by Col. Carlos Mancheno. Suarez led the forces which overthrew Mancheno yesterday in a counter-revolution.

Velasco Ibarra In Chile

(Velasco Ibarra, en route by plane to Ecuador, arrived late today in Santiago, Chile, from Argentina where he had fled into exile.

(A dispatch from Santiago quoted Carlos Guervera Moreno, Ecuadorean ambassador to Chile, as saying that Velasco Ibarra was still the "legal president" since he had been ousted by force. The ambassador said Velasco Ibarra had telegrams from the garrison at Guayaquil, the most important army unit in Ecuador, urging him to reassume his post as "legal president.")

With calm prevailing throughout the country, the Council of State met in Quito and passed a resolution asserting that Velasco Ibarra had "abandoned his post" as president and by that act "definitely terminated" his functions as chief of state.

Special Congress Session Called

The resolution added that therefore Suarez, who was vice president under Velasco Ibarra, was the legal president.

The Council of State convoked an extraordinary session of Congress to meet September 15, when Suarez and his government plan to offer their resignations.

Velasco Ibarra had signed a "resignation" at the tome f his ouster by Mancheno, but when he reached Colombia he repudiated the document on the grounds he was forced to act under duress.

There was no word, incidentally, of the whereabouts of Col. Mancheno, who disappeared from Quito last night.

Destruction Of Jap War Industry Ordered

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — (AP) — The Far Eastern Commission announced today it has given Gen. Douglas MacArthur a directive for wiping out Japan's combat equipment factories and otherwise reducing her war potential.

Many plants will be marked for reparations under the policy, the final scope of which cannot be determined until the conquered country's future level of industrial capacity is decided.

The 11-nation group spent months arguing out its basic principles for "reduction of Japanese war potential." It reached a decision August 14 and later sent its directive to MacArthur.

30 Europe-Bound B-29s Refuel In Newfoundland

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Sept. 3 (AP)—A group of 30 Superforts landed safely at Goose Bay, Newfoundland, tonight for refueling on their flight to Europe to give the Germans a look at a mass formation of the big bombers that aided in the defeat of Japan.

Flying singly from Fort Worth, Texas, the B-29s took off from Westover Field during the day and assembled in Goose Bay for the Atlantic jump.

Thirty-one Superforts started originally from Fort Worth but one developed a gas leak in a transfer valve as it taxied out to the Westover flying strip and was grounded until a new part can be flown here.

Lovett Hints Congress May Be Summoned

Emergency Action May Be Necessary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Lovett said today Europe's economic crisis is darkening so much faster than expected that the United States may have to take some emergency action to prevent disaster even before the Marshall plan becomes effective.

United States aid to bolster the stricken countries, he said, apparently will be needed before the end of 1947.

Without saying so directly, Lovett threw out a strong hint that a special session of Congress may be required this fall to cope with the emergency.

Speaking in the absence of Secretary of State Marshall, Lovett conceded frankly that the situation is more urgent than the American government previously calculated. He said is it certainly later than people think.

Effects of the British dollar shortage have been very contagious, he said. Moreover, many European countries, hard hit by floods and droughts, have had to divert their resources from productive uses to non-productive uses such as the purchase of food.

Many Nations Digging Deep

Many nations, he said have dug deep into their resources simply to survive. For example, he said France has the leanest wheat crop since Napoleonic times and the French potato crop is also bad.

Lovett's disclosure of a rapidly deteriorating situation abroad came within a few hours after British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin proposed that the United States should "redistribute the Fort Knox gold" as a move to jack up international purchasing power and eliminate "these constant recurring crises."

Lovett withheld comment on Bevin's suggestion, although he said that both the State and Treasury Departments have been studying the possibility—as one phase of the Marshall plan—of creating a "dollar pool" for Europe. The main purpose, he said, would be to stabilize European currencies with hard American dollars.

Bevin did not elaborate on his "Fort Knox gold" proposal, nor explain how it would work out but the idea drew scant support here.

Hatch, Rivercomb Disagree

Lovett's emphasis on the mounting crisis, one of the grimmest pictures yet painted by the State Department, drew calls for a special session of Congress from some senators and representatives. Some others thought such a session unnecessary.

Sen. Hatch (D-NM), noting that the lawmakers are not scheduled to return until next January 5, told reporters:

"Congress should be in session to meet any crisis whenever and wherever it arises. If we were in session now, we might be of some help in heading it off."

Sen. Rivercomb (R-WVa): "I do not know what new crisis exists in Europe that has not been existing for a year or more and I do not foresee at this time any reason for calling a special session of Congress."

Lovett indicated new proposals to help Europe might be temporary devices or permanent measures.—Presumably either some kind of interim financial assistance or a speedup in the whole timing of the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Bomb U. S. Dropped On Tokyo Is Exploded

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 4 (AP)—A 500-pound bomb which the United States dropped on Tokyo during the war finally was exploded last night with a blast that broke windows and was heard 10 miles away.

Otherwise, United States demolition experts, who blew it up after toiling in vain to remove the fuse and disarm the bomb, kept everything under control.

17-Year-Old Girl Sought In Hammer Slaying Of Brother Is Apprehended

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 3—(AP)—Pearl Silverman, 17-year-old pre-college student, missing 15 hours since her 10-year-old brother, Albert, was found slain with a hammer, was apprehended late today outside the home of a boy friend, and booked on a murder charge, Police Chief Charles Wilson said.

Wilson said the girl would be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge Anthony Botti.

Detective Chief James L. McNamara said the girl told police she was jealous of her brother because her parents "liked him better than me."

He said the girl told police she hit the boy on the head with a hammer while he was asleep on a couch, and she struck him again when he rolled to the floor after the first blow. Then, McNamara quoted her, she "washed up and went out."

Raymond Kurcieske, 20, the boy friend, was held as a material witness, Wilson said. Kurcieske telephoned the Silverman home this morning after Pearl called him to the street from his living quarters and told him what she had done, Wilson said. On instructions from detectives at the Silverman home he held her until police arrived.

The girl, still clad in the black dress she wore when she was left to care for her brother, was taken to city prison.

The parents, Mollie Silverman, 38, and Daniel, 39, and a younger sister, Maxine, 16, still were under trtatment in medical center where they were taken in a state of collapse upon learning the boy was dead.

Wilson said Pearl told police in a statement she had spent the night in a parked car.

EUROPE'S CRISIS DARKENING FAST

Appeals To Workers, Asks Customs Union

SOUTHPORT, England, Sept. 3 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin tossed out the suggestion in an extemporaneous address to the British Trade Union Congress today that the United States divide up "the Fort Knox gold" to "increase the purchasing power of the devastated areas of the world."

The United States now has $21,765,000,000 worth of gold, about three-fifths of the known world stocks, $12,500,000,000 of it guarded at Fort Knox, Ky.

In his address to the representatives of 6,000,000 union workers, Bevin also asked:

1—A last-ounce production drive to close Britain's current $72,000,000 pound $(1,488,000,000) gap between yearly exports and imports and to enable him "to change the foreign policy of Europe."

2—Formation of an empire customs union to parallel the government's plan for the socialized development of the colonies.

Miners' Strike Grows

Bevin made his appeal for more gold and coal to solve the economic crisis amid a widening wildcat strike of Yorkshire coal miners which tonight had involved 50,000 workers from 46 pits, causing a critical loss of 60,000 tons of badly needed coal a day. Workers from 15 more pits joined the walkout today.

Carrying the threats of wide industrial shutdowns, the strike was conceded to be the most serious in the Labor government's two years in office. Already 2,400 Midlands plants—steel works and woolen mills—were down to a week's coal supply.

The mine workers union national executive held an emergency session tonight, as the walkout mushroomed apparently beyond control, and promised to send a fact-finding commission to Yorkshire if the strikers would return to the pits forthwith.

There was no immediate reaction from the miners, whose strike—defying both the union and the National Coal Board which operates the nationalized mines — started three weeks ago with refusal of the workers in one pit to hew a new agreed "stint" of 22 instead of 21 feet of coal face a day.

Bevin's gold distribution proposal caught both Treasury and Foreign Office officials in London by surprise, and stirred speculation as to its implications on both sides of the Atlantic.

Bevin's Subordinates Surprised

Government officials would not comment without first conferring with the Foreign Secretary, and Bevin could not be reached for elaboration. One Foreign Office spokesman said Bevin's "subordinates in London were surprised by his raising the subject."

Vinup said his investigators already have seized a check-writing machine believed to have been used by the syndicate.

TREASURY OFFICIALS LABEL BEVIN'S GOLD PROPOSAL "COCKEYED"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Treasury officials labelled "cockeyed" today a proposal by British Foreign Secretary Bevin that the United States redistribute its huge gold supply to help put the world's economy back on an even keel.

"If other countries want our gold," said one official, who cannot be named, "they can have it—the same way we got it from them—by laying the money on the line at our price of $35 an ounce. The 'For Sale' sign is out on it."

Farmer Income Is Skyrocketing, Survey Reveals

21 Per Cent Gain Over 1946 Noted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported tonight that the American farmer is taking in more money than ever before.

Some officials who worked on the report told a reporter that trends so far in 1947 indicate the year may bring the highest annual earnings in history as well, despite mounting production costs.

The department, in a survey prepared by its Bureau of Agricultural Economics, estimated total farm cash receipts during the first eight months of 1947 at $17,400,000,000—a 21 per cent gain over the same period of 1946, a record year.

Not All Clear Gain

Between January 1 and the end of August, the report showed, agriculture as an industry had a greater gross income than in any corresponding period in history.

But the higher income is not all clear gain for the farmer, the report added. His operating costs are continuing to increase. In 1946, the expenses of operating a farm went up nine per cent. No estimate was made for 1947 expenses.

"The average farm operator realized a net income of $2,541 from agriculture and government payments in 1946," after the payment of taxes and other expenses, the report said. This was 19 per cent more than in 1945.

Record Demand For Products

The farm payments program expired June 30 this year.

Farmer income skyrocketed this year because of continuing unprecedented demands for his products, the report showed.

The American consumer, for instance, is eating more meat per capita than he has since 1911. He, too, has more money.

Most of the farmers' income gain, the report observed, could be attributed to "an increase of 24 per cent in prices."

Wood Alcohol "Cocktail" Fatal To Eight Prisoners

BELLE GLADE, Fla., Sept. 3—(AP)—Agonizing death from wood alcohol claimed eight prisoners at Florida Prison Camp No. 2 today, and a ninth man lay unconscious, near death, after group-swigging of a poisonous coffee-cocktail.

Camp Superintendent W. B. Granger said 16 negro convicts were found writhing in varying degrees of stomach cramps after consuming a pint of painter's alcohol at a nocturnal "party" in their quarters. He said two of those fatally stricken stole wood alcohol from the prison workshop yesterday afternoon. They secreted it until they went to their barracks last night, then mixed it with coffee in a glass jar and passed it from one to another.

Truman Offers Other Nations Radioisotopes

No A-Bomb Secrets Will Be Endangered

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—President Truman, launching a new policy, tonight offered all foreign nations limited amounts of 20 radioactive tracer elements from United States atomic ovens to speed international war against diseases.

This first sharing of peacetime fruits of the atomic bomb project was announced in a telegram to the Fourth International Cancer Research Congress. Dr. E. V. Cowdry, congress president, declared it would constitute "a decisive step in the world's effort to wipe out cancer."

Foreign delegates here greeted the announcement enthusiastically.

No atomic bomb secrets will be endangered, and none of the tracers offered for sale are "applicable to the development of atomic energy for military or industrial purposes," a simultaneous statement by the Atomic Energy Commission said.

Plutonium, U-235 Not Included

Plutonium and U-235—the explosives of atom bombs—and some other heavy radioactive materials are not included in the offer.

All findings by foreign researchers would have to be reported freely and openly to benefit all nations, as is required of American users also. Further, the Atomic Energy Commission would require that foreigners using the radioactive materials make progress reports every six months to the commission, and open their laboratories to qualified scientific visitors from any other nations. Foreign governments would have to insure that the materials were used for the purposes stated in their requests.

Radioactive isotopes have been described as the most important medical research tool since development of the microscope. They can be used to trace life processes, and the course of diseases and drugs. The 20 now released are the most important for medical and biological research.

President's Message

President Truman's message, read by Dr. Cowdry to delegates from 44 nations at the congress, said:

"I want to advise you that it is now possible for the United States to take an important forward step toward greater international cooperation in the field of medical and biological research.

"On behalf of the people of the United States, I am pleased to announce x x x that progress in the production of radioisotopes by the United States Atomic Energy Commission now permits limited distribution to qualified research workers in other countries of radioisotopes principally for medical and biological research.

"I know that the representatives of the United States attending the Cancer Research Congress share my hope that the open, impartial, and truly international character of medical research will carry over into the realm of other problems of world concern.

"The sharing by and among all nations of both the means and the results of cancer research will reduce the loss of life and human suffering from disease throughout the world."

Flanders Agrees With Democrats

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) agreed with Democrats today that high prices and the housing shortage will be important issues in next year's presidential and congressional campaigns.

"We are not doing too well with either prices or housing to date," Flanders, a freshman Senator told a reporter.

But he expressed confidence that pending congressional investigations into both problems can produce worthwhile results.

Meanwhile another Republican, Rep. Wolcott, of Michigan, who heads the House Banking Committee, said that "if the housing shortage is not licked by March 31, rent controls probably will be extended."

Wolcott told a newsman, however, that if the present building momentum continues "we may say that the housing shortage is reasonably licked" on that date.

Present federal rent controls are due to expire March 31 unless extended.

Democrats blasted away at the Republican-controlled Congress last night in a novel pre-election radio program directed from here by Gael Sullivan, executive director of the Democratic National Committee.

They contended that Republican congressional leaders are "stumbling and bumbling" on prices, housing, labor and other issues.

Motion To Vacate B. & O. Adjustment Decree Is Filed

Bondholder Charges "Fraud And Perjury"

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP)—A motion to set aside a federal court order approving the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's 1945 financial adjustment plan was filed today by a minority bondholder who charged the decree had been "secured by fraud, perjury, and suppression of evidence."

The motion was filed in federal court by Randolph Phillips, of New York, one of the principal objectors to the $400,000,000 reorganization plan. He also filed an affidavit accusing two of the judges who heard the case of bias and asking that one of them be disqualified from sitting on the motion.

Phillips protested during hearings in 1945 and early 1946 that the adjustment was based on an artificially-created financial crisis and would prejudice the interests of a number of bond holders. The B. and O. denied the charge.

Senate Hearing Cited

His motion to vacate the decree rested on evidence given at recent hearings of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee during an investigation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. An RFC loan to the B. and O. was gone into extensively at the hearings.

The entire record of the Senate probe was submitted along with the motion paper and the affidavit.

Phillips' affidavit accused Circuit Judge Morris A. Soper and District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut of bias in favor of the carrier and asked that Judge Soper be barred from consideration of his motion.

Strike Of 72,000 Greek Civil Servants Averted

Government Grants Increases In Wages

ATHENS, Thursday, Sept. 4 (AP)—A threatened strike of 72,000 Greek civil servants was called off today after the government granted 25 to 50 per cent wage increases as a last-minute concession, it was officially announced.

If the civil servants had gone on strike the operation of the Greek government would have been virtually halted. Such a development, a government official said earlier, would have had disastrous results at a time when the government was waging a campaign against leftist guerillas in Northern Greece.

It was learned that the government has agreed to dismiss 15,000 civil servants within six months to comply with the recommendations of the American aid mission for economy.

Dismissal Or Jail Threatened

Before it was announced that the strike had been called off, the Populist (royalist) government of Premier Constantin Tsaldaris ordered all civil servants "mobilized" with a threat of dismissal or jail for those who walked out.

The government employes had demanded wage increases to meet higher living costs.

While Tsaldaris' Cabinet still faced the strike threat, Loy Henderson, chief of the Middle East Division of the United States Ambassador Lincoln MacVeigh called on King Paul. Reliable sources said they strongly pointed out the necessity of an immediate solution of the government problem.

Conference Postponed

Negotiations to broaden the Tsaldaris government have been stalemated, with a vote of confidence due to be called tonight in the Greek parliament.

22-Year-Old Bilbo Will Is Discovered

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Sept. 3 (AP)—A 22-year-old will came to light today after legal efforts already had begun for settling the estate of the late Sen. Theo G. Bilbo, of Mississippi.

The document, dated June 10, 1925, named as equal beneficiaries Bilbo's wife, from whom he later was divorced, his son, Theo, Jr., and his daughter, Jessie.

Discovery of the document in the Masonic Temple building came as a surprise. No will was filed Saturday when Chancellor Lester Clark appointed Chancery Clerk Norman C. Rouse as administrator of the estate.

A few months ago Bilbo, who died August 21, tore his signature from a will which was drawn within recent years, and thus invalidated the instrument.

Luther A. Smith, sovereign grand inspector general of Scottish Rite Masonic bodies, disclosed that the 1925 will was found in the lodge building. He said that Bilbo drew up the will at the time he advanced into a higher degree of Masonry in accordance with Scottish Rite requirements.

Smith said the will is a bona fide legal document.

Bay Contract Signed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP) — Preliminary work on a Chesapeake Bay crossing was authorized tonight when the J. E. Greiner Company of Baltimore signed an engineering contract, Chairman Robert M. Reindollar, of the State Roads Commission, announced.

30 Europe-Bound B-29s Refuel In Newfoundland

WESTOVER FIELD, Mass., Sept. 3 (AP)—A group of 30 Superforts landed safely at Goose Bay, Newfoundland, tonight for refueling on their flight to Europe to give the Germans a look at a mass formation of the big bombers that aided in the defeat of Japan.

Flying singly from Fort Worth, Texas, the B-29s took off from Westover Field during the day and assembled in Goose Bay for the Atlantic jump.

Thirty-one Superforts started originally from Fort Worth but one developed a gas leak in a transfer valve as it taxied out to the Westover flying strip and was grounded until a new part can be flown here.

PAUL MANTZ SHATTERS CROSS-COUNTRY RECORD FOR PROPELLER PLANES

BURBANK, Calif., Sept. 3 (AP)—Paul Mantz, flying the bright red P-51 Mustang fighter plane in which he twice won the Bendix Trophy, flashed past the control tower at 4:26 (PST) (7:26 EST) today after making a non-stop trip from LaGuardia Field, New York, in seven hours flat.

In so doing he trimmed 28 minutes off the previous east-west record for propeller-powered aircraft, set August 1, by an Army B-29 piloted by Capt. Boyd L. Grubaugh, of Van Wert, Ohio.

Fast as his time was, Mantz did not do as well as he expected, as he said before leaving New York he hoped to make the 2,536 miles in six hours and 27 minutes. On his arrival here he said he bucked head winds most of the way across the country.

Deposed Ecuador President Flies Back To Capital

Suarez Regime May Bar Him From Office

QUITO, Ecuador, Sept. 3—(AP)—A victorious counter-revolutionary government seated itself firmly in power in Ecuador today after a turbulent 10 days in which two chiefs of state were forcibly ousted from office.

The government of Dr. Mariano Suarez Veintimilla made it plain the door was closed to the return of Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra, who was forced out 10 days ago by Col. Carlos Mancheno. Suarez led the forces which overthrew Mancheno yesterday in a counter-revolution.

Velasco Ibarra In Chile

(Velasco Ibarra, en route by plane to Ecuador, arrived late today in Santiago, Chile, from Argentina where he had fled into exile.

(A dispatch from Santiago quoted Carlos Guervera Moreno, Ecuadorean ambassador to Chile, as saying that Velasco Ibarra was still the "legal president" since he had been ousted by force. The ambassador said Velasco Ibarra had telegrams from the garrison at Guayaquil, the most important army unit in Ecuador, urging him to reassume his post as "legal president.")

With calm prevailing throughout the country, the Council of State met in Quito and passed a resolution asserting that Velasco Ibarra had "abandoned his post" as president and by that act "definitely terminated" his functions as chief of state.

Special Congress Session Called

The resolution added that therefore Suarez, who was vice president under Velasco Ibarra, was the legal president.

The Council of State convoked an extraordinary session of Congress to meet September 15, when Suarez and his government plan to offer their resignations.

Velasco Ibarra had signed a "resignation" at the tome f his ouster by Mancheno, but when he reached Colombia he repudiated the document on the grounds he was forced to act under duress.

There was no word, incidentally, of the whereabouts of Col. Mancheno, who disappeared from Quito last night.

Destruction Of Jap War Industry Ordered

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — (AP) — The Far Eastern Commission announced today it has given Gen. Douglas MacArthur a directive for wiping out Japan's combat equipment factories and otherwise reducing her war potential.

Many plants will be marked for reparations under the policy, the final scope of which cannot be determined until the conquered country's future level of industrial capacity is decided.

The 11-nation group spent months arguing out its basic principles for "reduction of Japanese war potential." It reached a decision August 14 and later sent its directive to MacArthur.

Lovett Hints Congress May Be Summoned

Emergency Action May Be Necessary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Lovett said today Europe's economic crisis is darkening so much faster than expected that the United States may have to take some emergency action to prevent disaster even before the Marshall plan becomes effective.

United States aid to bolster the stricken countries, he said, apparently will be needed before the end of 1947.

Without saying so directly, Lovett threw out a strong hint that a special session of Congress may be required this fall to cope with the emergency.

Speaking in the absence of Secretary of State Marshall, Lovett conceded frankly that the situation is more urgent than the American government previously calculated. He said is it certainly later than people think.

Effects of the British dollar shortage have been very contagious, he said. Moreover, many European countries, hard hit by floods and droughts, have had to divert their resources from productive uses to non-productive uses such as the purchase of food.

Many Nations Digging Deep

Many nations, he said have dug deep into their resources simply to survive. For example, he said France has the leanest wheat crop since Napoleonic times and the French potato crop is also bad.

Lovett's disclosure of a rapidly deteriorating situation abroad came within a few hours after British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin proposed that the United States should "redistribute the Fort Knox gold" as a move to jack up international purchasing power and eliminate "these constant recurring crises."

Lovett withheld comment on Bevin's suggestion, although he said that both the State and Treasury Departments have been studying the possibility—as one phase of the Marshall plan—of creating a "dollar pool" for Europe. The main purpose, he said, would be to stabilize European currencies with hard American dollars.

Bevin did not elaborate on his "Fort Knox gold" proposal, nor explain how it would work out but the idea drew scant support here.

Hatch, Rivercomb Disagree

Lovett's emphasis on the mounting crisis, one of the grimmest pictures yet painted by the State Department, drew calls for a special session of Congress from some senators and representatives. Some others thought such a session unnecessary.

Sen. Hatch (D-NM), noting that the lawmakers are not scheduled to return until next January 5, told reporters:

"Congress should be in session to meet any crisis whenever and wherever it arises. If we were in session now, we might be of some help in heading it off."

Sen. Rivercomb (R-WVa): "I do not know what new crisis exists in Europe that has not been existing for a year or more and I do not foresee at this time any reason for calling a special session of Congress."

Lovett indicated new proposals to help Europe might be temporary devices or permanent measures.—Presumably either some kind of interim financial assistance or a speedup in the whole timing of the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Bomb U. S. Dropped On Tokyo Is Exploded

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 4 (AP)—A 500-pound bomb which the United States dropped on Tokyo during the war finally was exploded last night with a blast that broke windows and was heard 10 miles away.

Otherwise, United States demolition experts, who blew it up after toiling in vain to remove the fuse and disarm the bomb, kept everything under control.

Idea Of Shorter Trousers Doesn't "Click" With Best-Dressed Males

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—America's best-dressed men don't like to see their trousers going up any more than American women like to see their hemlines falling.

Some of them, in fact, were downright irate today over the announcement that, if men's fashion designers have their way, male ankles will come out of hiding under trousers as much as four inches above shoetops.

"Sounds like a lot of nonsense to me," commented Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who was on last year's list of 10 best-dressed men.

"First thing you know," he added, "the men will getting pushed around by the fashion experts just like the women do."

Guy Lombardo, band leader, speedboat expert and another of last year's 10-best, wasn't worried because "I've got nice-looking legs—but if it keeps up, I pity those poor fellows who are knocked-kneed.

"Guess it's a compensation for women's skirts going down," Lombardo offered. "But I think I'll stick to the way they are now. Of course, if they go back to knickers, that's another matter."

Col. Serge Obolensky, socialite ex-prince whose natty appearance on Fifth Avenue last Easter won him a nomination as the male leader of the parade, is more style-setter than style-follower.

"I always stick to the same length—just to touch the shoe," he said.

Crooner Perry Como was one of 1946's sartorially supreme but he won't try to defend his title if it means mid-calf trouser hems.

17-Year-Old Girl Sought In Hammer Slaying Of Brother Is Apprehended

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 3—(AP)—Pearl Silverman, 17-year-old pre-college student, missing 15 hours since her 10-year-old brother, Albert, was found slain with a hammer, was apprehended late today outside the home of a boy friend, and booked on a murder charge, Police Chief Charles Wilson said.

Wilson said the girl would be arraigned tomorrow morning before City Judge Anthony Botti.

Detective Chief James L. McNamara said the girl told police she was jealous of her brother because her parents "liked him better than me."

He said the girl told police she hit the boy on the head with a hammer while he was asleep on a couch, and she struck him again when he rolled to the floor after the first blow. Then, McNamara quoted her, she "washed up and went out."

Raymond Kurcieske, 20, the boy friend, was held as a material witness, Wilson said. Kurcieske telephoned the Silverman home this morning after Pearl called him to the street from his living quarters and told him what she had done, Wilson said. On instructions from detectives at the Silverman home he held her until police arrived.

The girl, still clad in the black dress she wore when she was left to care for her brother, was taken to city prison.

The parents, Mollie Silverman, 38, and Daniel, 39, and a younger sister, Maxine, 16, still were under trtatment in medical center where they were taken in a state of collapse upon learning the boy was dead.

Wilson said Pearl told police in a statement she had spent the night in a parked car.

Stromberg Asks Council To Probe Md. Voting Laws

U. Of Md. "Controls" Criticized By Byrd

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Sen. P. G. Stromberg, of Howard County, asked the Maryland Legislative Council today to investigate election laws after he declared it was a "travesty" that ballots should be discarded when only "40, 45 or 50 per cent" of the eligible electorate vote.

The council also had a request from Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, to eliminate or modify what he called "political controls" over the school.

"I personally believe that once a ballot is cast it should be counted," Sen. Stromberg said. "It should not be possible to discard 1,000, 2,000 or even 10,000 ballots."

Presents Eight Questions

Stromberg presented eight questions which he said the council's Committee on Corrupt Practices and Elections is studying. He is chairman of the committee and he said the questions are being sent to all members of the Legislature.

The questions are:

1. Should we limit the amount of money to be spent by candidates for specific offices, state municipal and county;

2. Should we eliminate or drastically limit the number of runners, challengers and the use of hired automobiles?

3. What type of report could be required before election?

4. Should we endorse or recommend the repeal of the Declarations of Intentions Act?

5. Should the provision providing for cancellation of registration for failure to vote for five years be made more specific as to when cancellation is to be made and notice given the voter?

Byrd Opposes "Superboard"

6. Should there be a clarification and simplification of the laws relating to the marking of ballots in order to prevent so many ballots from being thrown out?

7. Should we approach the right to vote in an attitude of "must" and place a penalty on failure to vote? If so, what type of penalty?

8. Should we place restriction on newspaper and radio advertising and printed matter?

Dr. Byrd in addition to his attack on "political controls" also opposed creation of a "superboard" which would co-ordinate all the state's colleges and universities and review their budgets. Such a board has been recommended by the State Commission on Higher Education.

BLIND MAN DONATES BLOOD ON THEORY IT HELPS TO BEAT HEAT

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Brown Hilton is using himself as a guinea pig to test his theory that donating blood is a good way to keep cool.

The 43-year-old Hilton, who has been blind since infancy, believes too much blood makes one hotter when the temperature rises. He said he noticed he felt cooler during the war when he gave eight pints to the Red Cross.

So this summer, he decided to make a "guinea pig of myself to see if my theory was right." He donated another pint and reported feeling better.

Negro Youth, 17, Sought In Slaying Is Captured

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Sept. 3 (AP)—Junior Thompson, a 17-year-old negro charged with the bludgeon slaying of an 81-year-old North Carolina farmer who testified against him at a burglary trial last year, was captured today after bloodhounds cornered him in a wooded area near here.

Thompson, an escapee from the North Carolina road gang on which he had been serving since his conviction on the burglary charges, had been the object of a widespread manhunt by Virginia and North Carolina authorities since the farmer, Tom Price, was slain on August 25 at his home near Price, N. C.

ment postponed until later today a scheduled conference to consider Tsaldaris' offer to negotiate for a broader government on the basis of Demetrios Maximos assuming the premiership. Maximos headed a Cabinet which fell several days ago.

The opposition leaders were said to have set down no clear-cut conditions of a coalition government. Removal of Napoleon Zervas as Minister of Public Order had deleted one of the causes which precipitated the crisis in the Maximos regime.

One opposition leader said the opposition now had informed Tsaldaris they would negotiate with Maximos but not with him.

Gov. Lane Ready To Consider Md. Roads Program

Collection Of Sales Tax Meets Estimate

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—The sales tax revenues having indicated they will at least live up to expectations, Gov. Lane said today he was ready to consider rehabilitation of Maryland's roads, but admitted he could not predict when even the plans might be ready.

The Governor said he held back on the roads program, set up by the last General Assembly at an estimated cost of $169,000,000 for five years, until the sales tax collection trend was established.

If the tax failed to indicate it would produce the anticipated $18,400,000 yearly, the plans for road construction would have been weakened or destroyed, Lane said.

The Chief Executive explained $4,500,000 had been transferred from general funds to roads with plans for using the sales tax to make up for part of the withdrawal.

"By the middle of August, when it became apparent that our estimate on receipts from the sales tax would be met and probably exceeded, and the financial structure of all our plans would be guaranteed, we were then in a position to proceed," Lane stated.

"I do want the people of the state to understand this—that I have not been and will never be willing to proceed with the expenditure of the state's money until I know from where the money is coming."

But he added he had "no idea" when actual work on the program might start. "This job is too big and complicated to be considered on a piecemeal basis," he asserted.

Gov. Lane also said he had not yet studied proposals for carrying out the program which Chairman Robert M. Reindollar, of the State Roads Commission, said earlier today were ready.

29 Bodies Recovered In Canada Train Wreck

DUGALD, Man., Sept. 3 (AP)—The list of known dead was fixed at 31 tonight as workers of the Canadian National Railways neared the end of their task of sifting the charred remains of burned-out coaches for other victims killed Monday night when a holiday special rammed a standing train at the station here.

Twenty-nine bodies, only four identified, had been removed from the wreckage tonight and an unofficial list of the missing, including the unidentified bodies recovered, now stands at 32. Two persons died of burns and injuries after the collision.

IDENTITY OF SLAYING VICTIM IS SWITCHED; POLICE SEEK KILLER

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3—(AP)—Just 15 minutes before an undertaker was to call at the county morgue for the body of a nude slaying victim, authorities tonight switched their identification of the corpse—starting police on an entirely new search for the killer.

Coroner William D. McClelland declared the young woman positively was pretty Julia Fesko, 22, McKeesport, missing since she left Saturday to visit relatives in Johnstown.

Since Tuesday the victim was thought to have been Betty Jane Yocobet, 14, also of McKeesport, who resembled Miss Fesko. Relatives of Miss Yocobet, who had identified the body and arranged a funeral mass for her tomorrow, have now asked police to locate her.

Baltimore Street Cars Collide; Nine Injured

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP) — One street car banged into the rear of another on a main northeast artery today, sending nine persons to hospitals for treatment of minor injuries and shaking up 30 others.

Those taken to hospitals were treated for cuts, bruises and shock. None was seriously hurt.

Police investigators said a car operated by William Unkark, 60-year-old veteran of 36 years service on the line, was rammed by another operated by Joseph Disko, 24. The police report said Disko blamed faulty brakes.

S. Africa Flouts U. N., India Says

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 3 (AP) — India charged today that efforts of the United Nations Assembly to stop anti-Asiatic acts in South Africa have only intensified racial prejudices and discriminatory practices there.

The dominion government of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru made the charges in a report which will be placed before the General Assembly convening in New York September 16.

The 1946 Assembly, in a resolution recognizing that friendly relations between India and South Africa were impaired as the result of conditions affecting nationals of Indian origin in the union, called upon the two governments to negotiate and rectify the situation. Both were asked to report progress to the 1947 Assembly.

South Africa's report was expected shortly.

In her report, India accused South Africa of refusing to comply with the United Nations recommendations and charged that Union government officials had flouted the 55-nation Assembly by denouncing its inter-racial makeup and subjecting it to ridicule in statements made for home consumption in South Africa.

India called upon the 1947 Assembly to take "appropriate steps" to insure implementation of the 1946 resolution and respect for the provisions of the United Nations Charter relating to fundamental freedoms without distinction as to race, language or religion.

Motion To Vacate

Jurist "Lacking In Candor"

Phillips contended that Chesnut told the railroad official at that time that the court would not be bound in its hearing of the 1945 adjustment plan by the record of previous financial reorganization proceedings instituted in 1939. In that year, Judge Chesnut had found there would be no need for further adjustments in 1944 or thereafter, Phillips argued.

He said in his affidavit that the telephone conversation constituted "improper judicial conduct" and also accused the jurist of "lacking in candor" by giving "a watered-down version" of the conversation when asked to do so in court in March, 1946.

Phillips declared Judge Soper's conduct during the hearings, with respect to the examination of witnesses and remarks of censure directed at Phillips, were evidence of bias in favor of the carrier.

Stromberg Asks Council To Probe Md. Voting Laws

U. Of Md. "Controls" Criticized By Byrd

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Sen. P. G. Stromberg, of Howard County, asked the Maryland Legislative Council today to investigate election laws after he declared it was a "travesty" that ballots should be discarded when only "40, 45 or 50 per cent" of the eligible electorate vote.

The council also had a request from Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, to eliminate or modify what he called "political controls" over the school.

"I personally believe that once a ballot is cast it should be counted," Sen. Stromberg said. "It should not be possible to discard 1,000, 2,000 or even 10,000 ballots."

Presents Eight Questions

Stromberg presented eight questions which he said the council's Committee on Corrupt Practices and Elections is studying. He is chairman of the committee and he said the questions are being sent to all members of the Legislature.

The questions are:

1. Should we limit the amount of money to be spent by candidates for specific offices, state municipal and county;
2. Should we eliminate or drastically limit the number of runners, challengers and the use of hired automobiles?
3. What type of report could be required before election?
4. Should we endorse or recommend the repeal of the Declarations of Intentions Act?
5. Should the provision providing for cancellation of registration for failure to vote for five years be made more specific as to when cancellation is to be made and notice given the voter?

Byrd Opposes "Superboard"

6. Should there be a clarification and simplification of the laws relating to the marking of ballots in order to prevent so many ballots from being thrown out?
7. Should we approach the right to vote in an attitude of "must" and place a penalty on failure to vote? If so, what type of penalty?
8. Should we place restriction on newspaper and radio advertising and printed matter?

Dr. Byrd in addition to his attack on "political controls" also opposed creation of a "superboard" which would co-ordinate all the state's colleges and universities and review their budgets. Such a board has been recommended by the State Commission on Higher Education.

BLIND MAN DONATES BLOOD ON THEORY IT HELPS TO BEAT HEAT

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP)—Brown Hilton is using himself as a guinea pig to test his theory that donating blood is a good way to keep cool.

The 43-year-old Hilton, who has been blind since infancy, believes too much blood makes one hotter when the temperature rises. He said he noticed he felt cooler during the war when he gave eight pints to the Red Cross.

So this summer, he decided to make a "guinea pig of myself to see if my theory was right." He donated another pint and reported feeling better.

Negro Youth, 17, Sought In Slaying Is Captured

MARTINSVILLE, Va., Sept. 3 (AP)—Junior Thompson, a 17-year-old negro charged with the bludgeon slaying of an 81-year-old North Carolina farmer who testified against him at a burglary trial last year, was captured today after bloodhounds cornered him in a wooded area near here.

Thompson, an escapee from the North Carolina road gang on which he had been serving since his conviction on the burglary charges, had been the object of a widespread manhunt by Virginia and North Carolina authorities since the farmer, Tom Price, was slain on August 25 at his home near Price, N. C.

Conference Report

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall and Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) will report to the country by radio tomorrow night on what they called a highly effective Pan American conference at Rio de Janeiro. Their addresses will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10 p. m., Eastern Standard Time over the American and Mutual networks.

ment postponed until later today a scheduled conference to consider Tsaldaris' offer to negotiate for a broader government on the basis of Demetrios Maximos assuming the premiership. Maximos headed a Cabinet which fell several days ago.

The opposition leaders were said to have set down no clear-cut conditions of a coalition government. Removal of Napoleon Zervas as Minister of Public Order had deleted one of the causes which precipitated the crisis in the Maximos regime.

One opposition leader said the opposition now had informed Tsaldaris they would negotiate with Maximos but not with him.

Gov. Lane Ready To Consider Md. Roads Program

Collection Of Sales Tax Meets Estimate

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 3. (AP)—The sales tax revenues having indicated they will at least live up to expectations, Gov. Lane said today he was ready to consider rehabilitation of Maryland's roads, but admitted he could not predict when even the plans might be ready.

The Governor said he held back on the roads program, set up by the last General Assembly at an estimated cost of $169,000,000 for five years, until the sales tax collection trend was established.

If the tax failed to indicate it would produce the anticipated $18,400,000 yearly, the plans for road construction would have been weakened or destroyed, Lane said.

The Chief Executive explained $4,500,000 had been transferred from general funds to roads with plans for using the sales tax to make up for part of the withdrawal.

"By the middle of August, when it became apparent that our estimate on receipts from the sales tax would be met and probably exceeded, and the financial structure of all our plans would be guaranteed, we were then in a position to proceed," Lane stated.

"I do want the people of the state to understand this—that I have not been and will never be willing to proceed with the expenditure of the state's money until I know from where the money is coming."

But he added he had "no idea" when actual work on the program might start. "This job is too big and complicated to be considered on a piecemeal basis," he asserted.

Gov. Lane also said he had not yet studied proposals for carrying out the program which Chairman Robert M. Reindollar, of the State Roads Commission, said earlier today were ready.

29 Bodies Recovered In Canada Train Wreck

DUGALD, Man., Sept. 3 (AP)—The list of known dead was fixed at 31 tonight as workers of the Canadian National Railways neared the end of their task of sifting the charred remains of burned-out coaches for other victims killed Monday night when a holiday special rammed a standing train at the station here.

Twenty-nine bodies, only four identified, had been removed from the wreckage tonight and an unofficial list of the missing, including the unidentified bodies recovered, now stands at 32. Two persons died of burns and injuries after the collision.

IDENTITY OF SLAYING VICTIM IS SWITCHED; POLICE SEEK KILLER

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 3—(AP)—Just 15 minutes before an undertaker was to call at the county morgue for the body of a nude slaying victim, authorities tonight switched their identification of the corpse—starting police on an entirely new search for the killer.

Coroner William D. McClelland declared the young woman positively was pretty Julia Fesko, 22, McKeesport, missing since she left Saturday to visit relatives in Johnstown.

Since Tuesday the victim was thought to have been Betty Jane Yocobet, 14, also of McKeesport, who resembled Miss Fesko. Relatives of Miss Yocobet, who had identified the body and arranged a funeral mass for her tomorrow, have now asked police to locate her.

Baltimore Street Cars Collide; Nine Injured

BALTIMORE, Sept. 3 (AP) — One street car banged into the rear of another on a main northeast artery today, sending nine persons to hospitals for treatment of minor injuries and shaking up 30 others.

Those taken to hospitals were treated for cuts, bruises and shock. None was seriously hurt.

Police investigators said a car operated by William Unkark, 60-year-old veteran of 36 years service on the line, was rammed by another operated by Joseph Disko, 24. The police report said Disko blamed faulty brakes.

S. Africa Flouts U. N., India Says

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 3 (AP) — India charged today that efforts of the United Nations Assembly to stop anti-Asiatic acts in South Africa have only intensified racial prejudices and discriminatory practices there.

The dominion government of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru made the charges in a report which will be placed before the General Assembly convening in New York September 16.

The 1946 Assembly, in a resolution recognizing that friendly relations between India and South Africa were impaired as the result of conditions affecting nationals of Indian origin in the union, called upon the two governments to negotiate and rectify the situation. Both were asked to report progress to the 1947 Assembly.

South Africa's report was expected shortly.

In her report, India accused South Africa of refusing to comply with the United Nations recommendations and charged that Union government officials had flouted the 55-nation Assembly by denouncing its inter-racial makeup and subjecting it to ridicule in statements made for home consumption in South Africa.

India called upon the 1947 Assembly to take "appropriate steps" to insure implementation of the 1946 resolution and respect for the provisions of the United Nations Charter relating to fundamental freedoms without distinction as to race, language or religion.

Motion To Vacate

Jurist "Lacking In Candor"

Phillips contended that Chesnut told the railroad official at that time that the court would not be bound in its hearing of the 1945 adjustment plan by the record of previous financial reorganization proceedings instituted in 1939. In that year, Judge Chesnut had found there would be no need for further adjustments in 1944 or thereafter, Phillips argued.

He said in his affidavit that the telephone conversation constituted "improper judicial conduct" and also accused the jurist of "lacking in candor" by giving "a watered-down version" of the conversation when asked to do so in court in March, 1946.

Phillips declared Judge Soper's conduct during the hearings, with respect to the examination of witnesses and remarks of censure directed at Phillips, were evidence of bias in favor of the carrier.

Purge Of Disloyal Workers In Government Is Necessary

It is a sad state of affairs when a nation has to subject its 2,000,000 employes to a loyalty test. But in the light of what already has happened and what could happen there will be few Americans who will deny the need for this measure of defense against internal enemies.

The investigation seems like a stupendous undertaking. It will enlist the services of the United States Civil Service Commission and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It will call for the filling out of millions of forms; the checking and cross-checking of information thus received and, in some instances, personal examinations of suspect individuals.

The purpose is to strip the federal rolls of men and women whose primary allegiance is to a foreign government or who are lending a hand to those forces which would destroy the American system.

Charges have been made by so-called "liberals" and of course Communists that this checkup violates the letter and the spirit of the Constitution. There might have been something to that charge if Congress had approved the Rees bill, which would have authorized instant dismissal of any Federal employe under suspicion of disloyalty, with no opportunity for a hearing or for appeal to the courts. But the Senate found the Rees bill too drastic. The rights of individual employes will be protected under this probe. But Congress is also determined to protect the nation, against those who have proved by their actions and affiliations that they have Communist sympathies.

Every reasonable man and woman knows today that a Communist or fellow-traveler in Government employ has one basic motive—to help overthrow that government and set up in its place a regime which shall take Soviet Russia as its model and mentor. The extent to which fellow-travelers can infiltrate a democratic government was suggested by the recent shocking revelations in Canada.

That there are disloyal government employes is open to no question. Within the past few months hundreds of workers have been separated from their jobs on evidence so compelling that there was not even a suggestion of mistake. There must be many more. To root them out and send them packing is for the nation an elementary act of self-protection.

To Make Genocide Punishable Before International Court

The Social and Economic Council of the United States has just drafted an international treaty defining "genocide" as "a criminal act" and empowering the United Nations to intervene to stop it and to punish offenders after trial before an international court. The treaty draft will be submitted to the U. N. General Assembly for approval within the next few weeks.

As defined by the Polish scholar and Nurenberg trials adviser, Rafael Lemkin, "genocide" is the crime of annihilating national, racial and religious groups. The most horrible example of the crime in modern times, if not in all history, was of course Hitler's methodical campaign to exterminate the Jews. It is not only proper but essential that the United Nations, whose Charter proclaims "faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person," should seek to prevent another outburst of such barbarism.

The U. N. General Assembly, which is not crippled by the big-power veto, might indeed lend its attention to other crimes against masses of people in addition to genocide. The persecution of men and women because of their political views, or the accident of their economic grouping, is no less hideous from the human standpoint.

In Soviet Russia millions of people have been tortured, exiled or murdered because of their beliefs or their way of life did not happen to fit in with the Communist scheme of things. In Eastern Poland, during the life of the Hitler-Stalin pact, the Russians exiled or killed a multitude of middle-class people. Right now, in Russia's Balkan satellites, men and women who refuse to support the Communist leaders or who belong to the "wrong classes" are being systematically tortured.

From the standpoint of the victims, it makes little difference whether an individual is destroyed because of his race or his economic and political views. These people, too, deserve the attention of the U. N. in its laudable effort to maintain "the dignity and worth of the human person."

Motorists Should Watch Out For School Children

W. Lee Elgin, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, warns motorists that schools throughout Maryland are now open. Children are now riding the school buses and they must be protected from accidents.

When a school bus has stopped to take on or discharge its passengers, motorists must make a full stop at least 10 feet, either in front or rear of the school bus and remain stopped until the bus continues on to its next destination.

Police departments throughout the state are rigidly enforcing the school bus stop law, Elgin asserted. All motorists should co-operate by observing the law by driving unusually careful on streets and highways which children use to go to and from schools.

Navy Cops Speed Record

The United States has doubled its grip on the world air speed record. Up to June 19 the record was held by a British Gloster Meteor at 616 miles an hour.

On that date Col. Albert Boyd of the U. S. Army regained the record for the United States for the first time in 24 years by flying a P80-R Shooting Star 623 miles an hour at Muroc Lake in California. Now the Navy, which lost the record nearly a quarter of a century ago, has it again.

The feat was performed by Commander Turner F. Caldwell in a D-558 Skystreak, also at Muroc Lake. He averaged 640.7 miles an hour over a standard course and in compliance with existing speed rules.

The two-fold speed accomplishment of American planes, an Army Lockheed and a Navy Douglas, shows clearly that while the United States may have got a slow start on jet-propelled aircraft, it has fully caught up with the parade and now is showing the way.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SPECULATIONS ON RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

RHEUMATOID arthritis is still a puzzle to the medical profession. This is unfortunate as it is most likely to attack young adults and often leads to considerable incapacity during the most productive years. The disorder should not be confused with osteo-arthritis which is more common in older persons.

It may be that the term is a misnomer and the joint symptoms are merely manifestations of a more generalized disturbance. In this respect it resembles scarlet fever. To consider it merely a skin disease and expect cure by treating the rash with various salves and ointments would be senseless. In the future it is highly possible that the physician will concentrate more of his attention on the general condition of the victim of rheumatoid arthritis and less on the joints.

As a matter of fact, long before the "hinges" begin to act up, many sufferers are fatigued, lose weight, and have no desire to eat. With changes in weather, the skeletal frame aches and the skin is frequently cold and clammy. At this time the effect of the bacterial invasion is felt and the stage is being set for the joints to show their displeasure by becoming tender, swollen, and painful.

We do not know why these structures misbehave but in no instance has the microorganism ever been found in the vicinity. Perhaps in such patients it is a reaction to their toxins. Newer studies have revealed that there is a marked degree of mucin destruction and that the tissues surrounding the involved parts have a high concentration of this substance. In some the response is temporary; in others, it comes and goes which explains why there is an apparent cure for a variable length of time, only to have the disease return. The third possibility is that in a few, the process is more permanent. As each year passes, more destruction is encountered and ultimately deformities ensue.

When measures are taken to keep the victim in a good state of health in spite of the infirmity, the maximum results are obtained. Resistance can be built by eating a normal diet high in calories and vitamins, a program that is particularly helpful because many are underweight and the extra nourishment is needed. When appetite is poor, tonics and supplementary vitamins, combined with attractive meals may do the trick. Rest also promotes healing and enhances the feeling of well-being.

There is no scarcity of remedies and every physician, druggist, and casual friend has one or more to recommend. But the large number available is evidence that no one preparation is outstanding. A partial list includes vaccines, foreign proteins, sulfur, vitamins B and D, X-ray, and gold. The latter is currently popular and in many instances has proved valuable. It cannot be used in every case, however, and must be given cautiously. Salicylates ease pain but do not necessarily alter the course of the malady.

It is not easy to determine the efficacy of any remedy because 60 per cent of all rheumatoid arthritis sufferers improve whether or not they receive medicine. The indiscriminate removal of the teeth and tonsils is no longer done. If they are infected, and disturbing the general health, this is another matter.

VIEWING THE BRONCHI

E. P. writes: What is the bronchoscope used for?

REPLY

To look into the windpipe and larger bronchial tubes for diagnostic purposes, and for treatment such as removing foreign bodies like peanuts and pins.

SURGERY IN ARCHES

C. A. writes: Can fallen arches be lifted thru an operation?

REPLY

No, nor would it be practicable as easier remedies are available. Perhaps you could lift yourself by your own bootstraps.

INFECTED TUBE

B. D. writes: Will penicillin cure an inflamed tube?

REPLY

Yes, this remedy is used frequently, especially if the invading organisms are of the type that respond to this drug.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Little fourteen-year-old Virginia Brooks, of Memphis, Tenn., is known around home as the "Frank Buck in Pigtails." She has just returned from an African Safari with her father, a hunter. She just went along for the jungle laughs, but while there she killed a full-grown bull elephant, a rhino, a lion, a baboon, a jackal and two hyenas.

And this is the kid who has to sit in the children's section of the movies. I guess they're afraid of what she'll do with the popcorn.

Virginia used special weapons for each animal. She killed the bull elephant with an elephant gun, as for the rhino, lion and baboon, she got them at 500 yards with her beanshooter.

But it was the jackal and the hyena that gave her the most trouble. She had to beat them to death with a sticky lollypop.

Her parents knew Virginia would be a great hunter from the moment she was born. When they handed her a box of animal crackers, she lined the animals up on the edge of her high chair tray and methodically knocked them off with the lumps from her mashed potatoes.

Naturally, the people of Tennessee aren't letting this native daughter go unrecognized. They are giving her the state's highest award. They're making her an honorary Tennessee revenuer.

Army Politicos Plan To Sidetrack Omar Bradley As Successor To Eisenhower; Want Mark Clark As Chief Of Staff, Allen Says

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—If certain inner Army politicos have their way, able, conscientious Gen. Omar Bradley will be sidetracked as General Eisenhower's successor and shunted off into a high-sounding but lesser job.

The secret plan is to make Bradley commanding general of a U. S. Theater that would be created for this purpose. This theater would include the Continental U.S. and be comparable to the Mediterranean and other foreign theaters. As theaters commander, Bradley would be junior to the Chief of Staff, the post he really wants and is outstandingly fitted to hold.

However, by sidetracking Bradley, the Army politicos would open the way to grab off the C-S prize. First choice on their list is tall, ambitious Gen. Mark Clark, U.S. Commander in Italy during the war.

Bradley is now in Europe on a special inspection trip, on six weeks' leave from the Veterans Administration. He is Eisenhower's personal choice as his successor. At the time Eisenhower announced his plan to retire from the Army in January to become President of Columbia University, he told newsmen he hoped Bradley would become Chief of Staff.

But the inner Army politicos have other ideas. Bradley is too non-political minded to suit them. Under the new unification and promotion acts, there are numerous juicy plums to be grabbed off and they want a direct hand in the grabbing. They rightly fear there would be little or none of that under Bradley.

So, during his absence, there is much undercover scheming and wire-pulling to sidetrack Bradley. These antics are particularly interesting in view of the Army's customarily haughty disdain of politicians. Actually, inner Army politics is as hectic, petty, and crass as any played outside the service.

No Luck

Before stepping out as National Commander of the Veterans of foreign Wars, genial Louis Starr called on President Truman. With Starr was Omar Ketchum, VFW Legislative representative.

"Are you guilty, too?" asked the president.

"No; no such luck for you, Mr. President. I'll still be around to get in your hair."

"Yes," grinned the president. "I guess that's to be expected."

Tragic Problem

Most tragic problem in the Indonesian fighting is the fate of the 700,000 Eurasians of Dutch and native ancestry.

Dutch settlers in the archipelago have been intermarrying with native women since the seventeenth century. Their offspring, officially known as "Indo-Europeans," constitute a large and important population element. They are educated and before the war occupied important business and governmental posts.

During their occupation, the Japs created a schism between the Eurasians and natives. As a result, when the Japs were evicted, the natives threw the Eurasians into concentration camps. When the British landed, pending the arrival of Dutch forces, they liberated many of the Eurasians. But thousands of others, deep in the interior where the British could not penetrate, are still held as prisoners.

What the fate of the hapless Eurasians will be when the fighting ceases, is still anyone's guess. The natives hate them and the Dutch are in a difficult position to protect them.

Merry-Go-Round

A wheat farmer picked up in La Junta, Colo., on a traffic charge pulled out a roll of $20,000 from which to pay his fine. When asked if that wasn't a lot of money to be carrying around, he replied casually, "Oh, I've got a lot more at home." . . . The famed New Deal brain-trust team of Corcoran and Cohen may soon be revived as law partners. Able, modest Ben Cohen, who recently resigned as State Department general counsel, may tie up with the law firm of his old partner, Tommy The Cork . . . It is very fitting that President Truman should participate in the 125th anniversary of Brazilian independence. The U.S. was the first country to give official recognition to Brazil—in 1823, during the administration of President James Monroe. . . The War Department has ordered all retired regular Army officers to be released by next July. . . Tex McCrary, noted war correspondent and radio commentator, is organizing a world-wide news service for radio and television outlets. Nucleus of the service will be a corps of correspondents and photographers stationed at strategic points throughout the globe. . . The Democratic National Committee is planning to make songwriter Jack Lawrence's popular "Have A Heart, Taft-Hartley, Have A Heart" one of its 1948 campaign tunes. . . The convention of the Missouri Farmers Association, claiming 117,000 members, adopted a resolution condemning the House probe of farm cooperatives and declaring war on "congressional enemies of the farmers." . . . A survey by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics in plants employing 88,000 handicaped workers disclosed that 51 per cent had better accident records than nonhandicapped workers, 48 per cent had better-than-average absence records and 58 per cent stayed on their jobs longer.

Pay Dirt

Ohio's hard-hitting Representative George Bender will uncover a different kind of pay dirt in his forthcoming probe of wartime contractors than that dug up by Senator Brewster's committee. Bender is eschewing Hollywood and going after fraud. He already has some sensational evidence in hand.

A report compiled by Comptroller General Lindsay Warren charges overpayments or fraud in more than 5 per cent of all war contracts. Out of 4,789 contracts that were studied, Lindsay found the government paid $4,350,000 more than it should have.

On the basis of these figures, Bender estimates the government was overcharged, or cheated, out of more than $60,000,000 on the 318,000 war contracts.

Bender's investigators have informed him that the technique most frequently used to gouge the government was to falsify the value of inventory remaining at the time of a contract termination, particularly materials and equipment which could be used later for civilian production. Frequently, the contractors would repurchase these articles at a fraction of their face value, claiming that costly precision tools and fabricating machines were good only for scrap.

Dewey Move

The Dewey camp is quietly organizing to make a determined fight for the Iowa delegation.

Heading the move is Whitney Gilliland, of Glenwood, former youngest district judge in the state. The drive is aimed chiefly at Minnesota's Harold Stassen, who has considerable support among G.O.P. county chairmen.

However, the Republican State Central Committee is all split up, with members favoring Taft, Dewey, Stassen, Speaker Joe Martin and a few for General Eisenhower. State Chairman Willis York and longtime National Committeeman Harrison Spangler are in the Taft camp.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

UN Spreads Its Wings

WHEN John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave the United Nations a site on the East River in New York City, he followed a precedent established when he contributed to the building of the palace of the League of Nations, as I understand he did. At any rate, he solved the problem of committees of the United Nations chasing all over the United States, giving our cities the once-over, scaring home-owners out of their wits by grandiose statements about how they were going to take over large areas of American property. He was fortunate to have the money and to be able to spend it freely.

After the first shock of discovering that they were permanently saddled with the United Nations, New Yorkers became accustomed to the idea of a state within a state, of a segment of their city ceasing to be American and becoming international. Then the United Nations architects and engineers produced drawings and plans of the proposed buildings and the citizens foresaw an eternal nightmare, for someone had decided that the main United Nations building was to resemble a tombstone — a huge, skyscraper tombstone, the largest ever conceived by the human mind—but nonetheless a tombstone.

Of course, the pyramids are mausoleums as is the Taj Mahal. It might have been conceived that the UN building would be a permanent mausoleum like the pyramids, but certainly it was not planned to be as beautiful as the Taj Mahal. It is to be an austere tombstone, a colossal rectangle, hard unadorned, cold—a slap in the face by the north wind on a January day—standing out against the warm and glowing New York skyline.

If that is how those who run UN conceive it to be, that is their affair, although why they should be permitted to perpetrate such a monstrosity in the city of New York it is difficult to understand. Still, architecture can be symbolic and if a tombstone is the symbol which the UN officials choose for themselves, who shall say them nay?

The next thing we heard was that the UN people disliked the Queens bank of the East River. The Borough of Queens is developing commercially. Over there used to be Astoria, of which Washington Irving wrote so eloquently when this country was young. But now it is all warehouses and factories and huge electric signs and railroad yards and it is displeasing to the UN secretariat who have to look out of the windows in the elevated tombstone. They wanted a wooded bank, something landscaped perhaps with pergolas and pagodas.

So they want New York to do something about Queens. Maybe the smartest way would be to blow the Borough of Queens out of existence with an atom bomb (or a Veto); then the Europeans could gaze out upon the Atlantic Ocean. That would scare them everyday because it might remind them that sooner or later they will have to return to the countries whence they came which none of them seem to want to do. At any rate, if anything is to be done about Queens, they expect the American taxpayer to put up the coin for doing it, an idea that he will reject if he has any brains left. Certainly it does not make sense for us to pay the United Nations to stay in this country.

Now they have come forth with another bit of gimme-gimme. They desire the approaches to UN extended until they reach out nearly to the middle of Manhattan Island, dispossessing thousands of Americans from their homes, stores, shops, school, and churches. They would tear down a large tract of this overcrowded city, make its citizens homeless just to produce a pretty driveway with some trees and bushes on the side to look like a European boulevard.

The idea is that UN must look important. But important is that important does. So far UN has not justified its major purpose which is to maintain the peace. What matters it what the approach to a building, if mankind may have peace. It might even be in a manger that peace is sought and found.

Good Labor Relations Made By Men, Women Concerned

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—No truer words were ever spoken than those of President Truman in his Labor Day statement when he said that "good labor relations cannot be brought about by legislation," and instead "are created by the men and women concerned, cooperating sincerely and earnestly within the framework of a minimum amount of regulatory law."

Logically this means repeal of the Wagner-Taft-Hartley Law, for that is really its right name if content is considered, because the backbone of the Wagner Law is still included word for word in the Taft-Hartley Law. In fact, there is more of the Wagner Law text in the new statute than there is of the House measure known as the Hartley Bill.

So when labor unions call for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law they are in effect calling for a repeal of the old Wagner Law, too. This, of course, is not what they mean. They want the same one-sided Labor law and one-sided Labor Board that they had before.

It would be a great step forward and in keeping with the spirit of President Truman's Labor Day message if the spokesmen for Labor Unions frankly called for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law and admitted also that they did not want the Wagner Law put back in its place.

Workers Are Misled

For what the Labor Unions during the last 12 years have defended is a law that put the clamps on employers and gave Labor Unions the license to do as they pleased. Such a statute was for 12 years protected against the slightest amendment by Congress through the efforts of the most powerful Labor Lobby the National Capital has ever seen and by the most brazen alliance of money and votes that ever supported a national administration.

Throughout the length and breadth of the land, during the last decade, Union organizers misled workers into believing it was ordered by law that they join a union. To this day this sort of misrepresentation exists, aided and abetted by statements made by the President and members of his Cabinet at every opportunity. Thus, in the Labor Day statement, Mr. Truman said:

"The right to join a union of one's own choice is unquestioned today and is sanctioned and protected by law."

Mr. Truman did not tell al of the story. The fact is that the right to refrain from joining a union is also sanctioned and protected by law today. This is the great contribution that the Taft-Hartley Law has made to the civil liberties of the present epoch. Certainly candor should have required the making of this additional statement in view of the fact that this right was given protection for the first time a few weeks ago. It was the big chance for balanced comment in a Labor Day statement by the nation's Chief Executive.

Government Interference

Labor relations would be ideal of course if there were no compulsion of law about them, and if workers and employers could sit down together through chosen representatives and arrive at agreements without threatening economic and physical violence. Clearly, it would be better if the Federal Government kept out of the bargaining process. But for 13 years the Federal Government has been in it with both feet, using the Wagner Act as its instrument of intervention. It is a matter of record that the Supreme Court of the United States actually said in one of its opinions—in the Newport News Shipbuilding Company case—that although relations between management and labor had been for years mutually satisfactory, nevertheless, the order of the National Labor Relations Board disestablishing the workers' union had to be obeyed literally and those good relations had to be upset. This, it said, was the responsibility of Congress when it passed the Wagner Act—not the courts.

Collective bargaining was making rapid progress in America before 1935. It didn't really need the Wagner Law and its mischievous interpretations by a prejudiced board. If Labor-Union leaders, however, are sincere and will pledge themselves to repeal the Taft-Hartley Law in entirety and not attempt to put any other in its place, relying solely on the great power of voluntary action and common sense, employers ought to join enthusiastically in that movement for repeal and thus carry out the letter as well as the spirit of Presicent Truman's declaration on Labor Day.

World Divided Today With U. S. And Russia On Opposite Sides

By MARK SULLIVAN

We are at the eighth anniversary of the beginning of the second World War. Among many and tragic consequences of it, one stands out today. The world is divided into two—one polarized around the United States, the other around Russia.

The two are in conscious, organized conflict. If our people do not yet fully realize this, it is because we so long thought it unthinkable. That spirit on the part of our people was expressed and shared by our government. Only recently have our officials been willing to say publicly that the conflict exists.

There was a kind of landmark between March and August of this year. When President Truman last March called on Congress for aid to Greece, he in effect announced resistance to Russia not only in Greece and Turkey but in any part of the world in which Russia practices aggression. But Mr. Truman avoided the word "Russia", he used equivalents, "totalitarian" and "communist." But officials in the level below the presidency have come to the point where they do not hesitate. Within the past few weeks a cabinet member, Secretary Harriman of Commerce, and one of our representatives in the United Nations, Mr. Herschel Johnson, have said plainly that conflict with Russia exists, Mr. Johnson saying it in the presence of Russia's Gromyko.

Patience Was Tried

Throughout our negotiations with Russia following the end of the war, our officials and our people assumed completely that the over-all and imperative postwar purpose was to bring about One World. The phrase had been made familiar by a leader of American thought, Wendall Wilkie, it was an American ideal and concrete intention. Our officials, in their negotiations with Russia, assumed that Russia shared the purpose. When they encountered impediments from the Russian representatives in conferences, they ascribed the difficulty to differences of language. They assumed that only patience and understanding was necessary. Mr. James F. Byrnes, who conducted our relations with Russia during some year and a half of the early postwar period, was by temperament a man of patience and conciliation, courteous in conference. But he was obliged to say in July, 1946, upon his return from a conference at Paris:

"Our experience suggests that understanding . . . with our Soviet friends, cannot be reached until we have gone through rounds of verbal combat, in which old complaints are repeated, past positions reaffirmed, difference accentuated and crises provoked."

One of Mr. Byrnes' associates in the conference, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, realized that the difficulty was deeper than any verbal or other ordinary impediment to negotiation: "Eastern Communism and Western democracy are forces that confront each other." Senator Vandenberg did not say the difference was irreconciliable, but that came to be realized.

By the time Secretary Byrnes retired, no doubt in part because of the strain of the dialectic struggle, the true reason and nature of the difficulty with Russia was realized. The reason agreement could not be reached with the Russians was that they did not want to agree. They did not want a state of agreement in the world, they did not want One World unless and until that world should be communistic and under Russia's headship.

Our Policy Is Clear

Toward that end, Russia and Communism are in every part of the world practicing every agency of aggression and infiltration short of direct use of arms, and in some parts of the world arms also.

Accepting this condition because we must, we have taken leadership of the non-communist side in the world-wide conflict. Our policy is already expressed in several steps. To countries threatened by Communism and by Russian domination, we will give help, to enable them to become or remain politically independent and economically self-supporting. We extend material help to enable countries to safeguard themselves against a degree of privation which might lead their peoples to submit to Communism. If resistance of some countries to communist and Russian aggression includes necessity of military supplies; we have done this in the case of Greece and Turkey.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The Open Mind

Knowledge is not just dropped into our mental lap, like rain from the full skies. It is something laboriously and patiently acquired—by reading, listening, pondering, correcting, and by keeping an open mind at all times.

Over and over again, things that great masses believed in, have later been proved to be fallacious. The majority of people in this world do not do their own thinking. They depend upon the thinking of others, and so it is that what might prove to be a great movement in many an instance turns out to be a failure—largely because the leader's ideas were not right. Sooner or later, however, the masses do find their way, and that is why we have progress.

By keeping an open mind you get all sides of a question, or problem. You can keep what you will and discard what you will. All dictatorships are certain to fail in the end for you cannot stop the flow of knowledge into people' minds, nor long compel them to think opposite to their convictions. The open mind thrives upon free expresion.

Free speech, free and uninterrupted expression, and every opportunity given for this inalienable right, are what assure to people their liberty and happiness. The main reason for the growth and progress of this Western World is that it has had this freedom of expression. And an open mind, therefore, has always been in readiness to receive ideas, and to sift them for the truth.

We learn about our errors, and misinterpretations, by talking things over with other people. We get new viewpoints, new angles of approach, and interesting side-lights. Even our own opinions are softned and changed completely by an open mind, and our will to listen that we may learn. But we must never forget that we retain the rightto think as we please, regardless of the opinions of others.

All the bars are down to the open mind. It becomes a sifter of ideas, opinions, and facts. A clearing house, as you might say, discarding all but the worthwhile and genuine. There is a welcome sign over every open mind!

Purge Of Disloyal Workers In Government Is Necessary

It is a sad state of affairs when a nation has to subject its 2,000,000 employes to a loyalty test. But in the light of what already has happened and what could happen there will be few Americans who will deny the need for this measure of defense against internal enemies.

The investigation seems like a stupendous undertaking. It will enlist the services of the United States Civil Service Commission and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It will call for the filling out of millions of forms; the checking and cross-checking of information thus received and, in some instances, personal examinations of suspect individuals.

The purpose is to strip the federal rolls of men and women whose primary allegiance is to a foreign government or who are lending a hand to those forces which would destroy the American system.

Charges have been made by so-called "liberals" and of course Communists that this checkup violates the letter and the spirit of the Constitution. There might have been something to that charge if Congress had approved the Rees bill, which would have authorized instant dismissal of any Federal employe under suspicion of disloyalty, with no opportunity for a hearing or for appeal to the courts. But the Senate found the Rees bill too drastic. The rights of individual employes will be protected under this probe. But Congress is also determined to protect the nation, against those who have proved by their actions and affiliations that they have Communist sympathies.

Every reasonable man and woman knows today that a Communist or fellow-traveler in Government employ has one basic motive—to help overthrow that government and set up in its place a regime which shall take Soviet Russia as its model and mentor. The extent to which fellow-travelers can infiltrate a democratic government was suggested by the recent shocking revelations in Canada.

That there are disloyal government employes is open to no question. Within the past few months hundreds of workers have been separated from their jobs on evidence so compelling that there was not even a suggestion of mistake. There must be many more. To root them out and send them packing is for the nation an elementary act of self-protection.

To Make Genocide Punishable Before International Court

The Social and Economic Council of the United States has just drafted an international treaty defining "genocide" as "a criminal act" and empowering the United Nations to intervene to stop it and to punish offenders after trial before an international court. The treaty draft will be submitted to the U. N. General Assembly for approval within the next few weeks.

As defined by the Polish scholar and Nurenberg trials adviser, Rafael Lemkin, "genocide" is the crime of annihilating national, racial and religious groups. The most horrible example of the crime in modern times, if not in all history, was of course Hitler's methodical campaign to exterminate the Jews. It is not only proper but essential that the United Nations, whose Charter proclaims "faith in fundamental human rights, in the dignity and worth of the human person," should seek to prevent another outburst of such barbarism.

The U. N. General Assembly, which is not crippled by the big-power veto, might indeed lend its attention to other crimes against masses of people in addition to genocide. The persecution of men and women because of their political views, or the accident of their economic grouping, is no less hideous from the human standpoint.

In Soviet Russia millions of people have been tortured, exiled or murdered because of their beliefs or their way of life did not happen to fit in with the Communist scheme of things. In Eastern Poland, during the life of the Hitler-Stalin pact, the Russians exiled or killed a multitude of middle-class people. Right now, in Russia's Balkan satellites, men and women who refuse to support the Communist leaders or who belong to the "wrong classes" are being systematically tortured.

From the standpoint of the victims, it makes little difference whether an individual is destroyed because of his race or his economic and political views. These people, too, deserve the attention of the U. N. in its laudable effort to maintain "the dignity and worth of the human person."

Motorists Should Watch Out For School Children

W. Lee Elgin, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, warns motorists that schools throughout Maryland are now open. Children are now riding the school buses and they must be protected from accidents.

When a school bus has stopped to take on or discharge its passengers, motorists must make a full stop at least 10 feet, either in front or rear of the school bus and remain stopped until the bus continues on to its next destination.

Police departments throughout the state are rigidly enforcing the school bus stop law, Elgin asserted. All motorists should co-operate by observing the law by driving unusually careful on streets and highways which children use to go to and from schools.

Navy Cops Speed Record

The United States has doubled its grip on the world air speed record. Up to June 19 the record was held by a British Gloster Meteor at 616 miles an hour.

On that date Col. Albert Boyd of the U. S. Army regained the record for the United States for the first time in 24 years by flying a P80-R Shooting Star 623 miles an hour at Muroc Lake in California. Now the Navy, which lost the record nearly a quarter of a century ago, has it again.

The feat was performed by Commander Turner F. Caldwell in a D-558 Skystreak, also at Muroc Lake. He averaged 640.7 miles an hour over a standard course and in compliance with existing speed rules.

The two-fold speed accomplishment of American planes, an Army Lockheed and a Navy Douglas, shows clearly that while the United States may have got a slow start on jet-propelled aircraft, it has fully caught up with the parade and now is showing the way.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SPECULATIONS ON RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

RHEUMATOID arthritis is still a puzzle to the medical profession. This is unfortunate as it is most likely to attack young adults and often leads to considerable incapacity during the most productive years. The disorder should not be confused with osteo-arthritis which is more common in older persons.

It may be that the term is a misnomer and the joint symptoms are merely manifestations of a more generalized disturbance. In this respect it resembles scarlet fever. To consider it merely a skin disease and expect cure by treating the rash with various salves and ointments would be senseless. In the future it is highly possible that the physician will concentrate more of his attention on the general condition of the victim of rheumatoid arthritis and less on the joints.

As a matter of fact, long before the "hinges" begin to act up, many sufferers are fatigued, lose weight, and have no desire to eat. With changes in weather, the skeletal frame aches and the skin is frequently cold and clammy. At this time the effect of the bacterial invasion is felt and the stage is being set for the joints to show their displeasure by becoming tender, swollen, and painful.

We do not know why these structures misbehave but in no instance has the microorganism ever been found in the vicinity. Perhaps in such patients it is a reaction to their toxins. Newer studies have revealed that there is a marked degree of mucin destruction and that the tissues surrounding the involved parts have a high concentration of this substance. In some the response is temporary; in others, it comes and goes which explains why there is an apparent cure for a variable length of time, only to have the disease return. The third possibility is that in a few, the process is more permanent. As each year passes, more destruction is encountered and ultimately deformities ensue.

When measures are taken to keep the victim in a good state of health in spite of the infirmity, the maximum results are obtained. Resistance can be built by eating a normal diet high in calories and vitamins, a program that is particularly helpful because many are underweight and the extra nourishment is needed. When appetite is poor, tonics and supplementary vitamins, combined with attractive meals may do the trick. Rest also promotes healing and enhances the feeling of well-being.

There is no scarcity of remedies and every physician, druggist, and casual friend has one or more to recommend. But the large number available is evidence that no one preparation is outstanding. A partial list includes vaccines, foreign proteins, sulfur, vitamins B and D, X-ray, and gold. The latter is currently popular and in many instances has proved valuable. It cannot be used in every case, however, and must be given cautiously. Salicylates ease pain but do not necessarily alter the course of the malady.

It is not easy to determine the efficacy of any remedy because 60 per cent of all rheumatoid arthritis sufferers improve whether or not they receive medicine. The indiscriminate removal of the teeth and tonsils is no longer done. If they are infected, and disturbing the general health, this is another matter.

VIEWING THE BRONCHI

E. P. writes: What is the bronchoscope used for?

REPLY

To look into the windpipe and larger bronchial tubes for diagnostic purposes, and for treatment such as removing foreign bodies like peanuts and pins.

SURGERY IN ARCHES

C. A. writes: Can fallen arches be lifted thru an operation?

REPLY

No, nor would it be practicable as easier remedies are available. Perhaps you could lift yourself by your own bootstraps.

INFECTED TUBE

B. D. writes: Will penicillin cure an inflamed tube?

REPLY

Yes, this remedy is used frequently, especially if the invading organisms are of the type that respond to this drug.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Little fourteen-year-old Virginia Brooks, of Memphis, Tenn., is known around home as the "Frank Buck in Pigtails." She has just returned from an African Safari with her father, a hunter. She just went along for the jungle laughs, but while there she killed a full-grown bull elephant, a rhino, a lion, a baboon, a jackal and two hyenas.

And this is the kid who has to sit in the children's section of the movies. I guess they're afraid of what she'll do with the popcorn.

Virginia used special weapons for each animal. She killed the bull elephant with an elephant gun, as for the rhino, lion and baboon, she got them at 500 yards with her beanshooter.

But it was the jackal and the hyena that gave her the most trouble. She had to beat them to death with a sticky lollypop.

Her parents knew Virginia would be a great hunter from the moment she was born. When they handed her a box of animal crackers, she lined the animals up on the edge of her high chair tray and methodically knocked them off with the lumps from her mashed potatoes.

Naturally, the people of Tennessee aren't letting this native daughter go unrecognized. They are giving her the state's highest award. They're making her an honorary Tennessee revenuer.

Army Politicos Plan To Sidetrack Omar Bradley As Successor To Eisenhower; Want Mark Clark As Chief Of Staff, Allen Says

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—If certain inner Army politicos have their way, able, conscientious Gen. Omar Bradley will be sidetracked as General Eisenhower's successor and shunted off into a high-sounding but lesser job.

The secret plan is to make Bradley commanding general of a U. S. Theater that would be created for this purpose. This theater would include the Continental U.S. and be comparable to the Mediterranean and other foreign theaters. As theaters commander, Bradley would be junior to the Chief of Staff, the post he really wants and is outstandingly fitted to hold.

However, by sidetracking Bradley, the Army politicos would open the way to grab off the C-S prize. First choice on their list is tall, ambitious Gen. Mark Clark, U.S. Commander in Italy during the war.

Bradley is now in Europe on a special inspection trip, on six weeks' leave from the Veterans Administration. He is Eisenhower's personal choice as his successor. At the time Eisenhower announced his plan to retire from the Army in January to become President of Columbia University, he told newsmen he hoped Bradley would become Chief of Staff.

But the inner Army politicos have other ideas. Bradley is too non-political minded to suit them. Under the new unification and promotion acts, there are numerous juicy plums to be grabbed off and they want a direct hand in the grabbing. They rightly fear there would be little or none of that under Bradley.

So, during his absence, there is much undercover scheming and wire-pulling to sidetrack Bradley. These antics are particularly interesting in view of the Army's customarily haughty disdain of politicians. Actually, inner Army politics is as hectic, petty, and crass as any played outside the service.

No Luck

Before stepping out as National Commander of the Veterans of foreign Wars, genial Louis Starr called on President Truman. With Starr was Omar Ketchum, VFW Legislative representative.

"Are you guilty, too?" asked the president.

"No; no such luck for you, Mr. President. I'll still be around to get in your hair."

"Yes," grinned the president. "I guess that's to be expected."

Tragic Problem

Most tragic problem in the Indonesian fighting is the fate of the 700,000 Eurasians of Dutch and native ancestry.

Dutch settlers in the archipelago have been intermarrying with native women since the seventeenth century. Their offspring, officially known as "Indo-Europeans," constitute a large and important population element. They are educated and before the war occupied important business and governmental posts.

During their occupation, the Japs created a schism between the Eurasians and natives. As a result, when the Japs were evicted, the natives threw the Eurasians into concentration camps. When the British landed, pending the arrival of Dutch forces, they liberated many of the Eurasians. But thousands of others, deep in the interior where the British could not penetrate, are still held as prisoners.

What the fate of the hapless Eurasians will be when the fighting ceases, is still anyone's guess. The natives hate them and the Dutch are in a difficult position to protect them.

Merry-Go-Round

A wheat farmer picked up in La Junta, Colo., on a traffic charge pulled out a roll of $20,000 from which to pay his fine. When asked if that wasn't a lot of money to be carrying around, he replied casually, "Oh, I've got a lot more at home." . . . The famed New Deal brain-trust team of Corcoran and Cohen may soon be revived as law partners. Able, modest Ben Cohen, who recently resigned as State Department general counsel, may tie up with the law firm of his old partner, Tommy The Cork . . . It is very fitting that President Truman should participate in the 125th anniversary of Brazilian independence. The U.S. was the first country to give official recognition to Brazil—in 1823, during the administration of President James Monroe. . . The War Department has ordered all retired regular Army officers to be released by next July. . . Tex McCrary, noted war correspondent and radio commentator, is organizing a world-wide news service for radio and television outlets. Nucleus of the service will be a corps of correspondents and photographers stationed at strategic points throughout the globe. . . The Democratic National Committee is planning to make songwriter Jack Lawrence's popular "Have A Heart, Taft-Hartley, Have A Heart" one of its 1948 campaign tunes. . . The convention of the Missouri Farmers Association, claiming 117,000 members, adopted a resolution condemning the House probe of farm cooperatives and declaring war on "congressional enemies of the farmers." . . . A survey by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics in plants employing 88,000 handicaped workers disclosed that 51 per cent had better accident records than nonhandicapped workers, 48 per cent had better-than-average absence records and 58 per cent stayed on their jobs longer.

Pay Dirt

Ohio's hard-hitting Representative George Bender will uncover a different kind of pay dirt in his forthcoming probe of wartime contractors than that dug up by Senator Brewster's committee. Bender is eschewing Hollywood and going after fraud. He already has some sensational evidence in hand.

A report compiled by Comptroller General Lindsay Warren charges overpayments or fraud in more than 5 per cent of all war contracts. Out of 4,789 contracts that were studied, Lindsay found the government paid $4,350,000 more than it should have.

On the basis of these figures, Bender estimates the government was overcharged, or cheated, out of more than $60,000,000 on the 318,000 war contracts.

Bender's investigators have informed him that the technique most frequently used to gouge the government was to falsify the value of inventory remaining at the time of a contract termination, particularly materials and equipment which could be used later for civilian production. Frequently, the contractors would repurchase these articles at a fraction of their face value, claiming that costly precision tools and fabricating machines were good only for scrap.

Dewey Move

The Dewey camp is quietly organizing to make a determined fight for the Iowa delegation.

Heading the move is Whitney Gilliland, of Glenwood, former youngest district judge in the state. The drive is aimed chiefly at Minnesota's Harold Stassen, who has considerable support among G.O.P. county chairmen.

However, the Republican State Central Committee is all split up, with members favoring Taft, Dewey, Stassen, Speaker Joe Martin and a few for General Eisenhower. State Chairman Willis York and long-time National Committeeman Harrison Spangler are in the Taft camp.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

UN Spreads Its Wings

WHEN John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave the United Nations a site on the East River in New York City, he followed a precedent established when he contributed to the building of the palace of the League of Nations, as I understand he did. At any rate, he solved the problem of committees of the United Nations chasing all over the United States, giving our cities the once-over, scaring home-owners out of their wits by grandiose statements about how they were going to take over large areas of American property. He was fortunate to have the money and to be able to spend it freely.

After the first shock of discovering that they were permanently saddled with the United Nations, New Yorkers became accustomed to the idea of a state within a state, of a segment of their city ceasing to be American and becoming international. Then the United Nations architects and engineers produced drawings and plans of the proposed buildings and the citizens foresaw an eternal nightmare, for someone had decided that the main United Nations building was to resemble a tombstone — a huge, skyscraper tombstone, the largest ever conceived by the human mind—but nonetheless a tombstone.

Of course, the pyramids are mausoleums as is the Taj Mahal. It might have been conceived that the UN building would be a permanent mausoleum like the pyramids, but certainly it was not planned to be as beautiful as the Taj Mahal. It is to be an austere tombstone, a colossal rectangle, hard unadorned, cold—a slap in the face by the north wind on a January day—standing out against the warm and glowing New York skyline.

If that is how those who run UN conceive it to be, that is their affair, although why they should be permitted to perpetrate such a monstrosity in the city of New York it is difficult to understand. Still, architecture can be symbolic and if a tombstone is the symbol which the UN officials choose for themselves, who shall say them nay?

The next thing we heard was that the UN people disliked the Queens bank of the East River. The Borough of Queens is developing commercially. Over there used to be Astoria, of which Washington Irving wrote so eloquently when this country was young. But now it is all warehouses and factories and huge electric signs and railroad yards and it is displeasing to the UN secretariat who have to look out of the windows in the elevated tombstone. They wanted a wooded bank, something landscaped perhaps with pergolas and pagodas.

So they want New York to do something about Queens. Maybe the smartest way would be to blow the Borough of Queens out of existence with an atom bomb (or a Veto); then the Europeans could gaze out upon the Atlantic Ocean. That would scare them everyday because it might remind them that sooner or later they will have to return to the countries whence they came which none of them seem to want to do. At any rate, if anything is to be done about Queens, they expect the American taxpayer to put up the coin for doing it, an idea that he will reject if he has any brains left. Certainly it does not make sense for us to pay the United Nations to stay in this country.

Now they have come forth with another bit of gimme-gimme. They desire the approaches to UN extended until they reach out nearly to the middle of Manhattan Island, dispossessing thousands of Americans from their homes, stores, shops, school, and churches. They would tear down a large tract of this overcrowded city, make its citizens homeless just to produce a pretty driveway with some trees and bushes on the side to look like a European boulevard.

The idea is that UN must look important. But important is that important does. So far UN has not justified its major purpose which is to maintain the peace. What matters it what the approach to a building, if mankind may have peace. It might even be in a manger that peace is sought and found.

Good Labor Relations Made By Men, Women Concerned

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—No truer words were ever spoken than those of President Truman in his Labor Day statement when he said that "good labor relations cannot be brought about by legislation," and instead "are created by the men and women concerned, cooperating sincerely and earnestly within the framework of a minimum amount of regulatory law."

Logically this means repeal of the Wagner-Taft-Hartley Law, for that is really its right name if content is considered, because the backbone of the Wagner Law is still included word for word in the Taft-Hartley Law. In fact, there is more of the Wagner Law text in the new statute than there is of the House measure known as the Hartley Bill.

So when labor unions call for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law they are in effect calling for a repeal of the old Wagner Law, too. This, of course, is not what they mean. They want the same one-sided Labor law and one-sided Labor Board that they had before.

It would be a great step forward and in keeping with the spirit of President Truman's Labor Day message if the spokesmen for Labor Unions frankly called for the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law and admitted also that they did not want the Wagner Law put back in its place.

Workers Are Misled

For what the Labor Unions during the last 12 years have defended is a law that put the clamps on employers and gave Labor Unions the license to do as they pleased. Such a statute was for 12 years protected against the slightest amendment by Congress through the efforts of the most powerful Labor Lobby the National Capital has ever seen and by the most brazen alliance of money and votes that ever supported a national administration.

Throughout the length and breadth of the land, during the last decade, Union organizers misled workers into believing it was ordered by law that they join a union. To this day this sort of misrepresentation exists, aided and abetted by statements made by the President and members of his Gabinet at every opportunity. Thus, in the Labor Day statement, Mr. Truman said:

"The right to join a union of one's own choice is unquestioned today and is sanctioned and protected by law."

Mr. Truman did not tell all of the story. The fact is that the right to refrain from joining a union is also sanctioned and protected by law today. This is the great contribution that the Taft-Hartley Law has made to the civil liberties of the present epoch. Certainly candor should have required the making of this additional statement in view of the fact that this right was given protection for the first time a few weeks ago. It was the big chance for balanced comment in a Labor Day statement by the nation's Chief Executive.

Government Interference

Labor relations would be ideal of course if there were no compulsion of law about them, and if workers and employers could sit down together through chosen representatives and arrive at agreements without threatening economic and physical violence. Clearly, it would be better if the Federal Government kept out of the bargaining process. But for 13 years the Federal Government has been in it with both feet, using the Wagner Act as its instrument of intervention. It is a matter of record that the Supreme Court of the United States actually said in one of its opinions—in the Newport News Shipbuilding Company case—that although relations between management and labor had been for years mutually satisfactory, nevertheless, the order of the National Labor Relations Board disestablishing the workers' union had to be obeyed literally and those good relations had to be upset. This, it said, was the responsibility of Congress when it passed the Wagner Act—not the courts.

Collective bargaining was making rapid progress in America before 1935. It didn't really need the Wagner Law and its mischievous interpretations by a prejudiced board. If Labor-Union leaders, however, are sincere and will pledge themselves to repeal the Taft-Hartley Law in entirety and not attempt to put any other in its place, relying solely on the great power of voluntary action and common sense, employers ought to join enthusiastically in that movement for repeal and thus carry out the letter as well as the spirit of President Truman's declaration on Labor Day.

World Divided Today With U. S. And Russia On Opposite Sides

By MARK SULLIVAN

We are at the eighth anniversary of the beginning of the second World War. Among many and tragic consequences of it, one stands out today. The world is divided into two—one polarized around the United States, the other around Russia.

The two are in conscious, organized conflict. If our people do not yet fully realize this, it is because we so long thought it unthinkable. That spirit on the part of our people was expressed and shared by our government. Only recently have our officials been willing to say publicly that the conflict exists.

There was a kind of landmark between March and August of this year. When President Truman last March called on Congress for aid to Greece, he in effect announced resistance to Russia not only in Greece and Turkey but in any part of the world in which Russia practices aggression. But Mr. Truman avoided the word "Russia", he used equivalents, "totalitarian" and "communist." But officials in the level below the presidency have come to the point where they do not hesitate. Within the past few weeks a cabinet member, Secretary Harriman of Commerce, and one of our representatives in the United Nations, Mr. Herschel Johnson, have said plainly that conflict with Russia exists, Mr. Johnson saying it in the presence of Russia's Gromyko.

Patience Was Tried

Throughout our negotiations with Russia following the end of the war, our officials and our people assumed completely that the over-all and imperative postwar purpose was to bring about One World. The phrase had been made familiar by a leader of American thought, Wendall Wilkie, it was an American ideal and concrete intention. Our officials, in their negotiations with Russia, assumed that Russia shared the purpose. When they encountered impediments from the Russian representatives in conferences, they ascribed the difficulty to differences of language. They assumed that only patience and understanding was necessary. Mr. James F. Byrnes, who conducted our relations with Russia during some year and a half of the early postwar period, was by temperament a man of patience and conciliation, courteous in conference. But he was obliged to say in July, 1946, upon his return from a conference at Paris:

"Our experience suggests that understanding . . . with our Soviet friends, cannot be reached until we have gone through rounds of verbal combat, in which old complaints are repeated, past positions reaffirmed, difference accentuated and crises provoked."

One of Mr. Byrnes' associates in the conference, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, realized that the difficulty was deeper than any verbal or other ordinary impediment to negotiation: "Eastern Communism and Western democracy are forces that confront each other." Senator Vandenberg did not say the difference was irreconcilable, but that came to be realized.

By the time Secretary Byrnes retired, no doubt in part because of the strain of the dialectic struggle, the true reason and nature of the difficulty with Russia was realized. The reason agreement could not be reached with the Russians was that they did not want to agree. They did not want a state of agreement in the world, they did not want One World unless and until that world should be communistic and under Russia's headship.

Our Policy Is Clear

Toward that end, Russia and Communism are in every part of the world practicing every agency of aggression and infiltration short of direct use of arms, and in some parts of the world arms also.

Accepting this condition because we must, we have taken leadership of the non-communist side in the world-wide conflict. Our policy is already expressed in several steps. To countries threatened by Communism and by Russian domination, we will give help, to enable them to become or remain politically independent and economically self-supporting. We extend material help to enable countries to safeguard themselves against a degree of privation which might lead their peoples to submit to Communism. If resistance of some countries to communist and Russian aggression includes necessity of military supplies; we have one this in the case of Greece and Turkey.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The Open Mind

Knowledge is not just dropped into our mental lap, like rain from the full skies. It is something laboriously and patiently acquired—by reading, listening, pondering, correcting, and by keeping an open mind at all times.

Over and over again, things that great masses believed in, have later been proved to be fallacious. The majority of people in this world do not do their own thinking. They depend upon the thinking of others, and so it is that what might prove to be a great movment in many an instance turns out to be a failure—largely because the leader's ideas were not right. Sooner or later, however, the masses do find their way, and that is why we have progress.

By keeping an open mind you get all sides of a question or problem. You can keep what you will and discard what you will. All dictatorships are certain to fail in the end for you cannot stop the flow of knowledge into people' minds, nor long compel them to think opposite to their convictions. The open mind thrives upon free expresion.

Free speech, free and uninterrupted expression, and eery opportunity given for this inalienable right, are what assure to people their liberty and happiness. The main reason for the growth and progress of this Western World is that it has had this freedom of expression. And an open mind, therefore, has always been in readiness to receive ideas, and to sift them for the truth.

We learn about our errors, and misinterpretations, by talking things over with other people. We get new viewpoints, new angles of approach, and interesting side-lights. Even our own opinions are softned and changed completely by an open mind, and our will to listen that we may learn. But we must never forget that we retain the right to think as we please, regardless of the opinions of others.

All the bars are down to the open mind. It becomes a sifter of ideas, opinions, and facts. A clearing house, as you might say, discarding all but the worthwhile and genuine. There is a welcome sign over every open mind!

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

If you'll pardon me a minute, I'd like to speak privately with a young friend of mine who has been running a summer theatre up in Maine.

Billy Rose

Let's see, Howard, if I have your story straight. Your little summer theatre didn't play to much business this season. The leading man preferred Schenley to Shakespeare. Your visiting star couldn't go on the opening night of "Dream Girl" because of poison ivy. On matinee days, even the cows wouldn't come into the barn. So you've decided to chuck show business and go in for something less chaotic.

Well, I don't blame you, Howard. I think you've made a smart decision. Producing is an ungrateful and uncertain business. You're well out of it.

Your hard luck this season reminds me of another hardluck showman I happen to know of. When he took out his first show, he was about 26 years old. It wasn't much of a show by your standards—part minstrel, part side show.

His first stop was in a little town in Massachusetts. The hotel in which his troupe was staying caught fire that night and some of his costumes were burned.

At the next stop a hellfire-and-brimstone parson had him run out of town.

A bit discouraged, he headed South. In Roanoke, Virginia, it rained so hard he had to cancel his show. The owner of the hotel where the performers were to have stayed that night threatened to have the producer jailed unless he paid for the three meals and lodging which had been scheduled. The producer paid up—but only after his company ate the three meals at one sitting and lay down on the beds for half an hour to soil the sheets.

In South Carolina, his star colored singer walked out. The producer rubbed some burnt cork on his face and did the fellow's numbers himself. As he came off, he heard an argument between his ticket taker and one of the natives. The producer, still blacked up, butted in and talked tough. The Carolinian whipped out a pistol. No colored man was going to get uppity with him. The producer had to roll up his sleeves and show his white skin to keep from getting shot.

One night the magician's assistant didn't show up. The producer crawled into the trick compartment under the magician's table and handed up the props which the magician was supposedly producing out of thin air. One of these props was a live squirrel. He leaped out of the compartment and ran hi-yi-ing through the audience. The crowd threatened to break up his show and he had to give them their money back.

Down in Mississippi he picked up a showboat—not the one they sing about, but a beat-up hulk which would have turned over if fifteen people leaned against the same rail. The second day out, one of his minstrels fell over the side and drowned.

For the next few weeks, whenever the producer ran short of cash he would sell a piece of his show. I don't mean a financial interest—no one would buy that. I mean a curtain, an old trunk, or one of his musician's instruments.

By the time he got to New Orleans, there wasn't much left of the show. He traded what remained for a few kegs of blackstrap molasses.

The producer swore he would never mess with show business again. And he didn't—until the following season.

Unlike you, my dear Howard, P. T. Barnum didn't know enough to quit when the quitting was good.

Horses To Aid Army Of Greece

SALONIKA, Greece—(AP)—Four hundred top quality young horses which were handpicked from German cavalry mounts for the Greek army have been delivered here. Another 400 horses are scheduled for delivery soon.

The horses arrived in excellent condition, causing Greek cavalry officers to express amazement at the mounts, selected by an ex-cowhand, Maj. James Owens of Uvalde, Tex.

Owens is remount officer of the European theater and once was responsible for 140,000 war captured horses. The Greek Army chief veterinarian, Lt. Col. Vassiles Lambropoulos says "we expected war weary horses but these young, spirited animals partly answer our problem of reaching rugged mountainous vicinities we couldn't reach by motor vehicle. One Greek soldier is worth 10 rebels if we can approach guerrilla territory which is only possible by animals."

Has First Baby

HONOLULU—(AP)—The first baby has been born on tiny Johnston Island, a navy outpost 700 miles southwest of here. The wife of Aviation Chief Ordinance Mate Oscar E. Tinsley of Greensborough, Md., is the mother.

Seven pound nine ounce Terry Edward Tinsley became the winner of a $100 prize offered more than a year ago by the island commander to the first new baby on the postage stamp size island.

Eggs With Bounce

PERTH, Australia—(AP)—Eggs laid by two hens on a Perth poultry farm fall 12 feet to the ground and don't break.

The hens have nested 12 feet up a tree and have laid their eggs to the ground for the past four months. In that time, their owner, Mrs. D. M. Hendry says, she has never found a broken egg at the foot of the tree.

The ground on which the eggs fall is powdery, but it is not particularly soft.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

If you'll pardon me a minute, I'd like to speak privately with a young friend of mine who has been running a summer theatre up in Maine.

Billy Rose

Let's see, Howard, if I have your story straight. Your little summer theatre didn't play to much business this season. The leading man preferred Schenley to Shakespeare. Your visiting star couldn't go on the opening night of "Dream C[illegible]" because of poison ivy. On matinee days, even the cows wouldn't come into the barn. So you've decided to chuck show business and go in for something less chaotic.

Well, I don't blame you, Howard. I think you've made a smart decision. Producing is an ungrateful and uncertain business. You're well out of it.

Your hard luck this season reminds me of another hardluck showman I happen to know of. When he took out his first show, he was about 26 years old. It wasn't much of a show by your standards—part minstrel, part side show.

His first stop was in a little town in Massachusetts. The hotel in which his troupe was staying caught fire that night and some of his costumes were burned.

At the next stop a hellfire-and-brimstone parson had him run out of town.

A bit discouraged, he headed South. In Roanoke, Virginia, it rained so hard he had to cancel his show. The owner of the hotel where the performers were to have stayed that night threatened to have the producer jailed unless he paid for the three meals and lodging which had been scheduled. The producer paid up—but only after his company ate the three meals at one sitting and lay down on the beds for half an hour to soil the sheets.

In South Carolina, his star colored singer walked out. The producer rubbed some burnt cork on his face and did the fellow's numbers himself. As he came off, he heard an argument between his ticket taker and one of the natives. The producer, still blacked up, butted in and talked tough. The Carolinian whipped out a pistol. No colored man was going to get uppity with him. The producer had to roll up his sleeves and show his white skin to keep from getting shot.

One night the magician's assistant didn't show up. The producer crawled into the trick compartment under the magician's table and handed up the props which the magician was supposedly producing out of thin air. One of these props was a live squirrel. He leaped out of the compartment and ran hi-yi-ing through the audience. The crowd threatened to break up his show and he had to give them their money back.

Down in Mississippi he picked up a showboat—not the one they sing about, but a beat-up hulk which would have turned over if fifteen people leaned against the same rail. The second day out, one of his minstrels fell over the side and drowned.

For the next few weeks, whenever the producer ran short of cash he would sell a piece of his show. I don't mean a financial interest—no one would buy that. I mean a curtain, an old trunk, or one of his musician's instruments.

By the time he got to New Orleans, there wasn't much left of the show. He traded what remained for a few kegs of blackstrap molasses.

The producer swore he would never mess with show business again. And he didn't—until the following season.

Advice To The Lovelorn

18-Year-Old Girl Can't Choose Between Two Young Men

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 15 and have been going steady with a young man, 20. Lately I met another man who is 18, and I don't know which one to pick.

The 20-year-old one is always fighting with my girl friends and then she gets mad at me, or else he gets mad at me and then calls me up. Besides this, he is always making improper advances, but I always say no.

The 18-year-old one never talks that way, but he hardly pays any attention to me at all.

Should I leave the 20-year-old man and stop going out with boys at all?

"PUZZLED."

Dear "Puzzled":

If you don't have any more sense about boys and men than you seem to have, then I certainly think you should do as you suggest yourself and stop going out with boys at all.

Why in the world do you want to have anything to do with a young man who behaves as you describe? He sounds to me like somebody that a girl, and particularly one your age, should let strictly alone.

As for not knowing whether to choose him or the 18-year-old one, I don't see that you have any problem there, since you say the 18-year-old boy never pays any attention to you anyhow. Possibly, he knows what kind this older one is and would not be interested in any girl who hasn't any more sense than to go steady with such a poor specimen. If your ideas are so unformed yet that you don't know how to pick the right sort of friends, you'd better wait for yourself to grow up a little more before thinking about going steady with any one.

She Has No Boy Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am going to be 16 in a few months and the point is that all my girl friends have their boy friends, but I am left out completely, and I can't understand it for one minute.

My girl friends tell me all about their boy friends and what I should do when I am on a date, but I still just don't have a single one. I tried fixing my hair differently and just everything, and the funniest part is that I am not bad-looking. I go to a co-educational school, and we have confraternity at our church.

For goodness sake, where is a girl supposed to met boys? It's beyond me. I have completely given up hope.

"BOYLESS."

Dear "Boyless":

If you go to a co-educational school and to confraternity at your church, I should think you would be meeting boys at both places. If the boys you meet do not ask you out on dates, perhaps there is something wrong with the way you react to them, or with your own social behavior in general.

You haven't told me enough about yourself so that I can give you very specific advice, but I have a "Personality Quiz" which I would be glad to send you if you would care to write for it and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope. After you have answered the questions on the Quiz and returned it to me, I would have a much better idea of what may be wrong in your situation.

In appeal cases, bond for two men convicted of drunken driving in hearings last month totalled $2,000. Robert W. Forebeck, Winifred Road, was fined $101.45 for driving under the influence of alcohol, and $151.45 for operating a car with a revoked license.

The other motorist who filed an appeal, Roy L. Ritchie, Route 4, was found guilty of reckless driving and driving under the influence of liquor. His fines totaled $112.20.

TWUA WILL DISCUSS WAGES AT MEETING

CHARLOTTE, N. C. Sept. 3—(AP)—The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, set September 21 as the date its representatives will meet to decide upon new wage demands from the 160 southern mills with which it has contracts.

George Baldanzi of New York, executive vice-president of the union, said that approximately 450 union members from all the southern states will attend a meeting on that date in Atlanta which will consider in addition the Taft-Hartley Act, the CIO southern organizational drive, and political action.

The decision to reopen the wage clauses of the union's contracts with southern mills—which employ more than 125,000 persons—was made here today at a conference of the unions state directors and joint board managers from Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Louisiana and Texas.

Roy Lawrence of Charlotte, southern regional director, called the meeting.

Baldanzi said employers would be notified immediately of the plans for reopening wage clauses and that the reopenings will take piace in accordance with the specific provisions of each agreement.

He said the overall wage differential between southern and northern workers is about 15 cents an hour and added that the TWUA is attempting to wipe it out.

In the northern states, Baldanzi added, the union recently obtained wage increases amounting to five cents an hour with five paid holidays, improved insurance arrangements, and other employee benefits.

Five Men Enlist In Regular Army

Five men were sent from the local Army Recruiting station to Baltimore for processing into the Regular Army yesterday, Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow announced.

A veteran of one year and seven months previous duty, Raymond David Greaser, Shallmar, Md., signed for service in the European Theater of Operations for three years.

Noah Randolph Rader, New Creek, W. Va., enlisted in the Ordnance Department for three years and Yoder David Knox, Oakland signed for service in the Pacific Theater with the Corps of Engineers.

Bernard Patrick Welsh, 433 Vine Street, Westernport, enlisted in the Air Force for three years and Thomas Wayne Rizer, 54 West Fairview Street, joined the Regular Army, unassigned, for three years.

Capt. Bairstow announced that a new recruiting substation has been opened in Westernport with an office on the second floor of the city building.

Technician Third Grade Robert L. Chambers, who recently attended the Adjutant General's Recruiting School at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., will be in charge of the office.

Napolean gave Josephine a watch with 1741 pearls and 158 turquoises in the case. Every quarter a musical attachment played to the accompaniment of three moving figures.

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

Incidental Intelligence

When Cuban sugar baron Jorge Sanchez was wheeled into the operating room at New York Hospital, the nurses discovered ribald messages directed to them, written on his torso in mercurochrome. . . . Mme Claude Alphand, recently a singing favorite in the intimate nite spots here, is now the reigning hostess of Paris and invitations to her Sunday nite soirees "chez elle" (near Chartes) are at a premium. . . . Sir Cerdic Hardwicke, who was knighted for his prowess at acting, wants to give up acting for keeps and become a director. He's due back on Broadway next season. . . . Tommy Cook, the 17-year-old West Coast tennis player, who is expected to be in the Kramer brackets next year, is Junior Riley on NBC's "Life of Riley" comedy series. . . . Pat di Cicco, Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski's ex-husband, is now manager of a chain of theatres in Dallas, Texas. . . . Former film favorite Lillian Harvey, who was doing Summer stock in the U. S., is scoring a terrific comeback in the European theatres.

Dallas Bower, co-producer with Laurence Olivier of "Henry V" is now filming "Alice In Wonderland" in Paris, with live actors alternating with puppets. Some of the color background scenes were shot at Oxford University, England. . . . When Gabriel Pascal gets around to filming "St. Francis of Assisi" next winter, he will have some special dialogue by George Bernard Shaw to direct . . . The original choice of title for "Brigadoon," the musical comedy hit, was "Ringadoon," which derives from the French. When the author and composer decided on an all-Scottish background it was given its present title. There actually is a place in Scotland called Brig o' Doon . . When Jimmy Stewart and Kent Smith act together for the first time in pictures in the forthcoming "Magic Town," they will be resuming a professional acquaintance begun years ago at the Cape Playhouse, Dennis, Mass., where they both began their stage careers.

Hedy Lamarr and Mark Stevens are all set for a new screen romance buildup, which may explain the "real life" romance started by the studio's press department. . . . Dame May Whitty, mother of Margaret Webster, has just signed to do a new picture for Metro, on her 82d birthday. . . . Addie Williams, subscription manager for the Theatre Guild, celebrated her 26th year in that job September 1. She was once a Ziegfeld show girl. . . Burt Lancaster, the new film "menace," was known as Burton Lancaster when he appeared on Broadway in "The Sound of Hunting." . . . . His performance in that opus was picked by George Jean Nathan as the season's best in the latter's "Theatre Year Book" for 1945-46. . . . Alastair Sims, the British comedian recently seen hereabout in "Green for Danger," was for 10 years with the Jessie Matthews and other movies shown at the Apollo Theatre.

Jane Russell, they tell us, quite frequently teaches a Sunday school class in a small Hollywod church. . . . Mayla, the "Chinese discovery" who will be seen in Columbia's Dick Powell film, "To the Ends of the Earth," is a native of Detroit. . . .

Both Myrna Loy and Adrian, the dress designer, were discoveries of Natacha Rambova, second wife of Rudolph Valentino, when she was directing films in Hollywood. . . . London, Ont., where Guy Lombardo first saw the light of day, was also the birthplace of Christy Matthewson, Lou Dockstetter, Marion Davies and Sir Adam Beck, the engineer who harnessed Niagara Falls. . . . Visitors to Mexico City who park their cars in the wrong spots don't lose their driver's license; they lose their license plates. Traffic cops walk around town equipped with screwdrivers, just for this purpose.

The Empire State Building's "planned public relations" department states that the corporation has turned down the proposal for a giant cigaret sign on that building and turns down a similar advertising proposal every year. "We have declined to bring Elsie the Cow's calf to the tower and also Gene Autry's horse," they added. . . According to a note from Brooks McCormack, American singer now in Italy, the long-vacated and much coveted post of musical director for the La Scala Opera in Milan has gone to Mario Labroca, former director of the Florence Music Festival. . . . If you're nostalgic for Paris and can't get there by boat or plane, try tuning in on Carl Tucker's French Hour (WBNX, Sunday through Friday) at 10:30 p. m., which brings you some authentic bit from Montmartre, the Opera, etc. Jo Delinois is the director. . . . If you're nostalgic for Stage Magazine—and most of us are—you'll be seeing it again on the stands come November, according to present plans.

Burt Lancaster, the new film "menace," was known as Burton Lancaster when he appeared on Broadway in "The Sound of Hunting." . . . . His performance in that opus was picked by George Jean Nathan as the season's best in the latter's "Theatre Year Book" for 1945-46. . . . Alastair Sims, the British comedian recently seen hereabout in "Green for Danger," was for 10 years with the Jessie Matthews and other movies shown at the Apollo Theatre.

Jane Russell, they tell us, quite frequently teaches a Sunday school class in a small Hollywod church. . . . Mayla, the "Chinese discovery" who will be seen in Columbia's Dick Powell film, "To the Ends of the Earth," is a native of Detroit. . . .

Both Myrna Loy and Adrian, the dress designer, were discoveries of Natacha Rambova, second wife of Rudolph Valentino, when she was directing films in Hollywood. . . . London, Ont., where Guy Lombardo first saw the light of day, was also the birthplace of Christy Matthewson, Lou Dockstetter, Marion Davies and Sir Adam Beck, the engineer who harnessed Niagara Falls. . . . Visitors to Mexico City who park their cars in the wrong spots don't lose their driver's license; they lose their license plates. Traffic cops walk around town equipped with screwdrivers, just for this purpose.

The Empire State Building's "planned public relations" department states that the corporation has turned down the proposal for a giant cigaret sign on that building and turns down a similar advertising proposal every year. "We have declined to bring Elsie the Cow's calf to the tower and also Gene Autry's horse," they added. . . According to a note from Brooks McCormack, American singer now in Italy, the long-vacated and much coveted post of musical director for the La Scala Opera in Milan has gone to Mario Labroca, former director of the Florence Music Festival. . . . If you're nostalgic for Paris and can't get there by boat or plane, try tuning in on Carl Tucker's French Hour (WBNX, Sunday through Friday) at 10:30 p. m., which brings you some authentic bit from Montmartre, the Opera, etc. Jo Delinois is the director. . . . If you're nostalgic for the Stage Magazine—and most of us are—you'll be seeing it again on the stands come November, according to present plans.

Artist In Germany Deeds Property To Sister Here

A deed was filed in the office of the clerk of court yesterday conveying the Anthony Zihlman property on Piedmont Avenue to Alfred M. Pitts and Charlotte V. Pitts, this city, from Gertrude Dubrau Kogler, Mrs. Pitts' sister. The deed was signed in Germany by Mrs. Kogler, who now resides in Frankfurt. This is the second time this same property was transferred in 15 years, and both times it was necessary to send deeds out of the country to have them signed.

Mrs. Kogler and her husband, W. Alexander Kogler, now deceased, obtained the property in 1932 on a deed which required signatures on accompanying papers in three countries—Canada, Panama and the United States.

The 1932 deed transferred ownership to the Kogler's from David R. Stribling, Waco, Texas, trustee; Roderick and Matilda McCulloch, Baltimore; Mary James and William James, her husband, Panama Canal Zone; Sarah and Alfred Powis, Quebec, Canada. It had originally belonged to Mary G. McCulloch, who died on June 24, 1930, leaving the property to her heirs, listed above.

E. F. Ohlson, a Canal Zone notary public, and Eric C. Wendelin, American vice consul to Montreal in 1932, signed the 1932 deed records. The new deed, which Mrs. Kogler signed in Frankfurt, Germany, carried the signature of Herman E. Zoebisch, American consulate general in Frankfurt, and the vice consul there, Erich W. A. Hoffman.

Mrs. Kogler, who was married in this country and returned to Germany, is remembered here as an accomplished artist. She did the paintings that decorate the walls in the Court House and those in the Masonic Temple.

Moose Tossers Take Opening Series Battle

Saum Issues 11 Walks As Legion Loses, 8-5

Taking advantage of the wildness of Albert "Bunny" Saum, who issued a total of eleven bases on balls, the Loyal Order of Moose defeated Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, in the opening game of their Rocking Chair Softball League playoff series yesterday at Community Park by the score of 8 to 6.

Frank Fogtman, Moose hurler, was wild in the first inning when the Legion scored three runs but he settled down thereafter and blanked the opposition in five of the remaining six frames.

Five of the runs registered by the winners were the result of bases on balls.

In addition to twirling a six-hit game, Fogtman rapped out two hits and batted in four runs. "Red" Boyer and Bob Chisholm shared four of the American Legion's six bingles.

The second game of the best-of-three series between the Moose and Legion is set for Friday at 6:15 at Community Park.

Other semi-finalists, the Knights of Columbus and B.P.O. Elks will clash today at 6:15 in the second game of their series. The Elks won the opener by the score of 2 to 1. Box:

Keyser High Plays Alumni Tomorrow

Emery, Shoemaker And Maine Injured

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 3.—When Keyser High School launches its 1947 campaign with a strong Alumni team on Friday at 5:15 p. m., the Golden Tornado will play without the services of three players who were slated to start the game. On the injured list are Tom Shoemaker, 170-pound veteran guard; Charles "Ace" Emery, 165 pound fullback, and Lloyd "Bud" Maine, 150 pound quarterback.

Shoemaker and Maine were hurt while scrimmaging on the Keyser High School "concrete stadium." Emery received his injury in a scrimmage with the Potomac State Reserves. Guard "Buck" Berg is still out of action on account of illness.

Emery, holdover of the 1946 team, received a shoulder separation. He played quarterback last year and was given honorable mention on the Potomac Valley All-Conference team. He is expected to return to the lineup in about three weeks.

Shoemaker suffered a double fracture of the ankle and will be lost for about six weeks. He just returned from the Navy and was an all-conference guard in 1945.

Maine, a returning letterman with three years' experience, suffered a possible broken collarbone. He is the team's No. 1 punter and passer and probably will be lost for three weeks.

Positions of the injured players are being filled by James "Hunk" Fazzalore, Bob "Fragile" Calhoun and Wayne "Sonny" Thrush. Harold Raines, playing tackle during the last three weeks of practice, has moved into the fullback slot while Emery is sidelined, and Thrush and Calhoun are taking over where Shoemaker and Maine left off. Fazzalore is playing tackle in Raines' place.

Collegians Gain Only 58 Yards In Contest

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—The New York Giants humiliated the Eastern College Football All-Stars 21 to 0 tonight in the Polo Grounds, as Army's Terrific Twins, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, made their final farewell as a gridiron one-two punch without causing any sparks to fly.

This was the ninth fine get-together of the Giants and the Eastern All-Stars—and one of the dullest. The Giants rarely opened up any of the stuff they'll be serving up in the forthing National Professional League thumping, and actually, rarely had to. It was that one-sided, as they chalked up 16 first downs to seven and 128 yards rushing to a skimpy 58.

As a result, the greatest throng ever to see this indian summer gridironing—a jam-packed throng of 52,102—turned out for the start of the festivities, but half of them had left by the time the Giants put over their final touchdown, in the closing period. This was down on some extra-special passing by Frank Reagan, Pennsylvania's one-time ball-carrying ace, and Jerry Blumenstock, who used to bust lines for Fordham, as the pros uncovered their fanciest stuff of the night.

Jaycees To Hold Soap Box Derby Next Summer

Members Discuss Youth, Traffic

Youth Welfare and the local traffic problem were chief topics of conversation at the monthly business meeting last night of the Junior Association of Commerce at Ali Ghan Country Club.

The Jaycees decided to sponsor a Soap Box Derby here next summer, and John Robb, president, instructed Harry Kauffman and his Youth Welfare Committee to proceed with plans. The Jaycees are also planning a broad program of youth activity and recreation here. Funds realized from the Baltimore Colts' football game here two weeks ago have been appropriated for Youth Welfare activity. A profit of $345.58 was reported on the game.

Favor Traffic Ordinance

Eugene Howell, member of the Jaycee Traffic Committee, who attended the meeting of a city group called by Acting Chief of Police Emmett Flynn yesterday, reported on the meeting. Jaycees went on record as favoring the adoption by the Mayor and Council of a model traffic ordinance submitted to them sometime ago. Robb said last night that members freely expressed the opinion that they are opposed to "piece meal" traffic solutions, and believe an over-all plan must be adopted, such as the model ordinance, before an adequate solution to present congestion and confusion can be reached. Robb said the Jaycees have several other suggestions which will be made to city officials at an early date.

Tommy Powers, who represented the Jaycees in the International League All-Star games at Baltimore, was a guest. He thanked the organization for making his participation possible, and told of some of his experiences while in Baltimore.

John Korba, Far Eastern representative of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, described conditions in China, Burma, India, Japan and discussed the Dutch-Indonesian situation. Korba, an authority on the Far East, gave a colorful and descriptive talk. He said he expects to return to the Far East soon.

A telegram was received from Miss Jean Dixon, representing the Jaycees as "Miss Maryland" at Atlantic City.

Committees Named

Miss Dixon expressed her gratitude to the local organization and co-operating business people who made her entry and wardrobe possible.

Robb named several members to state Jaycee committees as follows: Chauncey Sanner, chairman and Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., State Traffic and Safety; Dr. Leland Ransom, State Public Health; F. Allan Weatherholt, State Publicity; and James Wilkinson, State Sports.

A meeting of Maryland Jaycee officers and committeemen will be held in Hagerstown September 27-28, and Robb urged a large attendance.

Three new members were welcomed including Sgt. Franklin L. Jolley of the local Army recruiting service, Ray Pyle and Jay Pyle.

GLENN DAVIS CARRIED OFF FIELD WITH KNEE INJURY EARLY IN GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Glenn Davis' final farewell to football as a running mate to his old Army mate, Doc Blanchard, ended with an injury in 7 minutes 45 seconds tonight.

In the starting lineup of the Eastern College All-Stars with Blanchard, as the famed "Mr. Outside" and "Mr. Inside" combination, the California Comet suffered a recurrence of his old right knee injury in running back a kick against the New York professional Giants, and was carried off the field—through for the night.

He had not carried the ball from scrimmage in his 7 3-4 minute stay in the game, although he had run the opening kickoff back 25 yards from his own goal line.

Yankees Paddle Boston Hurlers For 34 Safeties

Capture Double Bill, Lead By 12 1-2 Games

BOSTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—The New York Yankees lowered the boom on Boston's last lingering pennant hopes today by paddling Red Sox pitching for a total of 34 hits in sweeping a doubleheader by scores of 11-2 and 9-6.

As a result of the day's action, the Yanks stretched their lead over the second place Sox to 12½ games with 22 to play, interrupting a seven-game Boston win streak in their final Fenway Park appearance of the year.

Bobo Newson coasted to his 10th victory in the opener as the New Yorkers assaulted Tex Hughson and three successors for 18 hits, all singles, including four each by Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich.

They came right back with 16 more hits in the second game off Lefty Edgar Smith, Bob Klinger, Harry Dorish and Bill Zuber to disappoint a near-capacity crowd of 32,723 fans. Score:

Service won a doubleheader from "B" Downtwist yesterday in one of the playoff series of the Celanese Softball League. The scores were 10-4 and 4-0. Tyree and Sherman were the winners.

The double setback eliminated "B" Downtwist from the playoffs.

The "A" Shift pinners claimed a double forfeit win over the "A" Shift Downtwist when the latter failed to field a full team for their playoffs games. The forfeits put "A" Twisters out of the playoffs.

Tribe Infielder Sued For $25,000

23-Year-Old Man Says Gordon Beat Him Up

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP) — Joe (Flash) Gordon, smooth second baseman and home run hitter for the Cleveland Indians, was sued for $25,000 today by a 23-year-old man who claimed he beat him up.

The man, Edward Gabrenya, Jr., gave few details in his Common Pleas Court petition, but his Attorney, A. J. Roth, said Gordon struck Gabrenya in the mouth at the end of a wild automobile chase.

Gabrenya was driving to a family reunion last Sunday night between 10:30 and 11 and passed a car driven by Gordon. Gordon then sped past Gabrenya, Roth said, in great anger and stayed with him until he stopped.

Flashing a badge of the Fraternal Order of Police, Gordon asked the man if he had a driver's license, Roth said. And Gabrenya in turn said Gordon had no right to question him.

With that, Roth went on, Gordon swung a hard right, knocking out one tooth, loosening two others and causing other injuries. The petition said the pain and the injuries—along with doctor bills—were worth $25,000.

With the score knotted at 5-5 when the Amvets came to bat in the final stanza, Summers doubled, moved to third on an infield out and registered the winning marker on Riehl's base knock.

Lou Riehl, incidentally, led the winners at the plate by belting two doubles and a single while Summers and Washabaugh collected a two-bagger and single each. Whitman, North End catcher, obtained a single and three doubles to account for half of the bingles credited to his team.

Sluggers Are Matched For Show At St. Mary's

8-Bout Amateur Card Set For September 16

Four boxers who engaged in two of the hardest fought matches staged here during the 1946-47 season will appear in the two top bouts when St. Mary's Athletic Club presents its first sanctioned amateur fistic show on Tuesday, September 16, it was announced last night by Matchmaker Albert "Bobby" Greene.

In one of the three-rounders Paul Lepley, Diamond A. C. lightweight, will throw leather at Howard Jenkins, of St. Mary's A. C., while in the other headline match Jack Klosterman, Diamond A. C. welterweight, will try conclusions with Roy Rawlings, of St. Mary's A. C.

Those who saw these boys slug it out toe to toe for three rounds last spring at the state armory know what to expect when they step through the ropes.

Matchmaker Greene has been in contact with several out-of-town clubs and hopes to bring in at least four boys for as many inter-city matches to round out the card.

"Bobby" expects to line up a card of eight three-round matches.

St. Mary's Athletic Club on the Oldtown Road, where the show will be staged, has a seating capacity of close to 500 persons.

Jack Rorick and Howard "Red" Bush will referee the bouts in St. Mary's opening show while the judges will be George "Buddy" Crass and Robert Thwaites. Rorick, Bush and Crass and Matchmaker Greene are all former well known local boxers. John "Bobby" Cavanaugh will be the official timer.

HUDSON SURPRISES, DECISIONS LAMOTTA

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—(AP)—Cecil Hudson, Milwaukee negro, scored a rousing upset decision over Jake Lamotta, New York's top-ranking middleweight, in a 10-round bout before 6,501 fans at a Damon Runyan Cancer Fund Show in Comiskey Park tonight. Hudson weighed 155, Lamotta 165.

It was the third fight in eight months for Lamotta, who showed only flashes of his old time form and was out-boxed from start to finish.

Despite his 10-pound pull in the weights, Lamotta staggered Hudson only twice and was badly tired at the finish. Referee Tommy Gilmore voted for Lamotta, 55 to 45, but the two judges gave the nod to Hudson.

Rookie Pitcher Faces Only 28, Beats Nats 3-0

Misses Perfect Game Through Wild Throw

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3. (AP)—Right-hander Bill McCahan, Philadelphia Athletics' rookie, today faced only 28 men—one more than absolutely necessary—to hurl a 3-0 no-hit, no-run triumph over the Washington Senators.

It was the third no-hitter in the majors this season, second in the American League—and the 131st similar hurling feat achieved since records were first compiled back in 1875.

The 25-year-old McCahan missed a perfect game by a mere flick of the wrist. Ferris Fain, the A's first baseman, threw wild in covering Stan Spence's deep grounder in the second inning. The fleet Washington outfielder reached second but he never got any further.

McCahan, who came up to the A's last season after a good season with Toronto of the International League where he won 11 and lost seven, was never in serious trouble—but a few times he had to thank the slick fielding of his teammates for beautiful saves.

Breaks Losing Streak

"I knew they hadn't gotten a hit," Bill said in the dressing room after the game, "but I wasn't bearing down just for the no-hitter. I wanted to win. Our club's lost seven in a row and all I wanted to do was bust that streak."

Bill's best pitch is a fast ball. When he delivers it completely overarm it breaks in and down to a right hand batter but seems to sail away from a left handed swinger.

"It seemed that every pitch I made did just what I wanted it," McCahan said.

Don Black of the Cleveland Indians tossed the other American League no-hitter this year on July 10—coincidentally against the Athletics. In the National Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds held the Boston Braves hitless on June 18.

But McCahan's performance was far superior. He didn't walk a man—though Black and Blackwell both did. He struck out two, cutting down Pinch Hitter Cecil Travis in the ninth for the last out of the game.

Though Bill's fast ball kept him out of trouble virtually all the way, it took several sparkling fielding gems to save the no-hitter.

In the first, Pete Suder made a lightning grab and throw to nip speedy Buddy Lewis at first. Sam Chapman snared several long flies deep in center field but it was up to Elmer Valo to make the catch of the day.

Valo Makes Great Catch

Mickey Vernon slammed a ball almost to the right center field wall in the seventh but Valo—just back in action after being beaned by a pitched ball—hauled it down as it seemed ready to smash into the scoreboard.

A native Philadelphian, McCahan is the first A's pitcher to hurl a no-hitter since Dick Fowler turned the trick at Shibe Park on Sept. 9, 1945 against the St. Louis Browns.

By a strange coincidence, Catcher Buddy Rosar, who handled McCahan perfectly today, was behind the plate when Fowler hung up his pitching gem. Washington's Catcher Frank Mancuso also caught Frank Miller, the St. Louis pitcher defeated by Fowler.

It was the first time in 30 years, too, that a Washington team was a victim of a no-hit game. Ernie Shore of the Boston Red Sox recorded the triumph in 1917. Box:

Bill McCahan Of A's Hurls No-Run, No-Hit Game

Saum Issues 11 Walks As Legion Loses, 8-5

Taking advantage of the wildness of Albert "Bunny" Saum, who issued a total of eleven bases on balls, the Loyal Order of Moose defeated Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, in the opening game of their Rocking Chair Softball League playoff series yesterday at Community Park by the score of 8 to 6.

Frank Fogtman, Moose hurler, was wild in the first inning when the Legion scored three runs but he settled down thereafter and blanked the opposition in five of the remaining six frames.

Five of the runs registered by the winners were the result of bases on balls.

The outstanding fielding play was provided by Russ Minnicks, Moose first sacker, who snared a line drive off the bat of Jim Rice.

In addition to twirling a six-hit game, Fogtman rapped out two hits and batted in four runs. "Red" Boyer and Bob Chisholm shared four of the American Legion's six bingles.

The second game of the best-of-three series between the Moose and Legion is set for Friday at 6:15 at Community Park.

Other semi-finalists, the Knights of Columbus and B.P.O. Elks will clash today at 6:15 in the second game of their series. The Elks won the opener by the score of 2 to 1. Box:

Keyser High Plays Alumni Tomorrow

Emery, Shoemaker And Maine Injured

KEYSER, W. Va., Sept. 3.—When Keyser High School launches its 1947 campaign with a strong Alumni team on Friday at 5:15 p. m., the Golden Tornado will play without the services of three players who were slated to start the game. On the injured list are Tom Shoemaker, 170-pound veteran guard; Charles "Ace" Emery, 165 pound fullback, and Lloyd "Bud" Maine, 150 pound quarterback.

Shoemaker and Maine were hurt while scrimmaging on the Keyser High School "concrete stadium." Emery received his injury in a scrimmage with the Potomac State Reserves. Guard "Buck" Berg is still out of action on account of illness.

Emery, holdover of the 1946 team, received a shoulder separation. He played quarterback last year and was given honorable mention on the Potomac Valley All-Conference team. He is expected to return to the lineup in about three weeks.

Shoemaker suffered a double fracture of the ankle and will be lost for about six weeks. He just returned from the Navy and was an all-conference guard in 1945.

Maine, a returning letterman with three years' experience, suffered a possible broken collarbone. He is the team's No. 1 punter and passer and probably will be lost for three weeks.

Positions of the injured players are being filled by James "Hunk" Fazzalore, Bob "Fragile" Calhoun and Wayne "Sonny" Thrush. Harold Raines, playing tackle during the last three weeks of practice, has moved into the fullback slot while Emery is sidelined, and Thrush and Calhoun are taking over where Shoemaker and Maine left off. Fazzalore is playing tackle in Raines' place.

Collegians Gain Only 58 Yards In Contest

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Sept. 3—(AP)—The New York Giants humiliated the Eastern College Football All-Stars 21 to 0 tonight in the Polo Grounds, as Army's Terrific Twins, Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, made their final farewell as a gridiron one-two punch without causing any sparks to fly.

This was the ninth fina' get-together of the Giants and the Eastern All-Stars—and one of the dullest. The Giants rarely opened up any of the stuff they'll be serving up in the forthing National Professional League thumping, and actually, rarely had to. It was that one-sided, as they chalked up 16 first downs to seven and 128 yards rushing to a skimpy 58.

As a result, the greatest throng ever to see this indian summer gridironing—a jam-packed throng of 52,102—turned out for the start of the festivities, but half of them had left by the time the Giants put over their final touchdown, in the closing period. This was down on some extra-special passing by Frank Reagan, Pennsylvania's one-time ball-carrying ace, and Jerry Blumenstock, who used to bust lines for Fordham, as the pros uncovered their fanciest stuff of the night.

Jaycees To Hold Soap Box Derby Next Summer

Members Discuss Youth, Traffic

Youth Welfare and the local traffic problem were chief topics of conversation at the monthly business meeting last night of the Junior Association of Commerce at Ali Ghan Country Club.

The Jaycees decided to sponsor a Soap Box Derby here next summer, and John Robb, president, instructed Harry Kauffman and his Youth Welfare Committee to proceed with plans. The Jaycees are also planning a broad program of youth activity and recreation here. Funds realized from the Baltimore Colts' football game here two weeks ago have been appropriated for Youth Welfare activity. A profit of $345.58 was reported on the game.

Favor Traffic Ordinance

Eugene Howell, member of the Jaycee Traffic Committee, who attended the meeting of a city group called by Acting Chief of Police Emmett Flynn yesterday, reported on the meeting. Jaycees went on record as favoring the adoption by the Mayor and Council of a model traffic ordinance submitted to them sometime ago. Robb said last night that members freely expressed the opinion that they are opposed to "piece meal" traffic solutions, and believe an over-all plan must be adopted, such as the model ordinance, before an adequate solution to present congestion and confusion can be reached. Robb said the Jaycees have several other suggestions which will be made to city officials at an early date.

Tommy Powers, who represented the Jaycees in the International League All-Star games at Baltimore, was a guest. He thanked the organization for making his participation possible, and told of some of his experiences while in Baltimore.

John Korba, Far Eastern representative of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, described conditions in China, Burma, India, Japan and discussed the Dutch-Indonesian situation. Korba, an authority on the Far East, gave a colorful and descriptive talk. He said he expects to return to the Far East soon.

A telegram was received from Miss Jean Dixon, representing the Jaycees as "Miss Maryland" at Atlantic City.

Committees Named

Miss Dixon expressed her gratitude to the local organization and co-operating business people who made her entry and wardrobe possible.

Robb named several members to state Jaycee committees as follows: Chauncey Sanner, chairman and Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., State Traffic and Safety; Dr. Leland Ransom, State Public Health; F. Allan Weatherholt, State Publicity; and James Wilkinson, State Sports.

A meeting of Maryland Jaycee officers and committeemen will be held in Hagerstown September 27-28, and Robb urged a large attendance.

Three new members were welcomed including Sgt. Franklin L. Jolley of the local Army recruiting service, Ray Pyle and Jay Pyle.

TRI-TOWNS BOWLERS WILL MEET TONIGHT

WESTERNPORT, Sept. 3 — A special meeting of the Tri-Towns Bowling League will be held at Burns' Tavern, Main Street, Westernport, Thursday at 8 p. m.

An invitation is extended to anyone interested in sponsoring a team for the coming season.

GLENN DAVIS CARRIED OFF FIELD WITH KNEE INJURY EARLY IN GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. (AP)—Glenn Davis' final farewell to football as a running mate to his old Army mate, Doc Blanchard, ended with an injury in 7 minutes 45 seconds tonight.

In the starting lineup of the Eastern College All-Stars with Blanchard, as the famed "Mr. Outside" and "Mr. Inside" combination, the California Comet suffered a recurrence of his old right knee injury in running back a kick against the New York professional Giants, and was carried off the field — through for the night.

He had not carried the ball from scrimmage in his 7 3-4 minute stay in the game, although he had run the opening kickoff back 25 yards from his own goal line.

Yankees Paddle Boston Hurlers For 34 Safeties

Capture Double Bill, Lead By 12 1-2 Games

BOSTON, Sept. 3—(AP)—The New York Yankees lowered the boom on Boston's last lingering pennant hopes today by paddling Red Sox pitching for a total of 34 hits in sweeping a doubleheader by scores of 11-2 and 9-6.

As a result of the day's action, the Yanks stretched their lead over the second place Sox to 12½ games with 22 to play, interrupting a seven-game Boston win streak in their final Fenway Park appearance of the year.

Bobo Newson coasted to his 10th victory in the opener as the New Yorkers assaulted Tex Hughson and three successors for 18 hits, all singles, including four each by Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich.

Tribe Infielder Sued For $25,000

23-Year-Old Man Says Gordon Beat Him Up

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3 (AP) — Joe (Flash) Gordon, smooth second baseman and home run hitter for the Cleveland Indians, was sued for $25,000 today by a 23-year-old man who claimed he beat him up.

The man, Edward Gabrenya, Jr., gave few details in his Common Pleas Court petition, but his Attorney, A. J. Roth, said Gordon struck Gabrenya in the mouth at the end of a wild automobile chase.

Gabrenya was driving to a family reunion last Sunday night between 10:30 and 11 and passed a car driven by Gordon. Gordon then sped past Gabrenya, Roth said, in great anger and stayed with him until he stopped.

Flashing a badge of the Fraternal Order of Police, Gordon asked the man if he had a driver's license, Roth said. And Gabrenya in turn said Gordon had no right to question him.

With that, Roth went on, Gordon swung a hard right, knocking out one tooth, loosening two others and causing other injuries. The petition said the pain and the injuries—along with doctor bills—were worth $25,000.

Amvets Clinch 2nd Half Title In City League

Open Series Monday With Lacy Tossers

Manager Frank Riehl's Amvets clinched the second half championship of the City Softball League yesterday when his brother Lou banged out a timely single in the last of the 7th to score "Doc" Summers with the run that defeated the North End Social and Athletic Club at Campobello by the score of 6 to 5.

With the score knotted at 5-5 when the Amvets came to bat in the final stanza, Summers doubled, moved to third on an infield out and registered the winning marker on Riehl's base knock.

Lou Riehl, incidentally, led the winners at the plate by belting two doubles and a single while Summers and Washabaugh collected a two-bagger and single each. Whitman, North End catcher, obtained a single and three doubles to account for half of the bingles credited to his team.

Open Series Monday

By sewing up second half honors yesterday, the Amvets earned the right to play Lacy's Delicatets, first half champions, in a best-of-five-games series, commencing next Monday at 5:45 p. m. at Stitcher Field. Umpires for the series will be Grimes at the plate and Charley True and "Buck" Frantz on the bases with Kreitzburg as alternate.

Sluggers Are Matched For Show At St. Mary's

8-Bout Amateur Card Set For September 16

Four boxers who engaged in two of the hardest fought matches staged here during the 1946-47 season will appear in the two top bouts when St. Mary's Athletic Club presents its first sanctioned amateur fistic show on Tuesday, September 16, it was announced last night by Matchmaker Albert "Bobby" Greene.

In one of the three-rounders Paul Lepley, Diamond A. C. lightweight, will throw leather at Howard Jenkins, of St. Mary's A. C., while in the other headline match Jack Klosterman, Diamond A. C. welterweight, will try conclusions with Roy Rawlings, of St. Mary's A. C.

Those who saw these boys slug it out toe to toe for three rounds last spring at the state armory know what to expect when they step through the ropes.

Matchmaker Greene has been in contact with several out-of-town clubs and hopes to bring in at least four boys for as many inter-city matches to round out the card.

"Bobby" expects to line up a card of eight three-round matches.

St. Mary's Athletic Club on the Oldtown Road, where the show will be staged, has a seating capacity of close to 500 persons.

Jack Rorick and Howard "Red" Bush will referee the bouts in St. Mary's opening show while the judges will be George "Buddy" Crass and Robert Thwaites. Rorick, Bush and Crass and Matchmaker Greene are all former well known local boxers. John "Bobby" Cavanaugh will be the official timer.

Ridgeley Legion Evens Up Series

Will Play Short Gap In Final Game Today

Ridgeley's American Legion team defeated Short Gap yesterday on the Ridgeley High School field by the score of 4 to 2 to square up the championship series in the Frankfort District Softball League at one-all.

Bob Thompson, Jim Phillips and Bob Stangle accounted for seven of the Legion's nine hits. Stangle had a double, triple and home run. Carder had a no-hit game within his grasp until the 6th inning when Short Gap tagged him for three hits and two runs.

The third and deciding game of the series will be played today at Ridgeley at 5:45 p. m.

A meeting of the league will be held tonight at the Legion home to make plans for the league dinner and presentation of the trophies which were donated by C. E. Eisentrout and Ralph Frantz. Score:

SHORT GAP	2 4 4

HUDSON SURPRISES, DECISIONS LAMOTTA

CHICAGO, Sept. 3—(AP)—Cecil Hudson, Milwaukee negro, scored a rousing upset decision over Jake Lamotta, New York's top-ranking middleweight, in a 10-round bout before 6,501 fans at a Damon Runyan Cancer Fund Show in Comiskey Park tonight. Hudson weighed 155, Lamotta 165.

It was the third fight in eight months for Lamotta, who showed only flashes of his old time form and was out-boxed from start to finish.

Despite his 10-pound pull in the weights, Lamotta staggered Hudson only twice and was badly tired at the finish. Referee Tommy Gilmore voted for Lamotta, 55 to 45, but the two judges gave the nod to Hudson.

Catcher Throws Potato, Nabs Runner At Plate

SANFORD, N. C., Sept. 3—(AP)—The Sanford Spinners, pennant winners in the Tobacco State Class B League, were playing an exhibition game last night against an all-star semi-pro club and led 7 to 0.

The semi-pros had a man on third—and this gave Sanford catcher Bruce Hedrick a sly idea. He threw wildly over the third baseman's head and the runner trotted towards home—where Hedrick was waiting for him with the ball.

Instead of the ball, Hedrick had thrown an irish potato over third base. But the semi-pros and the crowd couldn't see the joke. The semi-pros walked off the field, the fans grumbled and the management refunded admission money.

Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie Posts 88 To Capture CCC Flag Tournament

Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie posted an 88 to win the flag tournament staged yesterday by the Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club.

The putting contest also was won by Mrs. Bowie who had 13 putts for the nine holes.

The 88 will be Mrs. Bowie's qualifying score in the women's fall golf tournament.

Announcement was made yesterday that approximately 60 men players will represent the Cumberland Country Club in its "rubber" match with the Fountain Head Country Club of Hagerstown at the Bedford Springs (Pa.) Golf Course Sunday. Local players desiring to participate are urged to contact the club so the team can be organized.

Rookie Pitcher Faces Only 28, Beats Nats 3-0

Misses Perfect Game Through Wild Throw

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3. (AP)—Right-hander Bill McCahan, Philadelphia Athletics' rookie, today faced only 28 men—one more than absolutely necessary—to hurl a 3-0 no-hit, no-run triumph over the Washington Senators.

It was the third no-hitter in the majors this season, second in the American League—and the 131st similar hurling feat achieved since records were first compiled back in 1875.

The 25-year-old McCahan missed a perfect game by a mere flick of the wrist. Ferris Fain, the A's first baseman, threw wild in covering Stan Spence's deep grounder in the second inning. The fleet Washington outfielder reached second but he never got any further.

McCahan, who came up to the A's last season after a good season with Toronto of the International League where he won 11 and lost seven, was never in serious trouble—but a few times he had to thank the slick fielding of his teammates for beautiful saves.

Breaks Losing Streak

"I knew they hadn't gotten a hit," Bill said in the dressing room after the game, "but I wasn't bearing down just for the no-hitter. I wanted to win. Our club's lost seven in a row and all I wanted to do was bust that streak."

Bill's best pitch is a fast ball. When he delivers it completely overarm it breaks in and down to a right hand batter but seems to sail away from a left handed swinger.

"It seemed that every pitch I made did just what I wanted it," McCahan said.

Don Black of the Cleveland Indians tossed the other American League no-hitter this year on July 10—coincidentally against the Athletics. In the National Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds held the Boston Braves hitless on June 18.

But McCahan's performance was far superior. He didn't walk a man—though Black and Blackwell both did. He struck out two, cutting down Pinch Hitter Cecil Travis in the ninth for the last out of the game.

Feller's 1947 Salary Exceeds Ruth's $80,000

Veeck Presents Bob With $40,000 Bonus

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3—(AP)—Bob Feller's 1947 salary "already has exceeded" the highest figure ever paid to a major league baseball player — Babe Ruth's $80,000 stipend — reported Cleveland Indians President Bill Veeck today as he gave a fat $40,000 bonus check to his ace pitcher.

Bill Veeck

"Not only has Feller already passed Babe Ruth's salary, but his final wages for the year will exceed the $80,000 figure by a comfortable margin," said the Tribe prexy, adding that today's payment was "not a final 1947 bonus" for Rapid Robert.

Asked how it felt to pay such a sheaf of greenbacks to one ball player, Bill chuckled: "I'm happy—and I know Bob's happy.

"Bob isn't having a good 'Feller year' this season, but for any other pitcher in the league it would be considered outstanding," Veeck continued. "He has won more ball games (17) than anyone else in the league and is the best bet in the circuit to hit the 20-victory mark. That is fine pitching in anybody's league, in my opinion."

Veeck said $75,000 was an "accurate estimate" of Feller's earnings with the Indians last season, but declined to say how many dollars above $80,000 represented his version of a "comfortable margin" for 1947.

Majors Recall Trio

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 3—(AP)—The front office of the Memphis Chicks said today that Ted Kluszewski, Frank Hoerst and Homer Spragins had been recalled to their major league clubs and will report next Monday following the close of Southern Association play.

Kluszewski, the husky first-baseman who is leading the league at bat with a .382 average, will return to the Cincinnati Reds while the others will rejoin the Philadelphia club when it moves into St. Louis for the Cardinal series.

WINS SWIM—Breaking the mark set by her aunt in 1934, Bernice Looney of Waren, Ohio, won the $5,000 five-mile Canadian national exhibition swimming championship at Toronto, Ontario, in record time of two hours, 27.7 minutes.

Five-Hit Club

NEW YORK—(AP)—Through the first 400 American League games this season only three players made five hits in one game. John Pesky of the Red Sox made five singles in eight trips, Billy Johnson of the Yankees had five for five against the White Sox while Boston's Ted Williams blasted two homers and three singles in a July game against the Browns.

Three Survive Play In County Tennis Tourney

Maurice Bernstein Scores Over Sapp

Maurice Bernstein yesterday on the Garlitz courts eliminated John "Boots" Sapp from the men's singles of the County tennis tournament, 6-1, 6-4.

Three players remain in the running for the County championship, Bernstein, Lua Syckes and Lawrence Middlecamp.

Friday evening at 5:30, at the Dingle Syckes and Bernstein will meet, the winner playing Middlecamp Sunday in the finals for the championship.

The match Friday evening will be an interesting one with each player trying to win as Bernstein this year beat Syckes in the finals of the Dingle tournament, and lost to him in the recent finals of the City tournament.

In the women's division yesterday evening at the Dingle Miss Margaret Ann Rupenthal defeated Miss Joan Rilling, 6-3, 7-5.

Today at the Dingle Mrs. Ralph Higgins will play Mrs. Lua Syckes.

Allegany Beagle Club Will Meet On Friday

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday, September 5, at 8 p. m. at the Woodmen of the World Home, 144 Union street.

President Hugh Stevenson of Ellerslie, who will preside, requests that as many members as possible attend this meeting since it will usher in the fall season which is the climax of beagling activities.

The club has planned for at least three more field trials during the autumn, including its second annual AKC sanctioned trial to be held on October 18 and 19, and final arrangements for these trials will be made at Friday's meeting. Also, the club's building program, which includes the erection of a club house and dog kennels, will be discussed and progress reported, and other routine business matters will be transacted.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Ben Raimondi, Indiana passing star now with the New York football Yankees of the All-America Conference, lived on the same Brooklyn street as Sid Luckman, Columbia and Chicago Bear great, went to the same high school, received instruction from Luckman in the art of passing, and tried to enroll at Columbia—but all the while Raimondi idolized Ace Parker, whose No. 88 he'll be wearing with the grid Yanks this fall.

MISHAP MADE HIM

NEW YORK — (AP) — Jack Kelly, new halfback signed by the New York football Yankees, mistook a stick of dynamite for a large firecracker at a fireworks display when he was a youngster and almost had both legs blown off when he set it off. After skillful surgery, Kelly was advised to run as much as possible. He became an athlete because of his accident.

MISHAP MADE HIM

NEW YORK — (AP) — Jack Kelly, new halfback signed by the New York football Yankees, mistook a stick of dynamite for a large firecracker at a fireworks display when he was a youngster and almost had both legs blown off when he set it off. After skillful surgery, Kelly was advised to run as much as possible. He became an athlete because of his accident.

School Cafeteria Lunches Increased 10 Per Cent

Rising Food Costs Necessitate Increase

The cost of Allegany County School cafeteria lunches will be increased 10 per cent this year, William P. Cooper, director, announced yesterday along with a statement that three new cafeterias are expected to be placed in operation during the month.

The hike in lunch prices, which will place the cost at $1 a week per student, is made necessary by the increasing cost of food, according to Cooper, who explained that the state appropriation has been reduced 20 to 25 per cent over that of previous years.

Wages have also been advanced for cafeteria workers, the director said, and will amount to the highest paid in the state. However, he explained, there will be no state sales tax charged, since the enterprise is a non profiting program.

The three new cafeterias will be at Detmold School, Columbia Street and Jackson School. If necessary arrangements can be made, Cooper said, the program will be extended to include Bruce High, Westernport; Mt. Savage and Barrelville. If this program is completed all of the major schools in the county will be receiving benefits of the hot lunch program.

Last year 1,891,000 lunches were served, and the number is expected to go over 2,000,000 during the present school year, Cooper said. From 16 to 18 per cent of last year's lunches were served free, and Cooper explained it is the policy to see that no child goes hungry where there is a cafeteria. He declared that all but about 500 of the public school children will be attending schools where the hot lunch program is functioning.

All of the cooks have undergone physical examinations and the cafeterias will be inspected on a regular basis, Cooper stated. Last year each of the cafeterias in the city were awarded the Health Department's Grade A rating for sanitary conditions.

Five new dish washers have been ordered and three have been installed at East Side, Barton and Beall Elementary Schools. Installation is planned soon at Cresaptown and Central High. Efforts will be made to secure the equipment for all schools serving 100 or more pupils, Cooper said.

Police Investigate Alleged Robbery

Police last night were still investigating the reported beating and robbery of Charles Reynolds, 27, 211 Fairfax Street, who said two men took $40 from him in a gravel pit near Mt. Savage yesterday morning.

Reynolds said he met a stranger in the City Cafe, North Centre Street, about midnight and they decided to drive to a tavern in Mt. Savage and the latter rode in the rear seat of the car.

According to Reynolds, they had "several drinks" at Castle Gardens, near Mt. Savage and then drove to an old gravel pit where he was attacked.

John L. Wolfe, 733 Hill Top Drive, notified police that vandals stole sections of a fence and destroyed flowers in front of his home during the night. Investigating officers found the fence in brush near the home.

Mrs. Boyd Payton, Lynchburg, Va., reported to police that she lost a pocketbook containing $30 while shopping in McCrory's Store, Baltimore Street, Tuesday.

Frank Patitucci, 65 North Centre Street, told police a radio was taken from his car Monday night between 9 p. m. and midnight while it was parked on Frederick Street.

Construction Company Sued For $1,500

A suit by titling for $1,500 damages was entered in Circuit Court records yesterday by Jesse H. Weaver against the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company.

Clarence Shutter, who represents Weaver declared the case results from damage done Weaver's auto June 14, last, two miles from Hyndman, Pa., when he struck a stretch of road which was under construction.

Weaver contends, his attorney said, that the construction work was done by the Hazelwood Company, and that the road should have been kept clear and warning posted. Weaver said he was driving at about 30 miles per hour when he hit a muddy spot and his car careened into an embankment.

Two divorce suits were filed yesterday. Betty Jane Ziler docketed suit against Paul Edward Ziler; and Mildred I. Barwald filed a bill of complaint against Lawrence O. Barwald.

Viaduct Conference Date Is Scheduled

Next Tuesday, September 9, has been selected as the date for a conference of city officials with the State Roads Commission regarding funds for the proposed crosstown traffic viaduct, Mayor Thomas S. Post was informed yesterday.

Gustav J. Requardt, senior partner of the firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineering consultants to the city, said the meeting will be held at 2 p. m. that day in Baltimore with Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission.

The mayor will be accompanied by City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer and James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Victims Of Accident Remain In Hospital

Two Florida persons injured in an accident near Hyndman, Pa., Tuesday, which resulted in an Ort Brothers Bakery Company driver being fined $27.50, remained in Washington County Hospital last night.

Attaches said John W. Freeman was in "fair" condition and his wife's condition was described as "good." The driver of the bakery truck, Clarence Edward Taylor, Cook's Mill, escaped injury, investigating authorities said.

Child Badly Burned

Admitted to Allegany Hospital suffering from first and second degree burns, Janet Dyer, 486 Baltimore Avenue, remained a patient there last night. Attaches said the child's right arm, right side, back and chest were burned. The accident resulted from a mishap at home, attaches said they were told.

Terminal Move Cited

Moving of the present bus terminal at Frederick Street to the Southern Hotel, which will give buses adequate entrance and exit space, was cited as a future aid to traffic on Mechanic and Frederick Streets. Lilya said as many as 225 buses have stopped at the present location within a 24-hour period.

Street Commissioner Myers G. Light, representing the city at the meeting, said the only solution of congestion on Liberty Street, an outlet for the city Fire Department, is elimination of parking and having one-way traffic.

Committee Appointed

The problem of traffic snarls at the four-way intersection in front of Central YMCA is due for study under the program, as are traffic problems on Baltimore, Centre, Liberty and Mechanic Streets.

Frederic W. Eiler, Chamber of Commerce; Howell of the Jaycees; Amtower of the Optimist Club; Lynn Walker, Western Maryland Safety Council; Sgt. R. R. Johnston, Police Department; and Lilya. Chief Flynn will also serve with the group.

Alcoholics

Alcoholics Anonymous stresses one point and that is to make the alcoholic realize he is a sick individual. His friends and relatives must be made to understand that he is desperately ill and that he is not a moral coward or weakling.

The organization has but one purpose or objective, "to help other alcoholics to recover from their illness."

Those who join the organization are asked only to have a sincere and honest desire to get well and stop drinking. There are no membership fees, dues or requirements, nor is belief in any particular point of view, medical or religious demanded. AA takes no position on any controversial question. They are not evangelists or reformers and have no connection with any temperance groups as such.

Being alcoholics who have themselves recovered, members aim to help only those who want to get well. They do this because they have found that working with other alcoholics plays a vital part in keeping themselves sober.

There is a clannishness about members of the AA. Most groups meet once a week, have social affairs, recreational activities and "talking" sessions. At some of these meetings, they exchange experiences, and soon learn they have much in common. One local man, who has been a member for several months said, "I heard about AA and went to a city where there was a group. A fellow there was telling some of his experiences about drinking and things he did when he was drinking. He could have been talking about me. The symptoms and reactions were exactly like mine, and looking at him, I realized that if he could stay sober, I could."

Members Assist Each Other

Members help each other. When necessary they make volunteer contributions to help get a fellow-victim on his feet. Doctors have stated that members have been known to sit all night with an alcoholic, giving him regular prescribed doses of whisky, helping a doctor get the victim back on his feet, and never once taking a drink themselves.

Others tell how they have been called out of bed late at night by a fellow member, who is going through a "drying out" period, and wants and thinks he needs a drink. The member called goes immediately to his friend's home, and together "they sweat it out."

Have 12 Basic Steps

The mere fact that there is someone at hand who has gone through the same experience . . . who understands and genuinely sympathizes . . . who knows what to do and say without fussing about it, has much to do with keeping the sufferer sober. Each struggle he wins in this manner, is a personal victory and a step toward permanent cure, members say.

But AA members declare there is no fixed pattern. They believe, and sincerely so, that there are 12 steps in their program of recovery. Boiled down, these steps embrace these principles: (a) Admission of alcoholism. (b) Personality analysis and catharsis. (c) Adjustment of personal relations. (d) Dependence upon some Higher Power. (e) Working with other alcoholics.

Adherence to these principles is not a condition of AA membership. Any alcoholic who admits he has a problem is an AA member regardless of how much he disagrees with the program. Based upon experience, the entire program is suggestive only.

Learn Self-Discipline

The alcoholic, objecting at first to the spiritual factor is merely urged to keep an open mind; meanwhile treating his own AA group as "A Power Greater Than Himself." Under these conditions, the newcomer commences to undergo a personality change at such a rate that he often cannot account for it on the basis of self-realization and self-discipline.

The entire idea started about 15 years ago by two alcoholics who found they could help each other is a co-operative venture. All cases requiring physical treatment are referred to physicians. Members frequently work with physicians and psychiatrists in helping some victim of alcoholism.

In one city, a well known jurist has frequently paroled chronic alcoholics or drunken drivers to AA members and cures have been affected.

Throughout the country, Medical Societies have studies the situation and nationally prominent physicians speaking before state medical societies have declared that AA has a better record than science or religion in helping alcoholics.

Principles Respected

Newspapers and magazines have investigated their methods, and convinced of the work they are doing have respected their principles and permitted the AA members to remain anonymous. There are many prominent people, among them lawyers, doctors, teachers, engineers, newspapermen, druggists, clerks, mechanics and others, who are loyal AA members. Their friends do not know unless the member himself choses to admit it. Many of them do, for in doing so they help spread a co-operative idea which has helped them and which they believe will help others.

The meeting at the City Hall next Thursday is open to those genuinely interested, and sponsors declare they do not want the idea spread that they are members of temperance groups, or that they are prohibitionists. They have no objection to social drinking, so far as other people are concerned. They realize that they are themselves alcoholics, and that they must refrain from "taking the first drink." One AA member said last night, "we alcoholics know that it is the first drink that starts us off, not the last. So now we just stay away from the first one."

School Cafeteria Lunches Increased 10 Per Cent

Rising Food Costs Necessitate Increase

The cost of Allegany County School cafeteria lunches will be increased 10 per cent this year, William P. Cooper, director, announced yesterday along with a statement that three new cafeterias are expected to be placed in operation during the month.

The hike in lunch prices, which will place the cost at $1 a week per student, is made necessary by the increasing cost of food, according to Cooper, who explained that the state appropriation has been reduced 20 to 25 per cent over that of previous years.

Wages have also been advanced for cafeteria workers, the director said, and will amount to the highest paid in the state. However, he explained, there will be no state sales tax charged, since the enterprise is a non profiting program.

The three new cafeterias will be at Detmold School, Columbia Street and Jackson School. If necessary arrangements can be made, Cooper said, the program will be extended to include Bruce High, Westernport; Mt. Savage and Barrelville. If this program is completed all of the major schools in the county will be receiving benefits of the hot lunch program.

Last year 1,891,000 lunches were served, and the number is expected to go over 2,000,000 during the present school year, Cooper said. From 16 to 18 per cent of last year's lunches were served free, and Cooper explained it is the policy to see that no child goes hungry where there is a cafeteria. He declared that all but about 500 of the public school children will be attending schools where the hot lunch program is functioning.

All of the cooks have undergone physical examinations and the cafeterias will be inspected on a regular basis, Cooper stated. Last year each of the cafeterias in the city were awarded the Health Department's Grade A rating for sanitary conditions.

Five new dish washers have been ordered and three have been installed at East Side, Barton and Beall Elementary Schools. Installation is planned soon at Cresaptown and Central High. Efforts will be made to secure the equipment for all schools serving 100 or more pupils, Cooper said.

Police Investigate Alleged Robbery

Police last night were still investigating the reported beating and robbery of Charles Reynolds, 27, 211 Fairfax Street, who said two men took $40 from him in a gravel pit near Mt. Savage yesterday morning.

Reynolds said he met a stranger in the City Cafe, North Centre Street, about midnight and they decided to drive to a tavern in Mt. Savage and the latter rode in the rear seat of the car.

According to Reynolds, they had "several drinks" at Castle Gardens, near Mt. Savage and then drove to an old gravel pit where he was attacked.

John L. Wolfe, 733 Hill Top Drive, notified police that vandals stole sections of a fence and destroyed flowers in front of his home during the night. Investigating officers found the fence in brush near the home.

Mrs. Boyd Payton, Lynchburg, Va., reported to police that she lost a pocketbook containing $30 while shopping in McCrory's Store, Baltimore Street, Tuesday.

Construction Company Sued For $1,500

A suit by titling for $1,500 damages was entered in Circuit Court records yesterday by Jesse H. Weaver against the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company.

Clarence Shutter, who represents Weaver declared the case results from damage done Weaver's auto June 14, last, two miles from Hyndman, Pa., when he struck a stretch of road which was under construction.

Weaver contends, his attorney said, that the construction work was done by the Hazelwood Company, and that the road should have been kept clear and warning posted. Weaver said he was driving at about 30 miles per hour when he hit a muddy spot and his car careened into an embankment.

Two divorce suits were filed yesterday. Betty Jane Ziler docketed suit against Paul Edward Ziler; and Mildred I. Barwald filed a bill of complaint against Lawrence O. Barwald.

Viaduct Conference Date Is Scheduled

Next Tuesday, September 9, has been selected as the date for a conference of city officials with the State Roads Commission regarding funds for the proposed crosstown traffic viaduct, Mayor Thomas S. Post was informed yesterday.

Gustav J. Requardt, senior partner of the firm of Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineering consultants to the city, said the meeting will be held at 2 p. m. that day in Baltimore with Robert M. Reindollar, chairman of the State Roads Commission.

The mayor will be accompanied by City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer and James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

Victims Of Accident Remain In Hospital

Two Florida persons injured in an accident near Hyndman, Pa., Tuesday, which resulted in an Ort Brothers Bakery Company driver being fined $27.50, remained in Washington County Hospital last night.

Attaches said John W. Freeman was in "fair" condition and his wife's condition was described as "good." The driver of the bakery truck, Clarence Edward Taylor, Cook's Mill, escaped injury, investigating authorities said.

Child Badly Burned

Admitted to Allegany Hospital suffering from first and second degree burns, Janet Dyer, 486 Baltimore Avenue, remained a patient there last night. Attaches said the child's right arm, right side, back and chest were burned. The accident resulted from a mishap at home, attaches said they were told.

Terminal Move Cited

Moving of the present bus terminal at Frederick Street to the Southern Hotel, which will give buses adequate entrance and exit space, was cited as a future aid to traffic on Mechanic and Frederick Streets. Lilya said as many as 225 buses have stopped at the present location within a 24-hour period.

Street Commissioner Myers G. Light, representing the city at the meeting, said the only solution of congestion on Liberty Street, an outlet for the city Fire Department, is elimination of parking and having one-way traffic.

Committee Appointed

Carl Amtower, representing the Optimist Club, said a bus stop and parking meter at the top of the hill on Virginia Avenue off Laing Avenue often cause blocking of both sides of the street.

The problem of traffic snarls at the four-way intersection in front of Central YMCA is due for study under the program, as are traffic problems on Baltimore, Centre, Liberty and Mechanic Streets.

A committee was appointed by Chief Flynn to study the traffic problems. Members include:

Frederic W. Eiler, Chamber of Commerce; Howell of the Jaycees; Amtower of the Optimist Club; Lynn Walker, Western Maryland Safety Council; Sgt. R. R. Johnston, Police Department; and Lilya, Chief Flynn will also serve with the group.

as more or less pronounced neurotics.

Alcoholics Anonymous stresses one point and that is to make the alcoholic realize he is a sick individual. His friends and relatives must be made to understand that he is desperately ill and that he is not a moral coward or weakling.

The organization has but one purpose or objective, "to help other alcoholics to recover from their illness."

Those who join the organization are asked only to have a sincere and honest desire to get well and stop drinking. There are no membership fees, dues or requirements, nor is belief in any particular point of view, medical or religious demanded. AA takes no position on any controversial question. They are not evangelists or reformers and have no connection with any temperance groups as such.

Being alcoholics who have themselves recovered, members aim to help only those who want to get well. They do this because they have found that working with other alcoholics plays a vital part in keeping themselves sober.

There is a clannishness about members of the AA. Most groups meet once a week, have social affairs, recreational activities and "talking" sessions. At some of these meetings, they exchange experiences, and soon learn they have much in common. One local man, who has been a member for several months said, "I heard about AA and went to a city where there was a group. A fellow there was telling some of his experiences about drinking and things he did when he was drinking. He could have been talking about me. The symptoms and reactions were exactly like mine, and looking at him, I realized that if he could stay sober, I could."

Members Assist Each Other

Members help each other. When necessary they make volunteer contributions to help get a fellow-victim on his feet. Doctors have stated that members have been known to sit all night with an alcoholic, giving him regular prescribed doses of whisky, helping a doctor get the victim back on his feet, and never once taking a drink themselves.

Others tell how they have been called out of bed late at night by a fellow member, who is going through a "drying out" period, and wants and thinks he needs a drink. The member called goes immediately to his friend's home, and together "they sweat it out."

Have 12 Basic Steps

The mere fact that there is someone at hand who has gone through the same experience . . . who understands and genuinely sympathizes . . . who knows what to do and say without fussing about it, has much to do with keeping the sufferer sober. Each struggle he wins in this manner, is a personal victory and a step toward permanent cure, members say.

But AA members declare there is no fixed pattern. They believe, and sincerely so, that there are 12 steps in their program of recovery. Boiled down, these steps embrace these principles: (a) Admission of alcoholism. (b) Personality analysis and catharsis. (c) Adjustment of personal relations. (d) Dependence upon some Higher Power. (e) Working with other alcoholics.

Adherence to these principles is not a condition of AA membership. Any alcoholic who admits he has a problem is an AA member regardless of how much he disagrees with the program. Based upon experience, the entire program is suggestive only.

Learn Self-Discipline

The alcoholic, objecting at first to the spiritual factor is merely urged to keep an open mind; meanwhile treating his own AA group as "A Power Greater Than Himself." Under these conditions, the newcomer commences to undergo a personality change at such a rate that he often cannot account for it on the basis of self-realization and self-discipline.

The entire idea started about 15 years ago by two alcoholics who found they could help each other is a co-operative venture. All cases requiring physical treatment are referred to physicians. Members frequently work with physicians and psychiatrists in helping some victim of alcoholism.

In one city, a well known jurist has frequently paroled chronic alcoholics or drunken drivers to AA members and cures have been affected.

Throughout the country, Medical Societies have studies the situation and nationally prominent physicians speaking before state medical societies have declared that AA has a better record than science or religion in helping alcoholics.

Principles Respected

Newspapers and magazines have investigated their methods, and convinced of the work they are doing have respected their principles and permitted the AA members to remain anonymous. There are many prominent people, among them lawyers, doctors, teachers, engineers, newspapermen, druggists, clerks, mechanics and others, who are loyal AA members. Their friends do not know unless the member himself choses to admit it. Many of them do, for in doing so they help spread a co-operative idea which has helped them and which they believe will help others.

The meeting at the City Hall next Thursday is open to those genuinely interested, and sponsors declare they do not want the idea spread that they are members of temperance groups, or that they are prohibitionists. They have no objection to social drinking, so far as other people are concerned. They realize that they are themselves alcoholics, and that they must refrain from "taking the first drink." One AA member said last night, "we alcoholics know that it is the first drink that starts us off, not the last. So now we just stay away from the first one."

RITES FOR MAN WHO DIED IN JAIL PLANNED

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. for Oden Largent, 50, a local paperhanger, who died suddenly at 6 a. m. yesterday in City Jail where he was being held "for safe keeping," after being "picked up" by a city officer Tuesday night.

Dr. H. V. Deming deputy county medical examiner, said death occurred from natural causes, and explained an autopsy was not deemed necessary.

Largent was taken into custody at 10:55 p. m. in South Cumberland and committed to Cell No. 1 after he reportedly refused to go to a hospital. While making his rounds yesterday morning Officer C. D. Manges noticed the man slump against the wall and summoned officials.

Surviving are a son, Francis Donald Largent; a sister, Mrs. C. E. Metz, and a brother, Clyde E. Largent, all of this city, and four grandchildren. He was a native of Paw Paw, W. Va.

Rev. George E. Baughman will officiate at the service in Hafer Funeral Home and interment will be in German Beneficial Cemetery.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 3—Anyone who saw Robert Morley in "Marie Antoinette" won't forget him. He played Louis XVI, and did an outstanding job as the very fat, unhappy consort of the more unhappy Marie Antoinette (Norma Shearer).

Spencer Tracy

Well, he's a great success in "Edward, My Son" on the London stage, a play he co-authored with Noel Langley, and now he is bringing the play to New York.

But what interests me the most is that MGM finally was able to buy Marley's play for Spencer Tracy. Louis B. Mayer read it and was crazy about it, but many other film companies had the same idea. There's talk that Katherine Hepburn may be co-starred with Spence. At least, Edward Knapf, the producer, is strongly considering Katie as the wife.

How would you like to see Clifton Webb as a baby sitter? The bare idea alone is hilariously funny. Well, it's the main comedy situation in "Sitting Pretty," a movie that gets going at 20th Century-Fox next month with Clifton, John Payne, and Maureen O'Hara.

Certainly a laughable situation, and how Clifton will play it! Walter Lang, whose "Mother Wore Tights" has cleaned up wherever it has shown, is the director, with Sam Engel slated as producer.

Pat Dane is determined to have a movie career—so determined that, you may remember, she went to Mexico to see about making a picture when she was supposed to be at Reno getting a divorce from Tommy Dorsey.

Well, now she's landed a part at Monogram. She was signed just a day or so ago for "Palooka Named Joe." Pat was under contract at MGM when she married Dorsey and gave up her career. Now she's given up Dorsey, and she wants that career back.

A tragic story that touched my heart, concerns a man named Steve Cochran. Not Steve Cochran, the actor, but an old-time theatrical man who was manager of the National Theater in Washington for 40-odd years.

Steve had entree to the White House. He played host to presidents, from Wilson to Roosevelt, and people in show business knew and loved him. After he lost out at the National, he came to Hollywood to get a job. The man who had offered it to him was out of town. Steve got another job. Then he was struck down by a streetcar and terribly injured, including broken legs and arms, crushed pelvis, and internal injuries.

His daughter died about this time, and now he is in the Los Angeles County Hospital and badly in need of help. People he helped might like to know of his plight.

Gene Tierney talked to a friend of mine the other day in New York and said if she didn't get an assignment, she would stay there for her sister's wedding and be her matron of honor.

Well, I understand that both Linda Darnell and Gene will be in "The Walls of Jericho." After Gene turned down a couple of things, there was a long silence from her studio, and now she's ready to return to work.

Boy Scout William Tracy chalked up his good deed for the day unexpectedly when he landed a part for his sister-in-law, Claire James, in Leo McCarey's "Good Sam."

It all happened when Bill was talking to Leo about a part for himself. Leo mentioned he was looking for an actress who was enceinte to play a certain part. Knowing that Claire was blessed-eventing, Bill immediately suggested her, and she was signed the next day. Ironically, he still hasn't heard about his own part.

I hadn't had a chance to talk to Adela Rogers St. Johns in weeks. She's been so busy covering the Louise Overell-Bud Gollum murder trial, and doing a swell job, I might add.

Adela tells me that Douglas McLean, who used to write many of his own movies, is dramatizing her short story, "Never Again," for the stage. That was one of Adela's best short stories, and it was reprinted only recently in Cosmopolitan Magazine. It's the story of a girl who wakes up and finds herself in jail, after running down a man while she was intoxicated.

Al Levy is marrying Ruth Sitar, New York Copacabana dancer in two weeks. They may make it a triple wedding with Patty Andrews and Marty Melcher, and Laverne Andrews and Lou Rogers.

Olivia De Havilland and her husband Marcus Goodrich, Ketti and Kurt Frings, and the Lewis Milestones plan to go to Europe together this fall.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Robert E. Kintner, executive vice-president of the American Broadcasting Company, is a former Washington correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune. Later he wrote a syndicated column with Joseph Alsop. He served in the Army from 1941 to 1944 and was discharged as a lieutenant colonel. Here he speaks of radio and its critics, both amateur and professional . . . John Crosby.

By ROBERT E. KINTNER

A Broadcaster Looks At A Critic

When a radio man dislikes a program, he tells two or three close associates who, after being sworn to secrecy, promise to do better next time. But when Mr. Crosby and his colleagues in the critic's circle (all of whom were, of course, weaned on wormwood and gall) find a program they do not enjoy, their habit—in fact, their duty—is to tell it to everybody they can lay their typewriters on. They are people who, up to the day they read such an unpleasant comment, have found sublime pleasure and satisfaction in that program. The resulting confusion creates the peptic ulcers which have come to be a sort of red badge of courage among radio people. As a remedy, some people recommend the abolition of either the critics or the radio.

I would retain them both. Although we in the broadcasting business can generally profit by the comments of trained critics, it seems to me that their greatest contribution is to set sharper critical standards for their readers—and our listeners. One of the recurring disappointments to network administrators is the fact that most listeners are inarticulate critics. To describe a program as "trash" or "baloney" guides no one. That is like telling a helmsman that he is steering the wrong course in a storm: it leaves him the small comfort of choosing among all the other 359 degrees of his compass.

The essence of good criticism, whether published or personal, lies first in the habit of viewing an object against a scale of acquired values; second, in expressing intelligibly (but not necessarily in matchless prose style) one's considered evaluation. The first of these involves wide experience; the second requires hard and reflective work.

We must leave each listener to seek his own experience through listening with some frequency and alertness. But contrast the usual expressions, "trash" and the others, with the discriminating language selected by the professional critic. There was this about a radio play, "Its theatrical craftsmanship is definitely mature." There were such words as "leisurely," "soundly constructed," "unobtrusive." Concerning a piece about current history, such metaphors as "In the light of subsequent experience they have an acrid taste, these mouthfuls of quick-frozen history, an entirely different flavor from the original."

All of the above examples are selected from the past columns of my host, Mr. Crosby. This is not to say that the thoughtful critic may not be difficult at times. My host, referring to an A.B.C. star, once wrote, "He engages in a running repartee with his announcer which might charitably be described as unnecessary."

But on another occasion he observed that, "A story you hear has a different effect from one you read. It has a close-grained texture, a suspense unobtainable in print. Listening, you hear many small inflections you miss in print."

If the listener genuinely hopes to mold the future shape of radio broadcasting to his own taste, he must take care to labor at least as deligently in expressing himself as professional critics and broadcasters do in presenting our respective efforts. But, being human, we broadcasters are inclined to hold in low regard the arrogance or impudence of hate-mail which disregards the principles of good manners and fair criticism. To such correspondents, and to most others—the tongue-tied, the uncritical, the repressed, the irritated, and even the well satisfied listeners—I commend my host's work and that of similarly incisive critics. They can be of measurable aid in spreading the art of criticism which, in its more enlightened forms, can carry radio broadcasting to higher and higher batting averages.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 — (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover was quoted today by the American Magazine as saying the United States never would have been attacked by Japan at Pearl Harbor, periciptating the nation's entry into World War Two, "if we had not given them provacation."

Sidney Shalett, writing in the September issue, said "Hoover still does not believe it was necessary for thes United States to enter the war."

Lightning Hits Here

A severe flash of lightning during an electrical storm Monday night struck a record player at the home of Harry Maravelis, 1513 Frederick Street, about 8:30 o'clock, and jumped from the record player, located in the dining room, to an electric clock in the kitchen, burning out the clock and exploding all the light bulbs.

Aircrafts And Specialties Exhibit Quiet Strength In Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Quiet strength was exhibited by aircrafts and special stocks today although many market leaders reverted to the losing division.

It was a slow-going performance from the start. The ticker tape frequently halted but sizable blocks of low-quoted issues aided volume. While gains of fractions to a point or more were plentiful at the close, declines of as much remained. Transfers of 650,000 shares equalled those of Tuesday.

Nickel Plate common added 2⅜ at 36⅛ and the preferred 5½ at 123½, a high for the year. Up a point or so were Douglas Aircraft 20½, Ex-Cell-O Corporaaion 44½, United Paperboard 15½, Cuban-American Sugar 16½, Noblitt-Sparks 51¾, American Agricultural Chemical 50, South Porto Rico Sugar 45, Coca-Cola 185 and United States Gypsum 102½. Diamond T Motors was up three-fourths at 20 on the first extra since January, 1946.

Packard Motors was the day's liveliest mover on blocks running to 14,300 shares. It was unchanged at 4⅞. Du Pont yielded 2¼ at 190¼ and Bohn Aluminum two at 36. Lesser casualties were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Anaconda, Kennecott, International Harvester, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris and Texas Company.

Improved in the Curb were G. A. Fuller, Logansport Distilling, St. Lawrence corporation, Consolidated Textile, Technicolor and South Penn Oil. Stumblers were Niagara Hudson Power, Cities Service, International Petroleum and West Virginia Coal. Turnover here was 160,000 versus 140,000 yesterday.

United States governments moved narrowly in the over-the-counter market, with the Victory Loan 2½s of '67-'72 down 1-32 of a point at 102 29-32 bid.

Aircrafts And Specialties Exhibit Quiet Strength In Stock Market

NEW YORK, Sept. 3 (AP)—Quiet strength was exhibited by aircrafts and special stocks today although many market leaders reverted to the losing division.

It was a slow-going performance from the start. The ticker tape frequently halted but sizable blocks of low-quoted issues aided volume. While gains of fractions to a point or more were plentiful at the close, declines of as much remained. Transfers of 650,000 shares equalled those of Tuesday.

Nickel Plate common added 2¾ at 36½ and the preferred 5½ at 123½, a high for the year. Up a point or so were Douglas Aircraft 20½, Ex-Cell-O Corporaaion 44½, United Paperboard 15½, Cuban-American Sugar 16½, Noblitt-Sparks 51¾, American Agricultural Chemical 50, South Porto Rico Sugar 45, Coca-Cola 185 and United States Gypsum 102½. Diamond T Motors was up three-fourths at 20 on the first extra since January, 1946.

Packard Motors was the day's liveliest mover on blocks running to 14,300 shares. It was unchanged at 4⅞. Du Pont yielded 2¼ at 190¼ and Bohn Aluminum two at 36. Lesser casualties were United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Anaconda, Kennecott, International Harvester, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris and Texas Company.

Improved in the Curb were G. A. Fuller, Logansport Distilling, St. Lawrence corporation, Consolidated Textile, Technicolor and South Penn Oil. Stumblers were Niagara Hudson Power, Cities Service, International Petroleum and West Virginia Coal. Turnover here was 160,000 versus 140,000 yesterday.

United States governments moved narrowly in the over-the-counter market, with the Victory Loan 2½s of '67-'72 down 1-32 of a point at 102 29-32 bid.

Sales of $3,044,000 compared with $3,231,000 Tuesday.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Charles William Wagoner vs. Ethel Josephine Wagoner, No. 20249 Equity.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the complainant from the defendant.

The Bill of Complaint states that the plaintiff and the defendant were married October 11, 1935 in Ridgeley, West Virginia, and thereafter the parties took up housekeeping together in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, where they resided together as husband and wife until on or about June 7, 1947; and that ever since the marriage of the plaintiff to the defendant, he has behaved himself as a kind, chaste and affectionate husband, and his entire conduct has always been above reproach; that on or about June 7, 1947, the defendant, without just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and that the parties are now living separate and apart; that prior to the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this case, the defendant has committed the crime of adultery, and that the plaintiff has not lived nor cohabited with the defendant since learning of her adulterous conduct nor has he in any manner or way condoned the same; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that the plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, Maryland, for more than one year before the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this case; and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and her whereabouts are unknown to the plaintiff and that she was last heard of as being in Washington, D. C.

It is thereupon Ordered this 20th day of August, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Maryland, once in each of four consecutive weeks before the 21st day of September, 1947, giving notice of the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint to the said non-resident defendant warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 7th day of October, 1947, to show cause if any she may have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Legislative Council Backs LaVale Water Measure

Sanitary District Act Unanimously Endorsed

Maryland's Legislative Council voted unanimously yesterday to endorse a bill at the special session of the Legislature setting up a sanitary district for LaVale in order to cope with an emergency water and sewage situation in the area.

Action of the Council, which will urge the bill's passage as an emergency measure, was taken after it met with a four-man committee representing the LaVale Civic Improvement Association yesterday in Baltimore.

Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), a member of the Council, said J. W. Schilpp, of the State Department of Health, also attended the meeting, termed the LaVale situation an emergency and declared that action must be taken for the immediate preservation of the health and safety of the people.

Ordered Before PSC

Kimble said he also talked yesterday with Commissioner Jones of the Public Service Commission and was informed that D. Clifford Goodfellow, president of the LaVale Water Company, has been ordered before the board "immediately" to show cause "why every drop of water available is not put into the pipeline."

The Commission is going to "force the issue," Kimble said he was told, adding that Jones also said the LaVale Water Company "must do the job right or quit."

Members of the LaVale committee established how critical the LaVale situation is, Kimble related, explaining that one spokesman said some homes in which there are children have at times been entirely without water with the result that it had to be carried by the gallon.

Another spokesman said that at times for as many as three days some homes did not have enough water to flush a toilet, Kimble reported.

The meeting yesterday was arranged after members of the LaVale water committee met with Sen. Kimble and members of the Allegany County delegation to the Legislature recently and agreed that creation of a sanitary district might solve the problem.

Modified After Bill

An act setting up a sanitary district has been prepared and is modeled after a bill introduced by the county delegation at the regular session of the Legislature which would have set up sanitary districts for the county, Kimble explained.

This act failed to pass the House at the 1947 session because of objection from some parts of the county. It was revised but did not get back to the floor. Kimble emphasized that only LaVale is concerned in the act now prepared.

The tentative bill calls for appointment of a three-man commission by the Board of County Commissioners, with the commission

Car Demolished, 2 Trucks Damaged Near Frostburg

Auto Driver Escapes With Cuts Of Face

The driver of a completely demolished automobile escaped with multiple lacerations of the face and no one else was injured when the car and two trucks were involved in an accident that blocked one lane of Route 40 on the eastern slope of Big Savage Mountain a mile west of Frostburg at 12:30 p. m. yesterday.

State Trooper William F. Baker, who investigated, filed a charge of reckless driving against Lloyd Franklin Davis, 21, Mt. Savage driver of the car, but said no charges were entered against the truck drivers, Ivan W. Raymond, Chalkhill, Pa., near Uniontown, operator of a Hagan Ice Cream Company truck, and Robert Saylor Resh, Grantsville, operator of a truck loaded with logs.

Davis, headed east, was attempting to pass the ice cream truck, bound in the same direction, but observed that he could not make it because of the oncoming log truck, police said.

They added that Davis tried to pull in back of the ice cream truck, was unable to do so and crashed against the left rear part of the vehicle.

The impact turned Davis's car sideways and he skidded sideways in the westbound lane for a distance of 25 feet before crashing against the westbound log truck, according to officers, who said Davis skidded 150 feet before hitting the ice cream truck.

Yesterday morning, William T. Shipper, 339 City View Terrace forfeited bond of $6.45 when he failed to appear before Magistrate Kenney on a charge of failing to stop after an accident.

Trooper Baker said Shipper sideswiped a car owned by Raymond Don Duckworth, Frostburg, in the Enoch Price parking lot, Frostburg, on August 14 and failed to stop.

Duckworth, who was arrested by Trooper Baker the following day on a charge of exceeding 50 miles an hour on Route 36 at Shaft, forfeited $16.45 bond yesterday in Magistrate Kenney's court.

At Western Maryland she received her Bachelor of Science Degree in home economics in May of this year. In recent weeks she has had additional training courses, preparatory to beginning her work with PE, at various company offices and at the General Electric Company's lighting research and training center, Nela Park, Cleveland, Ohio.

VA Service Officer Handles 521 Cases For Area Veterans

Thomas F. Conlon, service officer for the Veterans' Administration in Allegany and Garrett Counties, announced yesterday that 521 cases pertaining to veterans and their families had been handled by the area office during August.

Conlon stated that 204 ex-servicemen had applied to the office for guidance and consultation and that 117 men had filed insurance claims and applied for conversion of their G. I. insurance.

In handling 52 terminal leave bond issues, the service officer advised those who have not applied to make application and take advantage of the two and one half percent interest on the bonds.

He stated that 1,500,000 Army veterans of World War II have not applied for their leave bonds. Former members of the Navy who have not made applications number 500,000, Marines total 113,000, and Coast Guardsmen, who have not taken advantage of the bill, number 53,000.

Forty-three ex-G. I's were issued duplicate discharges and 39 requested power of attorney at the office. In the legal affairs 22 affidavits and notary services were given. Twenty-five adjustments, certificates and family contacts were made.

The office arranged for 30 veterans to receive hospital service and 15 body disposition cases were handled. Twelve persons received burial allowances and five death pensions for widows of veterans were secured.

Other services rendered included one court case, one review of dishonorable discharge, one vocational and rehabilitation case handled, five disability pensions for ex-servicemen, and one pension for a parent of a veteran.

Alcoholics Anonymous To Form Organization Here On Sept. 11

A group of local men and women will meet Sept. 11 at 8 o'clock in the City Hall auditorium to discuss plans for the organization of a Cumberland group of Alcoholics Anonymous. There are several persons here who have been affiliated with units in Hagerstown, Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, and Uniontown, Pa., and these will take the lead in setting up a local body.

Encouraged by the cooperation of several leading medical men and religious leaders here, the local AA members believe they can spread their ideas and principles best, and better aid each other, with a local organization. Several of the members have been traveling each week to a neighboring city to attend meetings.

Alcoholics Anonymous is an informal fellowship of about 41,000 former alcoholic men and women who are to be found banded together in about 1,200 groups in the United States and Canada. Oldest members of the AA have been sober 10 to 12 years. Of those willing to stop drinking, about 50 per cent have done so at once, 25 per cent after a few relapses, and most of the remainder have improved.

Nation's No. 4 Disease

Prominent medical men agree that alcoholism is a disease, and the United States Public Health Service recognizes alcoholism as the No. 4 health problem of the nation.

According to the Yale Research Clinic, there are 750,000 men and women acutely ill with alcoholism in the country today. Two million more are drifting into the pattern, which, when once formed, results in an incurable disease, the clinic says.

Members of AA contend that half their number, had they not been drinkers, would have appeared in ordinary life to be normal people. The other half would have appeared

Miss Jean Dixon Appears In Second Unit At Pageant

Will Enter Talent Competition Tonight

Divided into three groups of 18 girls each 54 entries in the Miss America Beauty Pageant began competition in the huge Convention Hall last night before a crowd estimated at over 15,000 persons.

Miss Carolyn Jean Dixon, Cumberland's entry as "Miss Maryland", appeared in the second group and was judged with 17 other girls in bathing suits. The first group of 18 portrayed various talents and the third group appeared in evening gowns.

Tonight the same 18 girls in Miss Dixon's unit will appear in talent, while No. 1 group will appear in evening gowns, and No. 3 unit in bathing suits. On Friday night, Miss Dixon will be with her same group in evening gown competition, while No. 1 unit will be in bathing suits with No. 3 unit in talent.

This method provides a complete show each night and is designed to give a more balanced oportunity for the judges to consider each girl.

Jean "Looked Swell"

Jack Moore, local Jaycee representative with Miss Dixon said last night that "Jean really looked swell, and was flashing her contagious smile right at the judges." When Moore called at 11 p. m. the show was still in progress and he had no record of scoring, but said it was rumored that Miss Alabama and Miss New York City had tied for top place in bathing suit competition. Only bathing suit scoring and talent scoring are to be announced before Saturday night, he explained.

On Saturday night, the judges will select 15 finalists from the 54 entries, from 39 states, 14 cities and Canada. From these 15 finalists, they will then vote on five top winners including Miss America of 1947.

Describing the stage setting, Moore said "the stage here is large enough to accomodate a building almost as big as Fort Hill High School. When the curtain went up, all 54 girls were on the stage in evening gowns. They stood before a blue back drop on a white setting, very brightly illuminated.

Then the whole stage moved forward to the footlights, and Ted Malone, master of ceremonies introduced each girl as she walked out on to a grass covered runway which extends 150 feet out into the audience.

Then the competition began with talent first, bathing suits second and evening gowns third.

Is Enjoying Experiences

Moore said Miss Dixon has been beseiged with visitors and telephone calls and greetings from all parts of Maryland, wishing her "good luck." He stated several hundred Marylanders came to the Mayflower Hotel yesterday, mostly from Baltimore, and asked to meet Miss Dixon, or left messages for her. Charles Soebel, of Baltimore, one of the judges of the state contest here sent her an exquisite evening gown, Moore said, and she also received a compact, cigaret lighter and $10 from Professor Quiz, in a preliminary appearance for his Saturday night radio show, featuring 20 of the contestants.

Guests of honor introduced from the stage last night included Miss Brazil and Miss Philippine Islands, both "honorary" entries, not eligible for competition. Moore said they received rousing ovations from the huge audience and "it looked like the good neighbor policy is working all right."

Jean spent most of yesterday afternoon at rehearsals, and much of the morning posing for newspaper and publicity pictures. Moore said she is well and doing fine. "When you watch her from the stage," he said, "you just can't help but feel that she is having more fun than anybody. She isn't nervous at all, and is really enjoying the experience. When she sings tonight, she should be in the scoring," he declared.

In the talent competition, Miss Miami Beach was declared the winner. She interpreted a series of Hawaiian dances in native costume.

In the evening gown competition, which scoring is not announced, Miss Tennessee and Miss West Virginia received rousing applause from the audience as they walked along the run-way.

Miss Canada, Miss Philadelphia, Miss Arizona, Miss Utah, the Tennessee Twins, Miss California, Miss Atlanta, Miss Arkansas, Miss Alabama, Miss New York City, Miss Idaho, Miss Chicago, Miss Ohio, and Miss Indiana.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 3 —(AP)—Miss Alabama and Miss New York City tied for first place tonight in the first of three preliminary contests leading to the title of "Miss America, 1947."

Chosen from a group judged in bathing suits, Miss Alabama, who is Miss Peggy June Elder of Gadsden, and Miss New York City, who is Miss Raven Malone of the Bronx, took the judges' eyes.

Miss Alabama is 18, weighs 120 pounds, has chestnut hair, and is five feet five and one-half inches tall. Her bust measures 34 inches.

School Classes Will Open Today For 1947-48 Term

54 New Teachers Are Appointed

Student bodies expected to approach the 16,000 figure will report this morning for the first session of the 1947-48 term of Allegany County high and elementary schools, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent.

The appointment of 54 new teachers, 12 of whom were announced yesterday, staffs the various faculties to better advantage than at any time before the war, Kopp explained, adding that only two vacancies will exist when classes convene this morning.

Two Vacancies Exist

One of the vacancies, according to Kopp, is expected to be filled within a week, when a teacher will be secured for the Industrial Arts Department at Allegany High School, while the vacancy in the Vocational Agriculture Department of Oldtown is not expected to be filled this year.

Principals and teachers met yesterday to complete preparations for the reopening of schools, and Kopp in announcing the beginning of the term, said "it is important that all students attend school on the opening day. Regular attendance is one of the factors in accomplishment and a day missed is a day lost."

Kopp said he conferred with health authorities before reaching a final decision to reopen schools, and despite the number of polio and diphtheria cases reported recently, he was told the situation is not alarming.

Classes will be conducted during the morning today and Friday, but a full-day schedule will begin Monday.

Rose Contino, York, Pa., commercial at Allegany. She is a graduate of Shippensburg State Teachers' College, Shippensburg, Pa., and taught commercial at Glenn Rock (Pa.) High.

Natalie Jacobson, Verona, Pa., art at Allegany. She is a graduate of Edinboro State Teachers College, Edinboro, Pa., and earned her master's degree at Columbia University, New York. She has been teaching at Springdale (Pa.) High.

J. William Loar, president of the Farm Bureau and a committee member, announced last night that Miss Ruth Smith, selected as Miss Allegany Farmerette of 1947 at the Cumberland Fair, will pin the ribbons on the winning contestants.

That interest is keen is evidenced by the fact that 2,600 tickets already have been disposed of for the show which will take place on the race track in front of the grandstand.

Police Traffic Division Needed, Keegan States

Commissioner Asks Public Co-Operation In Program To Decrease Congestion

Stating that "we have got to have a traffic division within the Police Department," Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan yesterday urged Cumberland residents to co-operate with efforts to relieve traffic congestion in downtown Cumberland.

Keegan said that probably three men would be needed to work in such a division, explaining that at present the Police Department is forced to sandwich traffic work in with its regular police work.

Methods by which the public could co-operate in relieving congestion, Keegan said, would be to use parking lots such as those on Frederick and South Centre Streets for all-day parking, instead of taking up space which could be used by shoppers who need to park only for a short time.

Program Outlined

He said some persons park their machines near their places of business throughout the entire day, leaving less space for those who seek parking space for short periods.

Meanwhile, plans for a three-fold program to relieve congestion in the downtown district were being made following a meeting of 12 representatives of various organizations and governing bodies yesterday morning in the office of Acting Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

The suggested program includes stricter enforcement of traffic laws, abolishment of parking on streets where bottlenecks occur, and education of the public as to the benefits of a traffic program.

The group agreed that a traffic division of the Police Department is one of the principal needs. Such a division would have no other duties except the control and expediting of traffic in and through the city.

City Detective Edwin R. Lilya advanced the public education idea, stating "If we can get the cooperation of merchants and the public, I believe we can cut the traffic problem 50 per cent."

Lilya suggested that a period of education through the press and radio could be conducted prior to enforcement of the overall traffic program.

Eugene Howell, representing the Junior Association of Commerce, said the Jaycees have an active traffic committee which, in its studies, found that merchants on Baltimore Street would not be opposed to banning parking there.

He advocated changing Centre

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Warnick, also of Hampshire, stated that he left his home Sunday night at 9 o'clock. He was joined in the business section of Hampshire by Joseph Dougherty, Cross, and two friends who offered to take him home later in the evening. He declined their offer and chose to walk the short distance.

The accident occurred about 1 a. m. Monday after he had left his companions. Although he was conscious until the time he died he was unable to reveal how the accident happened.

Hospital attaches stated that Warnick suffered a fractured vertebrae of his neck and said he was paralyzed in his legs and fingers although he was able to move his arms. An autopsy was performed at the veterans' hospital yesterday morning.

A native of Barnum, W. Va., he served over three years in the Army with the Corps of Engineers and for the majority of his time in the service was stationed in the European Theater. He had been employed by the Masteller Coal Company since he was 16 years of age. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World.

Besides his parents and his brother, John, who resides at Beryl, W. Va., he is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Harry Bray, Barnum, W. Va.; Mrs. Rosa Virts, Hampshire, W. Va., and Mrs. Gertrude Newcomb, Burlington, W. Va.

According to reports last night, the West Virginia State Police and Mineral County authorities have not signified whether an investigation will be held.

A funeral service for Warnick will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. at the residence of his parents. Rev. Charles L. Davis, pastor of the Mill Run Methodist Church will officiate and interment will be in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

Mrs. Hitchcock Remains In Serious Condition

Glen Brant, 19, Local Athlete, Is Polio Victim

A resident physician at Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore, reported last night that Glen Randolph Brant, 19, well-known local athlete, who was admitted there yesterday after being stricken with infantile paralysis, is in satisfactory condition.

Brant, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brant, 18 Valley Street, was taken to Baltimore in the Maryland State Police ambulance by Trooper John F. Browning.

A former star athlete at Allegany High School, Brant had been camping on the South Branch with John Bachman, William Fuller and William Bartlett, with whom he had played football at Allegany. He complained of head and back aches on Sunday, and the pain grew steadily worse.

An employe of the Cumberland Steel Company, he is the sixth person in Allegany County and the eighth in the area to be stricken with the disease.

While at Allegany Brant was on the football and basketball squads for two seasons and was a candidate for the Knights of Columbus Sportsmanship Award in 1946, the year of his graduation.

The physician at Sydenham Hospital also reported that Jean Chappell, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chappell, Barton, another polio victim, will be transferred to Children's Hospital next week. She is reported in satisfactory condition. The doctor explained that polio patients are transferred after the two-week infectious stage has passed.

Hospital attaches said that Paul David Crawford, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crawford, of near Moscow, was able to return home early this week. He was found to have a non-paralytic type of the disease.

Legislative Council Backs LaVale Water Measure

Sanitary District Act Unanimously Endorsed

Maryland's Legislative Council voted unanimously yesterday to endorse a bill at the special session of the Legislature setting up a sanitary district for LaVale in order to cope with an emergency water and sewage situation in the area.

Action of the Council, which will urge the bill's passage as an emergency measure, was taken after it met with a four-man committee representing the LaVale Civic Improvement Association yesterday in Baltimore.

Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany), a member of the Council, said J. W. Schilpp, of the State Department of Health, also attended the meeting, termed the LaVale situation an emergency and declared that action must be taken for the immediate preservation of the health and safety of the people.

Ordered Before PSC

Kimble said he also talked yesterday with Commissioner Jones of the Public Service Commission and was informed that D. Clifford Goodfellow, president of the LaVale Water Company, has been ordered before the board "immediately" to show cause "why every drop of water available is not put into the pipeline."

The Commission is going to "force the issue," Kimble said he was told, adding that Jones also said the LaVale Water Company "must do the job right or quit."

Members of the LaVale committee established how critical the LaVale situation is, Kimble related, explaining that one spokesman said some homes in which there are children have at times been entirely without water with the result that it had to be carried by the gallon.

Another spokesman said that at times for as many as three days some homes did not have enough water to flush a toilet, Kimble reported.

The meeting yesterday was arranged after members of the LaVale water committee met with Sen. Kimble and members of the Allegany County delegation to the Legislature recently and agreed that creation of a sanitary district might solve the problem.

Modified After Bill

An act setting up a sanitary district has been prepared and is modeled after a bill introduced by the county delegation at the regular session of the Legislature which would have set up sanitary districts for the county, Kimble explained.

This act failed to pass the House at the 1947 session because of objection from some parts of the county. It was revised but did not get back to the floor. Kimble emphasized that only LaVale is concerned in the act now prepared.

The tentative bill calls for appointment of a three-man commission by the Board of County Commissioners, with the commission

Auto Driver Escapes With Cuts Of Face

The driver of a completely demolished automobile escaped with multiple lacerations of the face and no one else was injured when the car and two trucks were involved in an accident that blocked one lane of Route 40 on the eastern slope of Big Savage Mountain a mile west of Frostburg at 12:30 p. m. yesterday.

State Trooper William F. Baker, who investigated, filed a charge of reckless driving against Lloyd Franklin Davis, 21, Mt. Savage driver of the car, but said no charges were entered against the truck drivers, Ivan W. Raymond, Chalkhill, Pa., near Uniontown, operator of a Hagan Ice Cream Company truck, and Robert Saylor Resh, Grantsville, operator of a truck loaded with logs.

Davis, headed east, was attempting to pass the ice cream truck, bound in the same direction, but observed that he could not make it because of the oncoming log truck, police said.

They added that Davis tried to pull in back of the ice cream truck, was unable to do so and crashed against the left rear part of the vehicle.

The impact turned Davis's car sideways and he skidded sideways in the westbound lane for a distance of 25 feet before crashing against the westbound log truck, according to officers, who said Davis skidded 150 feet before hitting the ice cream truck.

A hearing on the reckless driving charge will be held September 8 before Magistrate James Kennedy at Frostburg.

Yesterday morning, William T. Shipper, 339 City View Terrace forfeited bond of $6.45 when he failed to appear before Magistrate Kenney on a charge of failing to stop after an accident.

Trooper Baker said Shipper sideswiped a car owned by Raymond Don Duckworth, Frostburg, in the Enoch Price parking lot, Frostburg, on August 14 and failed to stop.

Duckworth, who was arrested by Trooper Baker the following day on a charge of exceeding 50 miles an hour on Route 36 at Shaft, forfeited $16.45 bond yesterday in Magistrate Kenney's court.

At Western Maryland she received her Bachelor of Science Degree in home economics in May of this year. Miss Jean Dixon Appears In Second Unit At Pageant

Will Enter Talent Competition Tonight

Divided into three groups of 18 girls each 54 entries in the Miss America Beauty Pageant began competition in the huge Convention Hall last night before a crowd estimated at over 15,000 persons.

Miss Carolyn Jean Dixon, Cumberland's entry as "Miss Maryland", appeared in the second group and was judged with 17 other girls in bathing suits. The first group of 18 portrayed various talents and the third group appeared in evening gowns.

Tonight the same 18 girls in Miss Dixon's unit will appear in talent, while No. 1 group will appear in evening gowns, and No. 3 unit in bathing suits. On Friday night, Miss Dixon will be with her same group in evening gown competition, while No. 1 unit will be in bathing suits with No. 3 unit in talent.

This method provides a complete show each night and is designed to give a more balanced oportunity for the judges to consider each girl.

Jean "Looked Swell"

Jack Moore, local Jaycee representative with Miss Dixon said last night that "Jean really looked swell, and was flashing her contagious smile right at the judges." When Moore called at 11 p. m. the show was still in progress and he had no record of scoring, but said it was rumored that Miss Alabama and Miss New York City had tied for top place in bathing suit competition. Only bathing suit scoring and talent scoring are to be announced before Saturday night, he explained.

On Saturday night, the judges will select 15 finalists from the 54 entries, from 39 states, 14 cities and Canada. From these 15 finalists, they will then vote on five top winners including Miss America of 1947.

Describing the stage setting, Moore said "the stage here is large enough to accomodate a building almost as big as Fort Hill High School. When the curtain went up, all 54 girls were on the stage in evening gowns. They stood before a blue back drop on a white setting, very brightly illuminated.

Then the whole stage moved forward to the footlights, and Ted Malone, master of ceremonies introduced each girl as she walked out on to a grass covered runway which extends 150 feet out into the audience.

Then the competition began with talent first, bathing suits second and evening gowns third.

Is Enjoying Experiences

Moore said Miss Dixon has been beseiged with visitors and telephone calls and greetings from all parts of Maryland, wishing her "good luck." He stated several hundred Marylanders came to the Mayflower Hotel yesterday, mostly from Baltimore, and asked to meet Miss Dixon, or left messages for her. Charles Soebel, of Baltimore, one of the judges of the state contest here sent her an exquisite evening gown, Moore said, and she also received a compact, cigaret lighter and $10 from Professor Quiz, in a preliminary appearance for his Saturday night radio show, featuring 20 of the contestants.

Guests of honor introduced from the stage last night included Miss Brazil and Miss Philippine Islands, both "honorary" entries, not eligible for competition. Moore said they received rousing ovations from the huge audience and "it looked like the good neighbor policy is working all right."

Jean spent most of yesterday afternoon at rehearsals, and much of the morning posing for newspaper and publicity pictures. Moore said she is well and doing fine. "When you watch her from the stage," he said, "you just can't help but feel that she is having more fun than anybody. She isn't nervous at all, and is really enjoying the experience. When she sings tonight, she should be in the scoring," he declared.

In the evening gown competition, which scoring is not announced, Miss Tennessee and Miss West Virginia received rousing applause from the audience as they walked along the run-way.

Miss Canada, Miss Philadelphia, Miss Arizona, Miss Utah, the Tennessee Twins, Miss California, Miss Atlanta, Miss Arkansas, Miss Alabama, Miss New York City, Miss Idaho, Miss Chicago, Miss Ohio, and Miss Indiana.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 3 —(AP)—Miss Alabama and Miss New York City tied for first place tonight in the first of three preliminary contests leading to the title of "Miss America, 1947."

Chosen from a group judged in bathing suits, Miss Alabama, who is Miss Peggy June Elder of Gadsden, and Miss New York City, who is Miss Raven Malone of the Bronx, took the judges' eyes.

Miss Alabama is 18, weighs 120 pounds, has chestnut hair, and is five feet five and one-half inches tall. Her bust measures 34 inches.

Miss New York City is 19, brown-haired, five feet seven and one-half inches tall and weighs 123 pounds. Her bust measurement is 34 inches.

School Classes Will Open Today For 1947-48 Term

54 New Teachers Are Appointed

Student bodies expected to approach the 16,000 figure will report this morning for the first session of the 1947-48 term of Alleganv County high and elementary schools, according to Charles L. Kopp, superintendent.

The appointment of 54 new teachers, 12 of whom were announced yesterday, staffs the various faculties to better advantage than at any time before the war, Kopp explained, adding that only two vacancies will exist when classes convene this morning.

Two Vacancies Exist

One of the vacancies, according to Kopp, is expected to be filled within a week, when a teacher will be secured for the Industrial Arts Department at Allegany High School, while the vacancy in the Vocational Agriculture Department of Oldtown is not expected to be filled this year.

Principals and teachers met yesterday to complete preparations for the reopening of schools, and Kopp in announcing the beginning of the term, said "it is important that all students attend school on the opening day. Regular attendance is one of the factors in accomplishment and a day missed is a day lost."

Kopp said he conferred with health authorities before reaching a final decision to reopen schools, and despite the number of polio and diphtheria cases reported recently, he was told the situation is not alarming.

Classes will be conducted during the morning today and Friday, but a full-day schedule will begin Monday.

Rose Contino, York, Pa., commercial at Allegany. She is a graduate of Shippensburg State Teachers' College, Shippensburg, Pa., and taught commercial at Glenn Rock (Pa.) High.

Natalie Jacobson, Verona, Pa., art at Allegany. She is a graduate of Edinboro State Teachers College, Edinboro, Pa., and earned her master's degree at Columbia University, New York. She has been teaching at Springdale (Pa.) High.

James A. Hosack, Blairsville, Pa.,

J. William Loar, president of the Farm Bureau and a committee member, announced last night that Miss Ruth Smith, selected as Miss Allegany Farmerette of 1947 at the Cumberland Fair, will pin the ribbons on the winning contestants.

That interest is keen is evidenced by the fact that 2,600 tickets already have been disposed of for the show which will take place on the race track in front of the grandstand.

Police Traffic Division Needed, Keegan States

Commissioner Asks Public Co-Operation In Program To Decrease Congestion

Stating that "we have got to have a traffic division within the Police Department," Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan yesterday urged Cumberland residents to co-operate with efforts to relieve traffic congestion in downtown Cumberland.

Keegan said that probably three men would be needed to work in such a division, explaining that at present the Police Department is forced to sandwich traffic work in with its regular police work.

Methods by which the public could co-operate in relieving congestion, Keegan said, would be to use parking lots such as those on Frederick and South Centre Streets for all-day parking, instead of taking up space which could be used by shoppers who need to park only for a short time.

Program Outlined

He said some persons park their machines near their places of business throughout the entire day, leaving less space for those who seek parking space for short periods.

Meanwhile, plans for a three-fold program to relieve congestion in the downtown district were being made following a meeting of 12 representatives of various organizations and governing bodies yesterday morning in the office of Acting Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

The suggested program includes stricter enforcement of traffic laws, abolishment of parking on streets where bottlenecks occur, and education of the public as to the benefits of a traffic program.

The group agreed that a traffic division of the Police Department is one of the principal needs. Such a division would have no other duties except the control and expediting of traffic in and through the city.

City Detective Edwin R. Lilya advanced the public education idea, stating "If we can get the cooperation of merchants and the public, I believe we can cut the traffic problem 50 per cent."

Lilya suggested that a period of education through the press and radio could be conducted prior to enforcement of the overall traffic program.

Eugene Howell, representing the Junior Association of Commerce, said the Jaycees have an active traffic committee which, in its studies, found that merchants on Baltimore Street would not be opposed to banning parking there.

He advocated changing Centre

Vertebrae Injury Proves Fatal To Hampshire Man

Found At Bottom Of Wall Near Home

A World War II veteran who was found lying at the bottom of a six-foot wall at Hampshire, W. Va., early Monday morning, died Tuesday night in Newton D. Baker Veterans Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., from injuries suffered.

The victim was Clarence Albert Warnick, 24, a native of Hampshire, was found at 7 a. m. Monday by Robert Grant, a contrator who was doing work there, whose offices are located near the wall over which the man is believed to have fallen.

According to Grant, he found the man after hearing his calls for help. A brother, John Warnick, took the man to the Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where attaches had him taken to Martinsburg.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Warnick, also of Hampshire, stated that he left his home Sunday night at 9 o'clock. He was joined in the business section of Hampshire by Joseph Dougherty, Cross, and two friends who offered to take him home later in the evening. He declined their offer and chose to walk the short distance.

The accident occurred about 1 a. m. Monday after he had left his companions. Although he was conscious until the time he died he was unable to reveal how the accident happened.

Hospital attaches stated that Warnick suffered a fractured vertebrae of his neck and said he was paralyzed in his legs and fingers although he was able to move his arms. An autopsy was performed at the veterans' hospital yesterday morning.

A native of Barnum, W. Va., he served over three years in the Army with the Corps of Engineers and for the majority of his time in the service was stationed in the European Theater. His companion, Shirley Geary 18, Frostburg, was treated at the hospital for slight abrasions of the head.

Glen Brant, 19, Local Athlete, Is Polio Victim

A resident physician at Sydenham Hospital, Baltimore, reported last night that Glen Randolph Brant, 19, well-known local athlete, who was admitted there yesterday after being stricken with infantile paralysis, is in satisfactory condition.

Brant, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brant, 18 Valley Street, was taken to Baltimore in the Maryland State Police ambulance by Trooper John F. Browning.

A former star athlete at Allegany High School, Brant had been camping on the South Branch with John Bachman, William Fuller and William Bartlett, with whom he had played football at Allegany. He complained of head and back aches on Sunday, and the pain grew steadily worse.

An employe of the Cumberland Steel Company, he is the sixth person in Allegany County and the eighth in the area to be stricken with the disease.

While at Allegany Brant was on the football and basketball squads for two seasons and was a candidate for the Knights of Columbus Sportsmanship Award in 1946, the year of his graduation.

The physician at Sydenham Hospital also reported that Jean Chappell, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Chappell, Barton, another polio victim, will be transferred to Children's Hospital next week. She is reported in satisfactory condition. The doctor explained that polio patients are transferred after the two-week infectious stage has passed.

Hospital attaches said that Paul David Crawford, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crawford, of near Moscow, was able to return home early this week. He was found to have a non-paralytic type of the disease.

Alcoholics Anonymous To Form Organization Here On Sept. 11

A group of local men and women will meet Sept. 11 at 8 o'clock in the City Hall auditorium to discuss plans for the organization of a Cumberland group of Alcoholics Anonymous. There are several persons here who have been affiliated with units in Hagerstown, Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, and Uniontown, Pa., and these will take the lead in setting up a local body.

Encouraged by the cooperation of several leading medical men and religious leaders here, the local AA members believe they can spread their ideas and principles best, and better aid each other, with a local organization. Several of the members have been traveling each week to a neighboring city to attend meetings.

Alcoholics Anonymous is an informal fellowship of about 41,000 former alcoholic men and women who are to be found banded together in about 1,200 groups in the United States and Canada. Oldest members of the AA have been sober 10 to 12 years. Of those willing to stop drinking, about 50 per cent have done so at once, 25 per cent after a few relapses, and most of the remainder have improved.

Nation's No. 4 Disease

Prominent medical men agree that alcoholism is a disease, and the United States Public Health Service recognizes alcoholism as the No. 4 health problem of the nation.

According to the Yale Research Clinic, there are 750,000 men and women acutely ill with alcoholism in the country today. Two million more are drifting into the pattern, which, when once formed, results in an incurable disease, the clinic says.

Members of AA contend that half their number, had they not been drinkers, would have appeared in ordinary life to be normal people. The other half would have appeared
